Expected to Remain as Viet Nam Chief of State

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh gave up the title of president and his dictatorial powers today under the angry demands of students and Buddhists for an end to military rule. He was expected to stay on, however, as the actual chief of the U.S.-backed government.

The 37-year-old strong man may resume the premiership he dropped after the revolutionary military council elected him to the presidency 10 days ago. Or he might have himself re-elected president of a revamped regime. He retains command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Agrees to Election

Jubilant student leaders told The Associated Press that Khanh had agreed to hold a new election for chief of state and that the military council would then be dissolved.

Student leader Ton Thah Tue said he had been in telephone contact with Khanh at the presidential office building, and Khanh said he was willing to:

—Revoke the charter he promulgated Aug. 16 that gave him sweeping powers.

—Have the military council hold a new election for the chief of state — conceivably re-electing Khanh.

—Dissolve the council after the election, and set up some new form of government.

An aide in Khanh's office said that this version was essentially correct. It does not mean, the aide said, that Khanh has resigned his power as chief of Viet Nam.

Deputy's Statement

The deputy premier for economy, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, told The Associated Press that the new move means Khanh no longer is either president or premier. The military revolutionary council will be called into an urgent session tonight, he said, to elect a new chief.

Khanh probably will be re-

Delegates Set to Back Platform

BY JOHN CHADWICK

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A middle-road platform that largely reflects President Johnson's desire not to rock the boat goes before the Democratic National Convention tonight. Approval is expected, with no floor fight in prospect over any of the planks.

Members of the platform committee finished their work late Monday, turning out a document that for the most part affirms present administration policies and promises to improve and expand them rather than break new ground.

The chairman, House Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert of Oklahoma, said that although there were some differences within the committee over specific planks, the final action on the platform was unanimous.

Stresses Unity

"We go united to the convention, and I expect it to accept our recommendations without any floor fight he told newsmen.

"We condemn extremism, whether from the right or left, including the extreme tactics of such organizations as the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society," the Democratic platform says.

As for nuclear weapons, it declares that control over their use must continue to rest solely in the hands of the President.

On the divisive civil rights issue, the Democrats wrote a plank that the Southerners on the platform committee said they could go along with and that one of them, Pierre Pelham of Alabama, called "something of a victory for the South."

Civil Rights Enforcement

It declares that "the Civil Rights Act of 1964 deserves and requires full observance by every American and fair, effective enforcement if there is any default."

Albert said this means that if the comprehensive antidiscrimi-

BY JACK BELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson was reported hesitating today over the possible choice of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate because of Southern opposition.

The Democratic National Convention, heading into its second formal session with the issue of seating a Mississippi delegation unsolved, still had no word from its White House headquarters about the President's preference for a vice-presidential nominee.

Minnesota's Humphrey, who was everywhere doing everything he could to prevent any incident that would mar the unity that Johnson wanted achieved, was the consensus choice by leading Democrats for the place. But individually and collectively they conceded they don't have an inkling of Johnson's thinking.

Opposition Indicated

Some dissent to the choice of Humphrey had been communicated to Johnson, lending credence to reports that he still had not made up his mind despite the relatively late hour.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, one of those selected by President Johnson to put his name in nomination, said today he thinks there may be some Southern opposition to Humphrey but doesn't believe it is serious.

Connally said he had heard a rumor—and he defined it only as a rumor—that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, expected to arrive at the convention today, might place Humphrey's name in nomination if the President chooses the Minnesota senator as his running mate.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, on whom Johnson has been leaning heavily in his efforts to leaning heavily in his efforts to salvage part of the South in the November election, said in an interview he had told Johnson at a White House conference Saturday he thought Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy might be a better choice from the South's standpoint.

McCarthy Near Top

"Understand me," Sanders said, "I raised no objections to Sen. Humphrey. But I said that I believed McCarthy was not as well known and his views were not as well known in the South and that he might be a better candidate."

McCarthy, a Roman Catholic, has been regarded as one of the

Kennedy Runs For U. S. Senate In New York

Promises to Devote All His Talents To Empire State

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate from New York, a nomination considered already in his pocket.

Kennedy formally began his first campaign for elective office at the side of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the state's No. 1 Democrat.

Ready to Quit Cabinet

Kennedy met head on the issue of his residence:

"I shall devote all my effort and whatever talents I possess to the State of New York. This I pledge."

If New York Democrats nominate him next Tuesday, Kennedy said, "I shall resign from the Cabinet to campaign for election."

Kennedy seeks the seat occupied by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican who has announced for re-election. Clare Boothe Luce has said she is seeking the Conservative party nomination for the same job.

The attorney general's wife, Ethel, was with him as he announced.

"All that President Kennedy stood for and all that President Johnson is trying to accomplish, all the progress that has been made, is threatened by a new and dangerous Republican assault," the attorney general said.

"No one associated with President Kennedy and with President Johnson—no one committed to participating in public life—can sit on the sidelines with so much at stake."

Storm Hits Parts Of Cuba, Jamaica

Shipping and Coastal Areas Battered by Raging Surf

BY THEODORE A. EDIGER

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Gale force winds raked Cuba's Oriente Province and northern Jamaica today as Hurricane Cleo churned through the strait separating the two islands.

Seas raged and heavy surf battered shipping and coastal installations along Jamaica's north coast and Cuba's southeastern coast.

Winds were building to hurricane force from Santiago, Cuba, westward along the Sierra Maestra Mountains, where Fidel Castro began his drive to power.

Shifts Northward

The Jamaican Weather Office said reconnaissance planes reported the hurricane veered northward during the night and appeared headed more directly toward Cuba. Extent of the northward turn would not be known until additional observations were made by hurricane hunter aircraft.

Forecasters said Cleo appeared headed toward Oriente Province, which suffered a severe blow last October from Hurricane Flora.

Residents were evacuating the southern coast of Cuba's Oriente Province. Havana radio said, and the government was preparing to evacuate parts of neighboring Camaguey Province.

Fifty physicians and 50 nurses left Havana Monday night to work with emergency teams previously established in Camaguey, the broadcast said.

At 8 a.m., EST, the hurricane was centered about 35 miles south of Cuba.

The Miami, Fla., Weather Bureau said peak winds were about 110 miles per hour near the center and the storm was on a west-northwest course at 15 miles per hour.

Radar at the U.S. Navy base, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and reconnaissance planes were keeping watch on the hurricane.

Wisconsin Democrats Will Attempt Grand Strategy

Peace Issue to Exploit an Appeal Used Often by GOP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY—The grand strategy of the Democrats, in Wisconsin terms, will attempt to exploit a curious reversal of the usual positions of the political parties there.

The peace issue will be central to the party's drive for votes, and in that strategical plan the Democrats of Wisconsin hope to exploit an appeal which the Republicans used against them many times in the past.

Sen Barry Goldwater will be described as a man who would have a nervous finger on the nuclear trigger, President Johnson as a masterful leader of calm determination and consummate skill in piloting the nation in a troubled and dangerous world.

Historical Irony

Older Wisconsin Democrats here are aware of the historical irony in the situation. When they were launching their own careers only a few years ago, such men as Sen. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire and Gov. Reynolds fruitlessly sought votes in many Wisconsin districts where the Republican party and its leaders profited from the traditional popular fear of foreign wars.

Wisconsin then was known throughout the land as "isolationist", in the language of those times.

Whether that tag still applies is doubtful, but it is obvious here that the Democrats feel they can describe Sen. Goldwater as trigger happy and exploit the hope for peace by concentrating on his insistence upon

India Arrests 2,500 Reds as Food Rioters

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—More than 2,500 Communists protesting against food shortages and rising prices have been jailed in India's biggest mass political arrest since independence.

Sixteen hundred demonstrators were arrested Monday on the first day of a four-day nationwise protest, a government spokesman said today. This was the greatest number of political arrests in one day since Gandhi's civil disobedience movement for freedom 20 years ago.

About 1,000 Communist agitators had been taken into custody by midday today as picketing, street marches and rallies continued across India.

The spokesman said the Communist demonstrations still were "by and large peaceful," but a few incidents were reported. Forty Communists were injured in a clash Monday with police at Madhubani near the Nepal border.

Fireworks Blast In Mexico Takes At Least 42 Lives

TOLUCA, Mexico (AP) — At least 42 persons were killed when a pile of fireworks exploded during a religious celebration near here Monday. Another 33 were injured.

Rescue workers, digging through debris in the village of Atlatlahuca in central Mexico, said the toll of dead and injured might go higher.

The fireworks exploded near several tanks of inflammable gas. Authorities said they had not determined what set off the fireworks.

9 Hurt in Saigon Bomb Explosion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A terrorist bomb shattered parts of two floors at Saigon's Caravelle Hotel today, injuring at least nine persons, four of them Americans.

The blast was centered in a room rented Monday night by a Vietnamese man now being sought by police, a hotel source said.

The Americans injured were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Dan Moran of San Francisco, Mrs. Hugh G. Glassford, wife of a National Broadcasting Co. correspondent, and an unidentified U.S. serviceman. All had minor injuries caused by flying glass and other debris.

A secretary of the New Zealand Embassy, and a French businessman were among the injured. Several hotel employes also were reported hurt.

The demolished suite was on the fifth floor. It was unoccupied.

Chauffeurs Dropped From Queen's Service Tell of Tough Jobs

LONDON (AP)—Two chauffeurs fired by Queen Elizabeth II's royal household complained today they had been treated like peasants.

One of the drivers, Alex Beard, 28, commented: "Working for the queen is no bed of roses. In fact, you can call it hell."

"It was car washing, driving royalty, driving guests, secretaries and equerries, fetching groceries, collecting laundry and more car washing from nearly sunup to sundown," said the other, Sidney Baker, also 28.

A royal household spokesman said the chauffers were fired because they deserted their jobs at Balmoral, the queen's retreat in Scotland.

15 Persons Perish in Philippines Tragedy

MANILA (AP)—Fifteen persons died in a fire in Surigao on Mindanao Island, the Philippine News Service reported today.

All victims—seven children, seven women and a man—reportedly were trapped in a three-story building where the fire began.

Negroes, Whites Clash in Georgia

MONROE, Ga. (AP) — Gunfire between a crowd of Negroes and several white persons broke out Monday night. Four Negroes were treated for shotgun wounds and police said the crowd later wrecked a service station operated by a white man.

Police Chief Jack Morris said a crowd of several hundred Negroes had jeered customers at the service station for nearly two hours.

Morris said they shouted, "Don't buy from that white man."

The station was damaged shortly before 3 a.m. today when several white men at the station departed, Morris said.

A car driven by Mrs. Tommy Cooper, wife of an operator of the station, was fired into as she drove into the station, Morris said.

Monroe is about 40 miles east of Atlanta.

U. S. Nuclear Subs To Visit Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. nuclear-powered submarines this year will be allowed to make their first visit to Japan, Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina said today.

The United States has repeatedly pressed the Japanese for docking privileges for the subs, but the government has deferred a decision, saying it wanted to study safety factors.

Leftists have charged that the United States wants to use the port calls to introduce nuclear weapons into Japan.

Convention Caucus

Wisconsin Will Support Seating Portion of Freedom Delegation

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

ATLANTIC CITY — The Wisconsin delegation to the National Democratic Convention voted today to support the seating of "at least a portion of the Mississippi Freedom Delegation" if any Democrats from that state are seated as delegates and to support a convention roll call tonight if one becomes necessary on the issue.

With only one negative vote, the Wisconsin delegation took the action after hearing from Rep Edith Green, Oregon, sponsor of a compromise pending before the credentials committee. Before the vote, an effort to table the Wisconsin action as premature, lost overwhelmingly on a show of hands.

The caucus also adopted a resolution saying Wisconsin would be pleased if President Johnson picks Minnesota Senator Hubert Humphrey to be his vice presidental running mate.

Wisconsin Rep. Robert Kastenmeier is supporting Rep. Green on her compromise in the credentials committee and is one of at least 11 members ready to bring a minority report. Miss Elizabeth Hawkes, Washburn, Wisconsin's other credential committee member, was the sole opponent on a voice vote to the action of today's caucus.

The Green proposal would seat any member of either the regular or freedom Mississippi delegations who pledge to support the national ticket and divide the state's 26 convention votes in proportionment to the members from each delegation.

Rep. Green told the Wisconsin caucus that the Freedom Democrats deserve voting credentials as a matter of law, morality and practical politics to help elect Pres. Johnson this fall.

"People tried to register to vote and they have been killed. There have been bombings and threats. These are facts. This is not emotion," she said.

Moral Issue

Freedom Democrats tried "everything possible within the laws of Mississippi to organize as a party loyal to the national organization," she said.

"A party that will murder, bomb, and beat is the kind of party we are going to say is legal? I suppose in the days of Hitler everything he did was legal," she said.

Rep Green warned that denying Freedom Democrats any seats would lead "to the ideological walk-out of hundreds of thousands of liberals" in the fall election, possible demon-

Likely School Building Sites Will be Viewed

Kaukauna Aldermen, Board Members to Visit Two Locations

KAUKAUNA — School board members and aldermen meet at 6 30 tonight to view sites for possible future school construction.

The district has received two offers for land, both located near the southside of the city in the Town of Buchanan The board of education favors purchase of 15 acres on the Michael Klein property at the west end of Henry Street with an option on an additional seven acres at $2,500 per acre.

The site was recommended by the State Department of Public Instruction and the Fox Valley Regional Commission Since the offer from Klein, an offer was received from Henry Welhouse to sell land to the city at a cost of $2,000 per acre with the city permitted to purchase any or all of a 50-acre tract with options on land not purchased

Not Considered

The Welhouse property is about one and one-half blocks from the Klein property and is directly west of St. Aloysius School which borders Main Avenue The Welhouse land was not studied as a possible future school site by either the state or the regional planning unit since it was not known the land was available when studies were conducted.

The city must purchase land for school district under state statutes. Sewer and water would have to be extended to both sites and access roads constructed. Aldermen and school officials will make recommendations later this year.

The school district is anxious to secure property in the area since it appears to be the most rapidly developing residential neighborhood and an elementary school will have to be constructed within the next few years to meet the ever increasing school population. Land must be secured before other school planning can begin.

Little Chute Clerk Reminds of Deadline to Register for Primary

LITTLE CHUTE — Deadline for registration for the primary election is 5 p m Wednesday at the village clerk's office, according to Gerald Locy, clerk.

Persons who are residents, have reached their 21st birthday by the date of the primary or those not previously registered are required to register before being allowed to vote. Persons who have changed names or addresses since the last election are to notify the clerk.

Boys Say They Stole Paint, Sprayed School

Three boys with paint on their hands, seen on the fire escape at Morgan School by Appleton police, Monday, admitted stealing spray paint cans from a College Avenue store

Two youths, 14 and 15, told police they sprayed the school door and railings. The third youth did not participate in the spraying.

The case was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Rites Set for Waupaca Civic, Business Leader

WAUPACA — Funeral services for Erik Lindskoog, former Third Ward alderman and an unsuccessful candidate for mayor several years ago, are scheduled for 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Bammel Funeral Home here.

Burial will be in Lakeside Cemetery.

Lindskoog, 66, 707 Royalton St., died Sunday in Appleton. He was an owner and operator of Uptown Electric Co., which he founded in Chicago 37 years ago. He moved his family and the company to Waupaca in 1945.

He also was on the original board which promoted the establishment of Riverside Community Memorial Hospital here

Lindskoog, a native of Chicago, is survived by his wife, four daughters, one son and 18 grandchildren.

1 Nation, 1 People

On Nov. 22, 1963, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was shot down in our own land

We honor his memory best — and as he would wish — by devoting ourselves anew to the larger purposes for which he lived.

Of first priority is our renewed commitment to the values and ideals of democracy.

We are firmly pledged to continue the nation's march towards the goals of equal opportunity and equal treatment for all Americans, regardless of race, creed, color, or national origin

We cannot tolerate violence anywhere in our land — North, South, East or West Resort to lawlessness is anarchy and must be opposed by the government and all thoughtful citizens

We must expose, wherever it exists, the advocacy of hatred which creates the clear and present danger of violence.

We condemn extremes, whether from the right or left, including the extreme tactics of such organizations as the Communist Party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society.

We know what violence and hate can do. We have seen the tragic consequences of misguided zeal and twisted logic.

The time has come now for all of us to understand and respect one another and to seek the unity of spirit and purpose from which our future greatness will grow — for only as we work together with the object of liberty and justice for all will the peace and freedom of each of us be secured

These are the principles which command our cause and strengthen our efforts as we cross the New Frontier and enter upon the great society.

Hortonville Subdivision Is Planned

Building Site for Homes South Edge Of Black Otter Lake

HORTONVILLE—The village board favored proposed development of Black Otter subdivision at a meeting Thursday, but said it would be necessary for the Wisconsin Conservation Commission and the Public Service Commission to okay the proposal involving land fill

Herb Foth and Raphael Wolfe of Foth and Porath, Inc., a Green Bay, engineering firm, attended the meeting on behalf of Mid-City Reality Co., Milwaukee

The Milwaukee Company owns Black Otter Lake subdivision which lies along the south shore of Black Otter Lake. There are 108 building lots in the plat and present plans call for 30 to 35 homes to be built in 1965 and the same number in each of the following two years

Present estimates call for the homes to cost between $18,000 and $22,000

Fill From Lake

The Green Bay engineering firm asked the village board if fill from Black Otter Lake could be used to raise the levels of the plats of land The fill would be taken from the lake with a dragline.

The board offered no objection to the land fill proposal, but indicated the state would have to give the final okay.

The owner has agreed to install water and sewer in the entire plat, incorporating a lift station in the village sewer system. Storm sewers, which would cost an estimated $16,000 for the plat, were requested at city expense while sanitary sewer, water mains, fill and streets would be furnished by the developer.

A check from the State Highway Commission for $3,086.27 was received for supplemental highway aid.

W. J. Morrissey, president of the Outagamie County Safety Council, asked the board to consider an alternate day for using the village dump. He said it was an extreme hazard to limit the use of the dump only to Saturdays, when the traffic is heavy. The police and fire commission will investigate the matter and make recommendations.

Many Lose Right to Vote By Neglecting to Register

Every election year hundreds of thousands of qualified Americans for one reason or another fail to take advantage of a very special privilege: they fail to vote. In very close contests, such as the hair's breadth victory in 1960, just a handful of people can make all the difference.

When we feel very strongly that voting is a responsibility as well as a privilege, we begin to wonder what we can do to get the vote in our own town. Well, we can offer our services to our party headquarters for such activities as handing out literature, making pre-election and election day phone calls to remind fellow party members to vote, and driving car-less voters to the polls. We can help organize a rally or a discussion panel in which the major issues are discussed and clarified.

Show Campaign Exhibits

Many such events will be taking place all across the land, as well as several colorful exhibits of memorabilia from previous campaigns, all designed to stimulate interest and participation in this year's elections.

Perhaps the largest of these exhibits is the one that traditionally helps "Get Out the Vote" in Hartford, Conn. Consisting of more than 22,000 items from George Washington's day right through to the current campaign, this extensive collection belongs to J. Doyle DeWitt, president of The Travelers Insurance Companies. Housed in The Travelers building, this exhibit will welcome visitors from Labor Day to Election Day. It includes a likeness of every presidential nominee in our history and features a recording of the actual voice of every president beginning with Benjamin Harrison in 1899.

Children's Voting Booth

The exhibit also includes a voting booth where children may cast their vote for President. (In 1960 a tally of these juvenile votes paralleled the national results!) There is a fascinating section on "votes for women" and an endless assortment of campaign buttons, ashtrays, hats, canes — even a red, white and blue spare tire cover from Herbert Hoover's campaign.

Jean Kinkead, women's consultant to the "America Goes to the Polls" exhibit has some suggestions for U. S. residents who have doubts about their voting status. If you have turned 21 since the last election, inquire at your town hall as to when new registrations are taken.

If you've recently moved, be sure to register in your new town or you'll forfeit your vote. And don't forget you must register in one party or another if you want to vote in any primaries that might be held.

Absentee Ballots

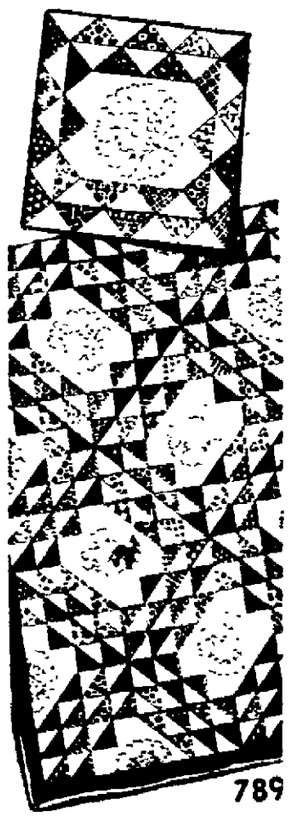

If you're going to be out-of-state on election day or if you are a shut-in, ask your registrar of voters about securing an absentee ballot.

If you are foreign born and have been a U. S. resident for five years, you are eligible to apply for American citizenship. Ask your town clerk where the nearest naturalization office is and write or phone them for information. You will be given a great deal of help and encouragement and having acquired citizenship, you too can be a voter and have a voice in the government.

Don't let lack of transportation keep you from the polls. A call to your party headquarters or the League of Women Voters will put a car at your front door.

So get out and vote!

TAFFY'S TIPS

FIGURE OUT

You don't have to be an expert at mathematics to figure out your proportions and see if you're on the way to sizing up just right. Here are the ideal measurements that you can look forward to.

Hips and bust — same measurements.

Waist — 10 inches smaller. For instance, a good figure is 36-26-36, but a well-proportioned figure is also 32-22-32. Of course, the bust and hips could be more or less than these figures mentioned above, especially if you're very tall or very short. Good figures come in all sizes. Most girls don't actually measure up to these figures until they are sixteen or even older.

Promises Exchanged

Henry Williamson Bruner, Racine, and Miss Martha Louise Hurst, Angola, N. Y., exchanged wedding promises at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 15 at the First Congregational Church, Angola. The Rev. Joseph Phillips and the Rev. Alan Kieffaber officiated at the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hurst, Angola. The bridegroom is the son of Mr and Mrs. Henry P. Bruner, Racine. He served as a student intern at the First Congregational Church, Appleton, from September 1963 until August of this year.

Mrs. Bruner was graduated from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. She received her masters degree from the University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill., and teaches in the Oak Park High School, Oak Park, Ill. Mr. Bruner, a graduate of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., is a student at the University of Chicago Divinity School.

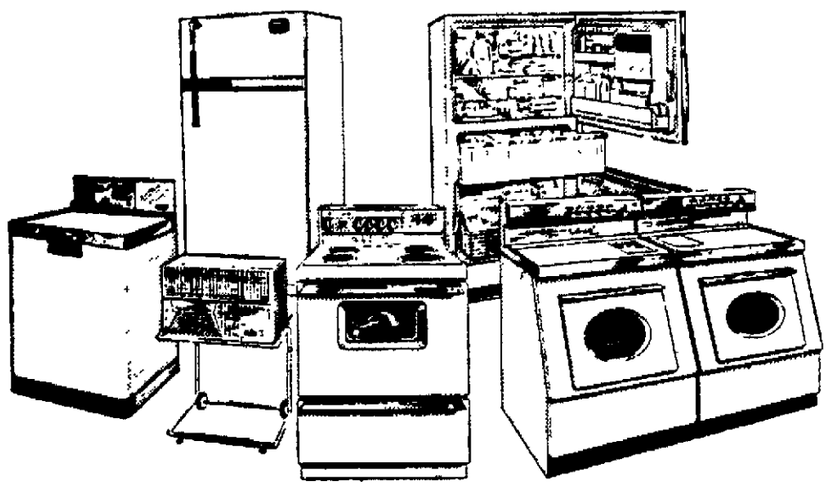

The couple will reside in Oak Park.

CAC Concludes Summer Program

A summer program that answered the teenagers' question about where to meet friends and have a good time was brought to a close Friday evening as the Catholic Activities Council held a Barn Dance at Xavier High School.

The success with which the CAC filled the summer recreation demand of Fox Cities young people is told in the attendance for the summer, 21,240, an increase of 9,000 over last year.

The fall program will open Sept. 2 with a dance at St. Mary Grade School. This location serves as the CAC center from September to May

Getting themselves 'stamped' as they arrived at the final summer CAC dance Friday are John Rank. Kris Schroeder and Jackie Vander Pas. Doing the honors are Linda Schroeder and Tom Peotter. Dancing at left are Kris Becker and Mike Heideman, and Jack Herb and Joanne Bedford. The Party was the last in a program that provided recreation for the city's teens through the summer. New Glarus Sets Fair Date

The third Wilhelm Tell Outdoor Art Fair has been scheduled from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sept. 6 in the village park at New Glarus. The Art Fair is part of a three-day celebration held Labor Day weekend by the Swiss settlers of New Glarus. The show will be Sept. 13 in case of rain.

Swiss concerts and folk dancing will be held Saturday in the downtown area. Besides the Art Fair Sunday, a German production of Schiller's "Wilhelm Tell" will be presented in a wooded glen a mile and a half east of the village. The play will be given in English on Monday.

Over 100 artists from Wisconsin and Illinois will exhibit their work.

Mrs. Robert Elkins, New Glarus, is chairman of art registrations.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Hold That Legline!

If you have been planning to slim your legline but just haven't gotten to it, you'd better get started on a spot reducing routine. Fall fashions won't be carried off on pudgy legs.

There's a swing to skirts that calls attention to the leg. The length is not one whit longer In fact the trend in walking and casual skirts is to bare the knee. What's more those skirts are worn with such eye-catchers as patterned and textured stockings.

So much for the pep talk. Now for the routines that bespeak quick results:

1. Stand erect and raise right foot so that right hip moves upward. Then tense muscles of raised leg, concentrating on knee area. Hold for six counts. Repeat with left leg. Alternating sides, perform ten times in all. Throughout be sure to keep spine straight and shoulders level.

2. Sit on floor with legs straight out and together. Pull toes of right foot backward, toward knee; then raising leg an inch, "bounce" calf on floor for ten fast counts. Perform with left leg. Alternating, repeat three times.

The first routine slims the knees and generally improves contours. The second one reduces the calf. And that just about adds up to a legline that can take any fashion in its stride.

If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, Legline Trimmers, which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Scouts Name Mrs. Melchert Campaign Head

Mrs. Carl Melchert, Seymour, has been named by the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council as its Council campaign chairman for the 1964 drive. She will serve in communities thhat do not participate in a United Community Services program.

The drive will be held in October in Bonduel, Clintonville, Combined Locks, Harrison, Hortonville, Iola, Kaukauna, Kimberly, King, Little Chute, Marion, Shawano, Tigerton, Weyauwega and Wittenberg. United Fund or Community Chest drives are conducted in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, New London, Seymour and Waupaca.

Mrs. Melchert has served for three years as a Brownie Scout leader. She is a member of the Seymour Woman's Club and has been a judge at County fairs.

The Ailing House

Countersink Rusting Nailheads

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Two years ago we had an extension (only one room) added to the rear of our home, using wood siding to match. All the nails are holding tightly in this siding, but some of the nailheads have begun to rust and they all show through the paint. We plan to repaint the entire house soon What do we do about the rusty, visible nailheads?

A: Evidently the carpenter did not countersink the nailheads Scrape off the paint with steel wool and remove the rust with turpentine and steel wool. Then drive the hailheads slightly below the siding surface, using a nailset Then apply a rust-inhibitive paint to the nailheads, or shellac or varnish. When dry, fill the slight indentations with a good grade of putty. House can then be painted in the usual manner.

Q: We have a problem with noise from the adjoining apartment. There is a four-inch partition between the apartments, insulated with blanket insulation, yet we still hear the noise. Can you offer any suggestions?

A: Noise may be traveling through the studs, if these are not staggered in the wall partition (with the insulation zig-zagging across their ends). Or it may be transmitted through the flooring. Building of a false wall of plasterboard on furring strips, toenailed to ceiling and floor and out of contact with present common wall, should help reduce the sound transmission.

Your Problems

Handicapped Son Worse Because of Parents' Attitudes

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think there is something wrong with my 14-year-old brother but my parents refuse to talk about it.

Landers

Mat is in the fifth grade and I know he should be at least in the ninth. He slaps my mother and punches my father and they never say one word to him. Last night at the supper table he threw a glass of water in my father's face. Father just sat there. I asked him why he didn't punish Mat and he answered, "The boy is a fool and nothing can be done about it."

I worry about my brother because he does such cruel and hurtful things. Last week he put my little puppy Perky in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator. If I hadn't accidentally found Perky she would have been dead within the hour.

I've begged my mother to talk to the minister about Mat but she says "This is our cross and we must bear it."

Please tell me what should be done.—Afraid Sister

Dear Sister: Mat should be receiving special care and guidance, not only for his own good and his own protection, but for the safety and peace of mind of those around him.

Parents do the mentally handicapped child no favor when they treat such a child as if he were normal.

Ask your mother to speak to the family physician at once and ask for his advice.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you have mentioned this problem in your column before but people need to be reminded periodically. They seem to forget. I am referring to the obnoxious habit of chewing gum with the mouth wide open.

A woman in our office chews from the minute she sits down at her desk until she leaves at night. We call her "The Old Corn Popper." Not only does the gum go crackle and snap but the dentures go click clack clack until you could go right straight through the ceiling.

Can it be that this person does not hear herself? I find it difficult to believe. I must conclude that she has no consideration for others.

Please, please, please print this letter, Ann. I will tack it on our bulletin board. Thanks from the bottom of my heart.—SOS

To Whom It May Concern: If you are reading this from an office bulletin board and have gum in your mouth, you may be "Old Corn Popper."—so watch it!

DEAR ANN LANDERS. Why don't you go jump in the lake? In a recent column you called a man a goof because he was smart enough to ask a lady to list her financial holdings before making her his wife. On several previous occasions, however, you wholeheartedly encouraged women to get all the facts and figures before they married. Why the preferential treatment?

If she has the right to know all, why doesn't he have the same right?—Mere Male

Dear Mere: The role of the male is to provide for his wife. She, therefore, has the right to know in advance whether or not she may have to take in laundry—or if she can hire a little day help for herself.

The man who is preoccupied with a woman's financial holdings is invariably looking to take life a bit easier.

groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin, Oshkosh.

Mrs. Gladys Scheller attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jean Martin and Miss Marilyn Korth.

Lawrence Martin served as best man for his brother. Kenneth Pochojka and Jan Close acted as groomsmen. Guests were seated by Jack Popke and Irvin Schmallenberg.

The couple was honored at a wedding reception in the church parlors.

Mrs. Martin is a graduate of Wisconsin Lutheran Teacher's College, Milwaukee She has been teaching at First German Lutheran School, Manitowoc.

Her husband attended Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh, and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He is serving in the Air Force and was graduated from aviation cadet school at James Connally Air Force Base, Waco, Texas.

After a honeymoon trip through the western states, the couple will be at home at Mather Air Force Base, Calif.

Miss Kettner Feted At Bridal Party

STEPHENSVILLE — Miss Kathleen Kettner, route 2, Shiocton, was honored at a miscellaneous shower July 15 at the Silver Dome Ballroom, Greenville.

Hostesses were Miss Janice Gliniecki, Shiocton; Mrs. Robert Kettner, route 1, Hortonville; Mrs Robert Francart, Neenah, and Mrs Jerome Kettner and Mrs. Maynard Kettner, route 2, Shiocton.

Miss Kettner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kettner, route 2, Shiocton, will marry Leon Griesbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griesbach, Greenville, at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary Catholic Church, Greenville.

Sampling Pizza as Fast as the bags could be opened are a group of hungry young people who attended the pizza and swimming party Friday evening at the Neenah Park and Pool. This was the last event scheduled for the 62nd annual regatta of the ILYA. Others were a smorgasbord, a dinner-dance and several lawn parties.

Bold Bid Sequel Is Caution

The true bridge expert bids so aggressively that he may think of himself as a swashbuckler with a pistol in each hand and a cutlass between his teeth. In the play of the cards, however, he wears both belt and suspenders, and he carries an umbrella when there is nary a cloud in the sky.

Opening lead — ♣ 5

There's nothing fearfully daring about South's contract. South should bid game even if he doesn't know a swash from a buckle. The play is another story South goes down if he forgets his umbrella.

West opens the five of clubs, and East plays the jack. The average declarer plays a cunning king to win this trick, hoping to confuse the opponents as to the whereabouts of the queen.

It turns out to confuse nobody. South must go after the diamonds, and East wins with the king and returns the nine of clubs. This holds the trick, and East continues with his remaining club to give West the rest of the suit.

The defenders collect one diamond and four clubs, defeating the contract. South takes the cutlass out of his mouth to say "Hard luck, partner!"

Pessimistic Play

The expert sees that he can afford to lose three clubs but not four. He plays the hand pessimistically with that distinction in mind.

South must allow East to win the first trick with the jack of clubs. When East returns the nine of clubs South must play low once more.

South plays one of his honors on the third round of clubs and is then safe. When East gets in with the king of diamonds, he has no club to lead. If East did have a club, the suit would then break 4-4, and South would lose only three club tricks anyway.

The pessimistic play gives up South's chance for two club tricks—except that South was never going to make a second club trick. The important thing is to limit West to three club tricks.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold. S 9 4: H 9 5-4 2: D 8 7: C A 10 8 5 2. What do you say?

Answer. Pass. Game is out of the question since you have only four points in high cards and partner has only 18 points at most. One no trump should be a reasonable part-score contract.

Father Concerned About Wife's Overeating Example

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I'm not criticizing. I'm just stating facts so I can ask a question. My wife is terribly overweight. So is everyone in her family. She knows it's due to emotions and not to anything wrong with her glands. So when our baby was born two years ago, she was careful to handle the whole business of feedings in the way the doctor recommended. And, of course, our daughter has a normal appetite and isn't overweight.

Dr. Jones

My question is, how long can this last? I have always heard that example speaks stronger than words. So if my daughter sees her mother's example of overeating and being overweight, won't she eventually follow that example?

MR M C

Probably not, so long as your daughter isn't motivated by drives that lead her to believe a mouthful of food is the solution to every problem. There's good danger though, that during adolescence, your daughter will temporarily lose her respect for her parents because of this. She may despise her mother for being so childish and unattractive. And she may have contempt for you for settling for a fat, neurotic wife. But as she becomes an adult, psychologically, she'll learn to forgive you for your faults if they haven't directly hurt her. Fortunately, so far this one apparently hasn't.

Dear Dr. Jones: We live in a slightly isolated neighborhood where there aren't many young children. Actually, there aren't any who are my son's age. He's 3½ years old. He's an only child.

Under these circumstances, would it be wrong to send him to a nursery school every morning, starting this fall? Or would this make him feel rejected, as if I were trying to get rid of him?

MRS. W. E.

Nursery school sounds like the perfect choice of action. By all means, enroll your son. He's at the right age for the social experience of the protected play group. And he's bound to become more and more lonely and hurt if you try to keep him with you, assuming that this means he's denied the chance to play with children his own age. Your own conflicts about his being an only child and about sending him off to a life of his own may need help. You can get it from the agency whose name I'm sending you.

Catholic Nuptial Rite Performed

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the setting at 10 a.m. today for the wedding of Miss Darlene Marie Mielke and Wayne Arthur Huss. The Rev. Kurt Gessner celebrated the nuptial high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Glaser, 1314 W. Eighth St. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Huss, 719 Park Ave., Little Chute, are the bridegroom's parents.

Miss Barbara Schinke attended the bride as maid of honor. Assisting as bridesmaids were Miss Karen Gall and Miss Patricia Wisneski.

Gary Emmers acted as best man. Serving as groomsmen were Roger Schanke and Michael Huss. Ushering duties were performed by Micholas Versteggen and Edward Ebben.

A wedding reception was held at the Darboy Club, Darboy.

Mr. Huss has been employed at the Tuttle Press Co. Her husband is assistant manager of Berken's Piggly Wiggly, Appleton.

HEMORRHOIDS?

Make this 3-day test! New M.P.O. must relieve pain faster and longer than the preparation you are now using or we will gladly refund your purchase price in full

If you seek more relief than you may now be getting, join the thousands of hemorrhoid sufferers who are turning to new M.P.O. Developed by famous Mentholatum Laboratories, M.P.O. works in these five ways:

1. Helps ease pain faster. M.P.O. contains more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the preparation you may now be using . . . to help reduce pain and discomfort.

2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate.

3. Helps relieve embarrassing itch. M.P.O.'s medication is homogenized for faster absorption, faster action.

4. Helps make relief last longer. M.P.O.'s more temperature-stable base holds medication in place for prolonged action.

5. Helps fight danger of infection. Proven germ-killer, Hexachlorophene, combats bacteria.

Test it yourself for the next three days. If not satisfied that M.P.O. helps you more than the preparation you're now using, return unused portion to the Mentholatum Co., Buffalo, N. Y. for full refund. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Attitudes Change on Hair Color; Business Booms

The last few years have seen a flood of new hair - coloring products, and hand-in - hand came a change in public attitude toward their use, reports a current magazine.

Today, hair color is not just acceptable — it is high fashion, says the magazine article, prepared by a noted dermatologist and a cosmetic chemist.

This year Americans are expected to spend one hundred million dollars on hair-coloring products. While women are the principal users, many men also use hair color.

Hair color can be modified in one of two ways. The natural pigment of the hair can be bleached, and thereby lightened, or artificial coloring can be applied. Often both operations are carried out to produce the desired effect.

The importance of reading and observing the directions for using all hair - coloring products cannot be overemphasized. This is especially true of the permanent colors. They are most difficult to remove. Modern hair-coloring products will give excellent results for most users, but only if the instructions are carefully followed.

One of the major causes of dissatisfaction by home users is the mistaken belief that a single application of hair color will produce any desired shade. This is not so. It is quite simple to cover gray hair or to color light hair a darker shade, but it is not yet possible for a single application of any hair coloring to change black or dark brown hair to a pale blond.

Peroxygen compounds, especially hydrogen peroxide, are widely used in bleaching hair. Six per cent hydrogen peroxide solution is the standard strength, and is safe, if proper precautions are observed. Stronger concentrations can produce burns and blistering of the scalp. Excessive bleaching can leave the hair harsh, straw-like and brittle.

Three Types of Dye

Largest and most important group of hair dyes are those based on synthetic organic chemicals. These are in three categories — oxidation dyes, semi - permanent dyes and temporary rinses. Oxidation dyes are the most widely used.

Most professional hair coloring or tinting is now done with oxidation dyes, and they also have become popular for home use. They are the only products that color the hair quickly and yet produce all varieties of natural hair shades which are lasting.

The biggest question about oxidation dyes is their hazard. It has been estimated that about one person in 50,000 will have an unpleasant reaction, such as a skin rash, swelling about the eyes, redness and crusting of the face and neck, plus itching and discomfort. The victim, while uncomfortable, should be aware that this is not a serious illness and that she will recover.

Try Patch Test

Included with each package, according to federal regulations, are instructions for performing a patch test before using oxidation dyes, to determine whether there is an allergy. The test should be repeated before each application of the dye. And the dyes should not be used on eyebrows or eyelashes, because of possible danger to the eye.

In addition to the oxidation dyes, there also are semi - permanent dyes, which usually will wash out with one shampoo: acid color rinses, using harmless organic acids: vegetable dyes, principally henna, and metallic dyes, no longer as popular as in the past.

If you decide to change the color of your hair, and if you decide to do it yourself rather than seek a professional job, the important thing to remember is to read the instructions on the label and the package insert, and follow them carefully. These are for your own safety and protection.

Luci Pitches Into Campaign A Step Ahead

BY FRANCES LEWINE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Luci Johnson made a whirlwind entry into the convention scene, dancing the frug, walking the boardwalk and applauding the convention keynoter.

The first of the Johnson family to arrive here, 17-year-old Luci sampled lobster and frozen custard Monday and looked over the oceanfront home her family is to occupy.

She seemed to find everything satisfactory and decided to go to work today with friends at the headquarters of Young Citizens for Johnson.

The President's daughter told "Teen-Dems" and Young Citizens anything they could do from "licking envelopes to running errands" would help her father's campaign.

She said she came to pitch in, too, because she realized "my generation has responsibilities."

Luci put off the work for a while, though, to look over the sights.

Object of Attention

When she launched a boardwalk tour, she was crowded by cameramen and passersby while she tried to eat a frozen custard with her close friend, Beth Jenkins, 17, daughter of presidential assistant Walter Jenkins.

She and Beth hopped a bandwagon float operated by Young Citizens for Johnson as a boardwalk campaign booster. She signed autographs, picked up LBJ buttons and went shopping in two stores along the oceanfront.

Her only purchase — a pair of $6.95 rope and leather sandals, size 6, medium.

They probably will come in handy on the campaign job today. A teen-worker advised the President's daughter to "wear flat shoes and a dirty dress" when she reported for headquarters duty.

Wouldn't Wait

Luci was supposed to wait until Wednesday to come here with her mother and sister, Lynda, 20. But she begged to come ahead and flew in to open the Young Democrats' headquarters and attend their dance, where she demonstrated her prowess in doing the frug, a version of the twist in which she excels.

Wearing coat and dress of pale blue to match her eyes, with a pert white bow on her black hair, Luci climaxed the day by taking a front row seat in the presidential box at the convention's opening session and applauding the speakers.

Khanh Yields To Pressure in S. Viet Nam

named premier, Oanh said. The junta then will dissolve itself, and a new junta, comprising civilians as well as military men, will be organized.

As the news came from the presidential office building, a cheer rose from a mass of demonstrators outside. They embraced each other and waved their banners wildly.

"Victory!" some yelled.

20,000 Students March

Jubilant because they apparently brought Khanh to heel, thousands of demonstrators marched through Saigon, cheering as they passed the headquarters of several political leaders.

Khanh's announcement came after more than 20,000 students converged on the presidential office building. It was the largest antigovernment outpouring since Viet Nam won its independence from France 10 years ago.

Khanh

Meinh

Back in the confused Vietnamese political picture was Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, the popular Buddhist who led the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem last Nov. 1.

Minh, known as Big Minh, was removed as figurehead chief of state in the Aug. 16 shakeup. A government source said today he probably will be brought back as caretaker chief of state.

Khanh also opened the door to civilian political activity.

"By some means or another," Deputy Premier Oanh told The Associated Press, "a ruling council with the same powers as the present junta but made up of civilians will be created. The civilians will be picked from a broad spectrum of political parties and groups so as to be completely representative."

Coup Averted

On Saturday, in a direct confrontation with the student leaders, Khanh said free political activity was impossible as long as the Communist menace persisted.

Khanh's action may have averted an attempt at a military coup by military leaders supporting the influential Dai Viet party.

In any case, Khanh avoided implicating government troops or police in bloodshed, and may have gained an important moral victory.

No Strong Faction

No political faction in Viet Nam is strong enough to dominate the country.

The stormy political developments capped a month of increasingly dangerous opposition demonstrations, culminating in rioting the past few days in Saigon, Hue, Da Nang and Qui Nhon. Buddhist attacks on a Catholic village in Da Nang produced most of the bloodshed, including the deaths of as many as seven persons.

News of the government upheaval was broadcast this afternoon by Saigon radio, which earlier in the day had been occupied by rioters. The station said the former military leaders were prepared to return to the field and devote their efforts to fighting Communists and neutralists.

U. S. Made Target

The demonstrators showed growing anti-American leanings. Most of the political, religious and student factions are regarded by American intelligence men as infiltrated by Communists.

In Da Nang Monday rioters stoned a U.S. enlisted men's barracks and tried to break in.

Khanh personally addressed the students — by this time the crowd had swelled to 30,000 — from atop a sound truck. He told them he sided with them in wanting to get rid of dictatorships but added he also wanted to get rid of Communists.

Student leaders promised to give him a chance to carry out reforms. Only 50 unarmed soldiers stood by.

Strife in Da Nang

Rioters continued fighting today in Da Nang, South Viet Nam's second largest city. They killed a man by hanging him with barbed wire. Rioters reportedly caught him trying to throw a grenade. It was not clear whether he meant to throw the grenade at the rioters, or some other target.

There also was a report that as many as six other persons have died during the rioting in Da Nang during the past 24 hours.

A battalion of Vietnamese paratroopers reinforced by armored personnel carriers moved into Da Nang today and advanced to a Catholic village which has been repeatedly attacked by Buddhist demonstrators.

In Da Nang, the Buddhists burned several more Catholic buildings.

Word Awaited on Johnson Decision

top contenders for second place on the ticket. He and Humphrey have paralleling strong views in favor of civil rights, but Humphrey's have been well publicized and McCarthy's have not.

Every maneuver at this convention has pointed toward a Johnson effort to placate dissident forces and emerge with his first presidential nomination with a relatively united party behind him.

Platform Approval Tonight

Tonight, the convention is expected to give shouting approval of what in its essentials is a middle-of-the road platform promising sturdy accomplishments toward peace and prosperity but detouring controversial issues such as civil rights.

The Mississippi fight between a white delegation chosen with the understanding it would oppose the national ticket and the Negro-dominated Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party remained to be settled, possibly by a floor vote.

But the flurry over the appearance on the floor at Monday night's session of members of the Alabama delegation who refused to sign a loyalty pledge was not regarded as likely to burgeon into any federal case.

Unrecorded Votes

The feeling among convention officials — and this applied to both the Alabama and Mississippi contests — was that there would not be any roll calls so what did it matter who was designated to cast votes that wouldn't be registered?

The civil rights plank, as approved by the platform committee, pledged "fair, effective enforcement" of the 1964 Civil Rights Act without promising to sponsor any new legislation of this type. But the Democrats said "we cannot and will not tolerate lawlessness."

The Republicans had promised in their platform "full implementation and faithful execution" of the law. They also agreed to back "improvements of civil rights statutes adequate to the changing needs of our times."

Extremism Condemned

The difference seemed largely one of wording rather than intent.

But there were some sharp differences on other matters.

The Democrats whipped out a plank condemning extremism "including the extremist tactics of such organizations as the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society."

Sen. John O. Pastore, the Rhode Islander of Italian extraction who was chosen personally by Johnson for the keynoter task, shouted in the keynote address that in the November election the people will say "We need you, President Johnson." Pastore told a frequently applauding audience that filled most of the oversized hall that Democrats must accept the challenge to maintain the "showcase of partnership, progress and leadership" he said had been developed in the Kennedy-Johnson years in the White House.

"Sanity of America"

Teeing off on Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, Pastore said that "the sanity of America is the security of the world."

What does the Republican candidate choose to have any thing mean at any given moment?" he demanded. The world cannot wait until Saturday to learn what he meant on Monday. The man in the White House has to be understood the first time. For him there is no second choice."

On the crowded noisy, garishly lighted boardwalk outside Convention Hall, four picketing demonstrations were going on at the same time. But everything was orderly and delegates had no difficulty in gaining access to the mammoth hall.

Every delegate from Alabama, those who took a loyalty oath and those who refused, took their seats. They kept them after repeated polite orders from convention officials that those who had not signed a loyalty pledge must "step aside."

"Step aside" meant getting out of the seats. The unpledged delegates — about 32 — said they would leave the hall if ordered to do so, but they would not give up their seats.

They were not ordered to leave.

No one with authority could say what would happen tonight when the Alabama delegates try to take their seats for a second session. No one seemed to know how the credentials committee would resolve the Mississippi dispute.

The Mississippi regulars feel the Freedom Democrats are a rump group that has no legal status.

Negroes claim the regulars exclude Negroes from their party and would not support the Democratic ticket.

Credentials committee Chairman David L. Lawrence and National Chairman John M. Bailey searched for a compromise. A five-man subcommittee of the credentials committee worked all day Monday, and the full committee was to meet again at midafternoon today.

Lawrence said he had no idea how long the committee would wait before issuing a report. The convention ends Thursday night.

strations, and added "backlash."

Four veteran state Democrats tried to caution the caucus that it was committing its strategy before it had to. They were Philleo Nash, federal Indian commissioner; David Carley, national committeman - elect; James Doyle, past state chairman, and Herman Jessen, past national committeeman.

Carley said delegates "can't support the minority position when we don't know what it is" and noted that the leaders of the state delegation, Gov. John Reynolds and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, were not present.

Carley, however, supported the call of seating at least a portion of the Freedom Democrats. Miss Hawkes, a lawyer, said the dispute should be settled within the framework of who was legally qualified and who would pledge to support the national ticket.

"Maybe then Mississippi won't be represented at all. To me that's no loss," she said.

Miss Hawkes said the challenge was to go to Mississippi and get election laws changed within the state.

"Let us, who are flaming liberals, go to Mississippi as adult persons. Let's not send kids. It's one thing for us to be here and noble, and another to be on the ramparts," she said.

The temper of the Wisconsin caucus today resulted in part from the chance assignment of the state delegation next to Alabama on the convention floor, memories of the Wisconsin campaign this spring of Alabama Gov. George Wallace and complaints of Wisconsin delegates over conduct Monday night of Alabamans.

Alabama also is involved in a credential dispute over failure of most of its delegates to promise loyalty to the national ticket. Walter Burke, a Milwaukee steelworkers union official, said the Alabamans present Monday night had even been unpatriotic.

Alabama Conduct

"During the pledge of allegience to the flag these people sat on their rumps. They very reluctantly got up during the singing of the National Anthem. One of them had a hat with Wallace for president buttons on it. These are the kind of cats we are dealing with," Burke said.

Nash agreed the conduct of the Alabama delegation was "absolutely outrageous behavior," but said it formed no basis for tying the hands of those trying to settle the Mississippi problem.

The motion to express the hope that Humphrey become the vice presidential nominee was made by Harvey Kitzman, regional United Auto Workers director. He said Humphrey service to Wisconsin dates back to before Wisconsin had Democratic senatorial representation.

Platform to Be Adopted This Evening nation measure is not complied with, it will be enforced.

The Republican platform avoided use of the world enforce but pledged "full implementation and faithful execution" of the new law, which Goldwater voted against on the ground that two of its key sections are unconstitutional.

The Democratic platform strongly condemns lawlessness "whether used to deny equal rights or obtain equal rights" and repudiates use of racial quotas in employment.

Also pleasing to Southerners on the platform committee was the rejection of a plank calling for enforcement of the 14th Amendment's provision for reducing a state's representation in the House in proportion to the number of its qualified citizens denied the right to vote.

Liberals also lost out on some other proposals, including their pleas for a plank supporting the Supreme Court's recent decision that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

But they scored a surprise victory too when Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania won approval of a plank calling on Congress to revise its rules and procedures "to assure majority rule."

This evidently was aimed at the Senate rule requiring a two-thirds majority to break a filibuster and at weakening the power of the House Rules Committee to hold up action on legislation.

Northern liberals and Southern conservatives on the platform committee generally agreed there had been some give and take by both sides that produced a platform they could all unite behind.

Albert described it as a platform "we can agree on, run on and win on."

a more aggressive American role in the struggle with world Communism.

One leading Wisconsin Democrat was asked to summarize the kind of campaign his party will wage:

Deference to President

"Goldwater, Goldwater, Goldwater," he replied tersely.

They don't admit it directly, but there is also evident among these men an assumption—perhaps a hope — that they can find in this power in Wisconsin to deliver needed punch to the state ticket including the re-election candidacy of Gov. Reynolds.

The deference here among Wisconsin Democrats of all ranks to the president is almost extravagant. The delegation would dearly love to demonstrate for Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota for the vice presidency, for example. Any other choice by the president would be severely disappointing to the Wisconsin party.

But there is not a sign, not a whisper of such a desire. The fear is that any overt pressure toward the White House would be harmful rather than helpful. President Johnson controls this proceeding, including the sometimes restless temperaments of the Wisconsin party, as have only a handful of men in the history of nominating conventions.

High Schools Given Geographic Names

School Board Decides on 'East' and 'West' for Present, Proposed Units

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton East and Appleton West will be the names of the city's proposed and present senior high schools.

The Board of Education ended eight months of discussion on high school names Monday by approving the geographical designations on a 4-2 split vote. The present high school will be named Appleton West and the proposed southeast high school, due to open in 1966, will be Appleton East.

The action came after the board defeated a motion by Kenneth Sager that the present and proposed schools be named for Samuel Appleton and Robert Frost.

Naming of the schools has created considerable public interest. Shortly after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy a move was started to name the proposed southeast senior high school for the late president. The board has received letters and petitions supporting this, as well as some letters objecting to it.

Helble and Ballard

Other proposals made in letters to the board have included the names of Herbert H. Helble, who retired this summer after 39 years as Appleton High School principal, and Anson Ballard, Appleton pioneer lawyer who had a strong interest in education.

The Frost-Appleton combination was supported by Sager, chairman of a board committee set up to recommend names for the schools. The two other members of the committee had their own opinions, with Mrs. Walter Heil favoring the names of Frost and Kennedy and Roy Whitney supporting geographical names.

Earlier this summer the board deadlocked 3-3 on a motion to name the schools Appleton East and Appleton West, and postponed its decision.

Mrs. George Munro, president John Schneider, Charles Buchanan and Whitney voted in favor of the geographical names, and Sager and Mrs. Heil were opposed. Victor Sumnicht was absent. Sager and Mrs. Heil stood alone in support of the first motion to name the schools for Frost and Appleton. Buchanan asked for roll call votes in place of the written ballots used at the earlier meeting.

Haman Growth

Mrs. Heil said she favors recognizing persons in the naming of schools because schools and education are concerned with human growth and achievement.

Mrs. Munro said there is a "great amount of civic pride" which must be considered in naming the schools, and said with the East-West names, each high school would feel it is representing the city equally.

Following the board's decision, Sager moved to name the library in the present senior high school for former librarian Ruth Mielke and the library in the proposed school for Robert Frost.

The board tabled the motion. Board members explained they were not objecting to the proposal, but wanted time to consider the precedent which would be established and to get public opinion on it. Mrs. Munro said the board has never before named any part of a school for a particular person.

Librarian For 35 Years

Sager said Miss Mielke, a 1914 graduate of Lawrence University, had taught briefly and then entered library work. She came to Appleton about 1919 and was high school librarian here for more than 35 years, retiring in 1955. She now lives in Shawano.

"She was certainly a dedicated librarian and a dedicated Appleton High School supporter," Mrs. Munro said.

Sager said he didn't want a "wastebasket approach" to his proposal, but agreed to tabling the motion when board members assured him they would take it up again later.

Kimberly-Clark Sales and Earnings Increase in Quarter

Results Below Expectations, But Further Improvement Seen

NEENAH — Kimberly - Clark Corporation today reported that sales and earnings for the quarter ended July 31 were $136,072,000 and $8,378,000, compared with $133,693,000 and $8,227,000 in the first quarter last year. Per share earnings for the current quarter were 82 cents compared with 81 cents.

John R. Kimberly, president, told the annual meeting of stockholders held here today that "while these results set records for the first quarter, they were not up to expectations. We do, however, expect further improvement in succeeding quarters."

Kimberly announced that new Kraft and groundwood pulp mills at the corporation's Shasta Division in Anderson, Calif., are substantially complete and will be placed in operation Sept 9. Improved processes are expected to bring better quality pulp at lower costs.

New Pulp Mill

Another process breakthrough being incorporated in a new high-yield pulp mill in Niagara, Wis., is expected to provide better quality and lower costs in tissue products by early 1965. If this process, which makes use of hardwoods, is successful, Kimberly said, "we undoubtedly will build similar units in other locations."

Kimberly also told the shareholders of a program of rebuilding existing machines in Kimberly-Clark tissue mills to increase production and improve quality.

"Plans we have in work now will provide us with the equivalent of a new large machine at a cost per ton of about $70,000, compared with a $125,000 per ton cost for a new unit," he said.

An estimated $7 million will be spent on major modernization and expansion programs this year at three consumer products plants.

Production Facilities

Production facilities for Kimpak cushioning, a cellulose wadding packaging material used by government and industry, will be installed in California to improve service to western customers.

Kimberly reported "excellent consumer acceptance" for four new consumer products, the Juniors and Man Size packings of Kleenex tissues, Kleenex two-ply kitchen towels, and Kotams tampons, which are now sold in half of the country. The company is also market testing a new Kleenex bathroom tissue.

All directors of the company were re-elected at the shareholders meeting.

Eland Man Charged in Fatal Crash

Oscar Brenden Denies 'Connection' In Hit, Run Mishap

WAUPACA — Oscar Brenden, 30, route 1, Eland, was bound over to Waupaca County Court on a charge of hit and run in the accident which took the life of motorcyclist John B. Olen, 19, Clintonville, July 12.

He appeared this morning in Municipal Justice Court and waived preliminary hearing.

No date has been set for his appearance in county court. Brenden is being held in Waupaca County jail under $2,500 bond. He was arrested by State Patrolman John Bartol Monday night and taken to the county jail where he was held overnight.

Sheriff Loran Frazier and Bartol questioned Brenden Monday night but said he denied any connection with the fatal accident four miles west of Clintonville. Police believe at least two autos struck Olen.

Bartol has not said whether the arrest was made in conjunction with a tip in connection with a $1,000 reward offer. The reward was offered by an anonymous doner through Frazier last Tuesday for information leading to an arrest.

Appleton Board Names First Secondary Curriculum Officer

Orlyn Zieman Will Coordinat- 9th-12th Grade Level Program

Orlyn Zieman, principal of Wilson Junior High School since 1959, was appointed Appleton's first secondary curriculum coordinator Monday by the board of education.

Kenneth Johnston, English and social studies teacher at Wilson and president of the Appleton Education Association, was named to replace Zieman as principal.

Zieman will be responsible for curriculum matters at the junior and senior high school levels. He will work with James Retson, elementary curriculum coordinator, to coordinate the school program from kindergarten through 12th grade.

Zieman will replace William H. Spears, whose post as assistant superintendent and director of instruction was left vacant when Spears was moved up this summer to succeed Royce E. Kurtz as superintendent of schools. The board does not plan to appoint an assistant superintendent at present, Spears said.

Complete Change

The creation of the post of secondary curriculum coordinator apparently completes a change in the administration pattern underway for several years.

Spears joined the school staff in 1962 as the first director of instruction. He replaced Marthat Sorenson, former elementary curriculum coordinator, whose post had been empty for about a year and one-half, but the scope of the office was broadened to include kindergarten through 12th grade cirricula under Spears.

The board recreated the post of elementary curriculum coordinator in 1963 in appointing Retson to fill it. He stepped into the post a year ago, and Spears then concentrated on secondary curriculum matters. Zieman becomes the school system's first secondary curriculum coordinator.

Native of Randolph

Zieman, 40, is a native of Randolph, Wis., and attended grade school and high school there. He received a bachelor of science degree from Wisconsin State University Oshkosh, with

Chain Reaction Mishap Results in Neck Injuries

A chain reaction accident Monday involving three vehicles resulted in neck injuries for Elmer D Boldt, 17, 209 S. Lee St. The accident occurred west of Appleton on State 125.

Boldt's car was struck from behind by a truck driven by Rodney L. Wussow, 26, 155 Church St., Bonduel. The collision forced the Boldt vehicle into the rear of an auto driven by Donald A Leiby, 18, Dale. The other drivers were not injured.

Rural Black Creek Man Enters Innocent Plea

Raymond A. Theobold, 20, route 1, Black Creek, pleaded innocent today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Trial was set for Dec. 7 and a $250 bond was posted.

Theobold was arrested Saturday in the Town of Black Creek by county police.

Appleton Education Board Defends Policy On 'Closed Sessions'

Answer Given Taxpayers Group, Will Allow Reporters to Stay

A practice of allowing a reporter to sit in on certain "committee of the whole" sessions at times when other visitors are asked to leave was defended Monday by the Appleton Board of Education.

The defense came in a letter to G. K. Willecke, president of the Appleton Taxpayers Association, who had protested having association representatives asked to leave the sessions when reporters were allowed to remain.

The association can see the prudence of "closed door meetings" in certain situations, Willecke wrote, but said "we strongly feel that any meeting at which a reporter o any person other than board members or witnesses, is present must be considered an 'open meeting' and our representative should not be asked to leave."

Approve Reply

The board approved a reply to Willecke's letter which had been drafted by Mrs. George Munro, board president.

In her letter, she explained the board conducts executive sessions only on such matters as personnel considerations, possible purchase of school sites, tuition hardship cases and a limited number of other matters on which publicity could cause personal embarrassment or other difficulties.

This discussion is only preliminary, and any action becomes a part of the official, public meeting, she said.

"However, since the public should have some safeguard that public bodies use this device sparingly and properly, we have allowed the press to remain during certain 'committee of the whole' sessions — but only where expenditures, rather than our own system personnel matters, are the topic in question," she wrote.

"Furthermore, and on the other hand, if only one observer is present, the board knows where to pinpoint the blame if violation of confidence occurs."

Unique Position

"Since the press stands in a unique position as an observer of public business, the reporter is the logical choice as the one

Fox Cities Heart Chairmen Named

Fox Cities area officials for the 1965 Heart Fund campaign have been named by Dr. William B. Hildebrand, Menasha, president of the Wisconsin Heart Association.

Don C. Smith, 1702 Ravina Place, Appleton, has been named to head the campaign in Appleton. Dr. Donald C. Grunwaldt, 1006 Hennes Court, Kaukauna, will be in charge of that city's part of the program.

Mrs. Wayne R. Hull, 403 Buchanan, Combined Locks, will head the effort there. Francis Coffey, 817 E. Commercial St., Appleton, is Heart Fund representative for the Outagamie County east district of the drive.

The 1965 goal for the Appleton area has been set at $10,660. The state goal is $616,000.

Red Cross Volunteers Plan Friday Meeting

The regular meeting of the Fox Valley Council of Red Cross Volunteers will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Outagamie County Red Cross office, Appleton.

Members will discuss consolidating efforts in supporting volunteer work at Winnebago State Hospital.

NFO Members Reportedly Blocking State Highways

Valley Officials Call for Firm, But Peaceful, Holding Activities

National Farmers Organization (NFO) members today reportedly were blocking state highways to prevent livestock from reaching the market.

The militant farm organization is in its seventh day of a livestock withholding action aimed at bringing prices of cattle, hogs and sheep higher and forcing master contracts with buyers and packers.

Authorities said they had received reports of NFO activity, including blocking state roads, particularly in Waupaca and Shawano counties.

However, they said they were not able to confirm these reports.

There also was an unconfirmed report a truck carrying livestock had been struck Monday by a hit-and-run driver. Although there was no police report, the driver of the truck was quoted as saying he believed the incident to be sparked by the NFO action.

Meanwhile, NFO Fox Valley officials met Monday in the Town of Farmington town hall, calling for activity in the group's drive to be firm, but peaceful. They asked that members take care not to cause any "trouble or violence."

The withholding, according to livestock buyers, apparently was succeeding, although it was not yet clear to what degree.

Nolan Bros. livestock buyers, Marion, said they had met with local NFO officials and agreed not to conduct sales Wednesdays if they would be permitted to continue selling Mondays and Tuesdays.

The firm normally conducts sales all three days.

Prices "Extremely High"

At their sale Monday night, they reported receipts of livestock were about 25 per cent below normal, and prices were "extremely high" — about two cents above last week's market.

Firm officials early today reported "several" cars of NFO members at the Nolan Bros sale at Lomira. The officials said the members had blocked the driveway for a short time but finally moved.

On the state level, Gov. John W. Reynolds has asked a state agency to investigate reports of disorders growing out of demonstrations by the NFO.

The action by the governor, who is attending the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City, was announced by his office Monday. Even as the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board was asked to check the reports, NFO officials notified the executive office they would cooperate fully in the investigation.

"Deeply Concerned"

At the same time, the Wisconsin Farm Bureau telegraphed the governor in Atlantic City that it was "deeply concerned with acts of violence resulting from the NFO strike."

A similar message was sent by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperatives, which said, "The entire membership ...requests immediate aid of law enforcement in our state."

The Farm Bureau message, signed by president Percy Hardiman of Hartland, said, "Our office has received word of a truck dispatcher being assaulted and hospitalized in Green Bay, a livestock buyer beaten, a shooting incident in Milwaukee, and dynamite with

Unfair Labor Practices Hearing Starts

Teamsters Local Charges Appleton Trucking Company

A hearing into unfair labor practice charges filed against Fox Valley Truck Service, Inc. of Appleton got underway today in city hall before a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) trial examiner.

The labor-management dispute over organizing employes at the firm boiled over recently when Teamsters Local 563 filed the charges with the NLRB regional office.

Examiner Abraham H. Maller of Washington, D.C. is hearing the case.

The union in its complaint to the regional office of the NLRB, which is prosecuting the charges, alleges the company and its attorney, Urban Van Susteren, Appleton, "interfered with, restrained and coerced its employes. " by various acts of conduct

Allegations

It is alleged:

—The firm's president, John Toppins, and Kermit Langdok, a foreman, between April 22 and 25 interrogated employes concerning their union membership and activities

2 Aldermen Ask Building be Razed

Two northside aldermen have asked the residence at 342 W. Wisconsin Ave be condemned and razed

A resolution to this effect has been submitted by Alds. Gerald Wagner (18th) and Clifford Radder (16th) and referred to the Board of Public Works, building inspector and city attorney.

The building, on the northeast corner of Wisconsin Avenue and N Division Street is "dilapidated and an eyesore to the area", the aldermen said.

From Federal Government

Appleton to Ask Aid for Milk Plan

The Appleton Board of Education voted unanimously Monday to apply for federal aid for the school milk program for the 1964-1965 school year.

The action came one month after the board voted to eliminate its controversial policy of rejecting all federal aid, which had been in effect since 1960.

At the time the board voted for the policy change, it also authorized the superintendent to apply for National Defense Education Act funds for science, mathematics and foreign language equipment for Einstein Junior High School, now under construction.

Had Taken Aid

The Appleton school system accepted federal aid for its elementary school milk program for six years, but discontinued this in 1960 because the board felt this was not consistent with other stands it was taking in regard to federal aid.

Milk consumption dropped about 50 per cent when the federal subsidy was dropped and the cost to pupils increased, according to Director of Business Affairs William Knuth. A total of 256,238 half pints of milk were served to elementary school pupils last year, at a cost of about 5 cents per half pint.

A letter from the State Department of Public Instruction said it is anticipated the prevailing rate of a 3 cents per half pint reimbursement for milk served to children in schools which do not have a school lunch program will apply again this year. This would trim the cost to pupils from 25 to about 10 cents per week, Spears said. The only cost to the school system for the milk program is for clerical work.

Much Study Needed

Spears asked the board for a decision on the milk program so that the necessary application and reports could be made for the coming school year.

However, he said much study is needed on a hot lunch program before the board can decide whether or not to apply for federal aids for it. Few schools in Appleton have kitchens fully equipped for a hot lunch program, he said, and an extensive program would almost require a full-time manager.

Hot lunches in Appleton public schools are served now only at Appleton High School and Madison Junior High School where students pay for the cost of the lunches, and at Morgan School, where the program receives state reimbursement because of the orthopedic department there.

Some parents have asked for elementary school lunch programs because of the distances their children have to walk to and from school.

The state department informed the board milk reimbursement in a school lunch program is 4 cents per half pint for milk served with lunches, and said there are also "vast kinds and quantities" of commodities available, valued at about 10 cents per meal served.

The board had not requested information on the lunch program.

Spice Vows to Protect Farmers Going to Market

A guarantee to protect farmers who wish to move cattle to market through National Farmers Organization withholding points was made today by Sheriff Calvin Spice.

Spice said he has received "dozens" of telephone calls from farmers asking if protection would be assured if they attempted to run through the cattle stops in Outagamie County. Spice said the farmers feared 'reprisals" if they did not stop.

Spice said the decision to attempt to cross NFO lines to take cattle to markets should be up to the farmer, but if the decision is made to ignore the NFO demand, Spice said the farmers would be guaranteed protection.

Today is the seventh day of the NFO's nationwide withholding action to force the signing of master contracts with packers and buyers. There have been no disturbances in Outagamie County from the action so far, authorities have noted.

Courthouse to White House Work Plan Urged for GOP

Knowles Warns Reynolds Won't Be 'Pushover' in Fall Election

WINNECONNE — Work to assure success from the "courthouse to the White House" was stressed by speakers at the Winnebago County Republican Party corn roast here Monday night.

Despite the rain which drenched the area during the early part of the evening and then only threatened for the balance of the corn roast, attendance of close to 1,000 was estimated for the annual event held at the Winnebago County Park.

Warren Knowles, Republican candidate for governor, warned that Gov. Reynolds would be "no push-over" and charged the governor was campaigning around the state in a state-owned limousine, equipped with telephone and loud speakers and driven by a state patrolman, "all at the taxpayers' expense."

The governor candidate continued, "never have we seen the political partisanship, the appointment of cronies to office and never have we seen the people so upset and fed up with the increasing cost of government at the state and federal level as under the present administration. We are confronted with a taxpayers revolt in this state."

Knowles also charged Gov. Reynolds with "intellectual dishonesty" in his advertising about the sales tax and declared that the sales tax was not the issue "but rather the record of broken promises of Reynolds."

In referring to the sales tax, Knowles declared "that never during a Republican administration has there been any attempt to tax the necessities of life."

The need to work hard in each precinct for the election was also stressed by Robert Zimmerman, secretary of state; Dena Smith, state treasurer, Atty. Gen. George Thompson. Wilbur Renk, candidate for U.S. Senator, was unable to attend and sent a telegram.

Congressional Candidates

Also speaking at the corn roast were Cong. William K. Van Pelt and his opponent for that office, Jack Steinhilber. Assemblymen David O. Martin, Floyd Shurbert and William A. Steiger and the various county candidates, Dorothy L. Propp, incumbent, and Myrtle E. Lee for county clerk; Bernice L. Fuller, incumbent, and George Yost for register of deeds, Gerald Engeldinger and Tom Hughes for district attorney, Marvin Peppler for sheriff and County Treas. Frank Luedeke and Coroner Arthur C. Miller.

Also speaking briefly were state GOP chairman Talbot Peterson of Appleton and state GOP vice chairwoman Dorothy Krohn of Oshkosh. William Copps of Neenah and M. A. ("Red") Zimmerman of Winneconne introduced the candidates. Zimmerman was general chairman for the corn roast.

Granddaughter of Mill Founder Dies at 49

The granddaughter of the founder of a Menasha paper mill died at Stevens Point Sunday evening.

Mrs. Robert Schroeder, 49, 1005 Clark St., Stevens Point, was a native of Neenah and a former resident here. She was born here Feb. 6, 1915, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whiting and a granddaughter of George A. Whiting, founder of the George A Whiting Paper Mill, Menasha.

She and her husband lived in Neenah and Oshkosh before moving to Stevens Point 14 years ago.

She is survived by her husband; one son; four daughters; four grandchildren; a brother, George A. Whiting, Neenah, and a sister.

Funeral services are scheduled for the Frame Memorial Presbyterian Church, Stevens Point, Wednesday, with cremation to follow.

Lightning Hits Area Three Times

Lightning scored three hits in southern Appleton Monday night as Nature's fireworks displayed their wares over the Fox Cities.

Two homes and a transformer were struck in the 200 block of S. Telulah Avenue. John Jensen, 206 S. Telulah, called the fire department about 8:30 p.m. when a lighting bolt struck a kitchen range. Slight smoke damage resulted.

Around the corner at 1519 E. Gunn St., the fuse box of the William Horn residence was struck by lightning.

The hot water heater was damaged, but no flame was seen. Firemen also checked this call.

The Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. reported slight lightning damage, including a transformer in the S. Telulah Avenue area which was hit during the electrical storm.

A gust of 38 miles per hour was reported at 3:30 p.m. Monday. The storm brewed off and on during the evening, totaling .49 inch of rain.

Chilton Archery Club Plans Field Shoot Next Month

CHILTON—The Chilton Archery Club is planning a pre-season field shoot for sometime next month.

The shoot will be open to all members and guests of surrounding area clubs. Specific date for the shoot will be determined at the 7:30 p.m. Thursday meeting in the city hall.

AHS Students May Attend Lawrence

Board Approves Fall Trial Of Advanced Training Plan

Several Appleton High School students may attend classes at Lawrence University this fall in an experimental advanced placement program.

Cooperation with Lawrence in the program was approved by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

Supt. of Schools William Spears told the board the program is one outcome of a foundation grant Lawrence has received to develop closer relationships between the college and the Appleton public school system.

He said four to six high school students may be eligible to take classes in sciences or humanities at Lawrence this fall. Their high school program will be arranged so they can take one course at Lawrence, for which they will receive college credit, he said.

Small Beginning

"This is just a small beginning which we hope can be expanded in the future," Spears said. Many things have been discussed, even the possibility of closed circuit television, he said.

The only cost during the first year of the experimental program will be a $10 matriculation fee per student, to cover the cost of setting up and maintaing per- of setting up and maintaining permanent records for the students. The college credits they earn at Lawrence will be transferable after their graduation from high school.

The school board Monday voted to pay the cost of the matriculation fees for the students during the initial experimental year of the program.

Study Continuation

Marshall B. Hulbert, Lawrence vice president, in a letter to Spears, said after the first year is over, Lawrence officials and the school board will discuss continuation of the program.

If it does, he said, it is likely Lawrence will have to make a tuition charge to cover at least part of the cost.

Board member Kenneth Sager said Appleton High School has not taken advantage of other advanced placement opportunities by urging students to take advanced placement tests for which they can receive college credit in most colleges and universities.

These are nationwide standardized exams in certain subjects which enable students who pass them to skip certain required college courses, but to receive credit for them, he said.

3 Youths Say They Hit Pedestrian

Three 16-year-old youths have admitted to county police they were in a car which spun a pedestrian around and hurtled him to the ground early Monday injuring the pedestrian's back.

The pedestrian, Herman Johns, 18, route 3, West De Pere, was in Kaukauna Community Hospital with injuries from the accident.

The youths said they saw Johns walking on County Trunk E about 1 a.m. When their car slowed down, Johns grabbed at the door handle. The youths drove away, spinning Johns to the ground. The youths said they saw Johns lying on the road, but did not go back to offer assistance.

County police took statements from all three youths in the car, but have not brought charges.

Johns told police Monday he was walking toward Freedom from Ludwig's Lanes. He said he had been drinking.

Menasha Reserve Notes Record Number Enlistments

MENASHA — Enlisted strength of the Second Battalion, 274th Regiment, U.S. Army Reserve, reached 120 today, only eight less than full strength authorized to the unit.

Officials said six "probable enlistments" are listed and should join the battalion soon, leaving it only two short from full strength.

The battalion has never been at full strength since it was organized as part of the 274th.

The regiment was organized in 1959 from an armored unit and several smaller groups at the Menasha center. It now serves as a training organization.

The regiment consists of three battalions. First at Appleton, Second at Menasha and Third at Wausau. Only the First Battalion has possibly reached strength and this was apparently due to forced assignments from other units.

Until 1963 the Second Battalion strength never reached 100 men. Officials expect full strength will be reached within the next 30 days.

Officials, however, said enlistments will still be taken. Battalion is allowed to exceed its full strength quota by a designated number of men. When 18 man strength is reached, all units at the Menasha center will have filled their ranks. Headquarters Company, a separate entity from the Second Battalion, reached full strength in mid-1963.

Education Unit Defends Policy On Closed Talks

exception to the rule," Mrs. Munro wrote.

"The press has an acknowledged responsibility in the field of public affairs; its discretion, or lack of it, is documented in print and its reporters are trained to act as both watchdogs of the public interest and partners in its operation. Its organization has an accessibility and a continuity not characteristic of volunteer groups. So we would defend our present position in allowing the reporter to stay at times when other visitors are excluded."

Mrs. Munro expressed the board's appreciation of the Appleton Taxpayers Association's contribution "in awakening community interest in the conduct of all public business."

"Your representatives, especially where consistent attendance has been possible, have shown an increasing understanding of our problems. In many cases, they have been most helpful in suggesting the need for emphasis, clarification and study," she said.

Willecke had sent a similar letter to the city council earlier this summer.

Tipsy Driver Found Guilty

Black Creek Man Fined $200, Costs In Outagamie Court

Earl Stutzman, 59, Black Creek, pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $200 today. The case was continued from Aug. 11.

Stutzman was arrested Aug. 6, on State 47 in the Town of Cicero by county police. He was seen driving erratically by officers and registered .26 in a breatholizer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Injured Man Still Serious

Lay for Four Hours Sunday Morning by Overturned Car

A Green Bay man who lay near his wrecked and overturned car in Black Creek for four hours early Sunday morning, remains in serious condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital, but he has responded to questions from his family and has eaten breakfast.

The man, Dennis Lamal, 22, was injured when his car went off a road in Black Creek, hurtled through the air, hit a pile of concrete blocks then overturned in a garden.

Lamal was thrown from the car and lay unconcious for four hours near the front porch of a Black Creek home.

Black Creek residents told county police they heard "noise like jets" about 2 a.m. when the accident was believed to have occurred. Several persons searched the area of the accident to determine the cause of the noise about 2 a.m., but did not come across the overturned car or Lamal.

Child Darts Into Street, Receives Slight Injuries

A child who darted into the street between parked cars on S. Elm Street was injured slightly about 11:45 a.m. Monday.

Ellen Drexler, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drexler, 3065 S. Elm St., ran into a car driven by Mrs. Clarence Schuh, 58, 422 E. Glendale Ave.

The car was going south on Elm Street.

Ellen was dragged 19 feet, according to police. She received cuts on the forehead and face and bruises on both knees and legs. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Unfair Labor Practices Hearing Starts

promised employes wage increases and other benefits if they refrained from voting for or joined the union, and threatened them with reprisals if supporting the union.

—Toppins and Atty. Edward Bollenbeck, Appleton, encouraged and offered assistance to employes to withdraw from the union.

—About July 3, Toppins granted wage increases, sick leave, improved vacation benefits and reduced work hours "all to discourage employees from voting for, becoming members of, or giving support to the union."

Discharge Employe

In late April, the company discharged an employe, Lyle Burt, for his activities on behalf of the union and has since refused to reinstate him, it was claimed.

The union contends it is the legal bargaining agent for a majority of the employes of Fox Valley Truck Service, Inc. and the company has refused to enter into collective bargaining.

It charged the company with increasing wages and fringe benefits, without notifying or bargaining with the union.

Attys. Carl B. Frankel and Dennis M. Selby, Milwaukee, are prosecuting the case for the regional office of the ULRB. Local 563 is represented by Atty. Gerry Miller, staff member of a Milwaukee legal firm.

Introduce Letters

Counsel for the NRLB entered several letters into the record, representing exchanges between the union and company.

Testifying to the organizational activities of the union at the firm and the subsequent difficulties with management was Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563.

During the hearing it was brought out that a company representative said Burt had been discharged because "he worked too slow." The union contends it was his union activities which triggered the firing.

During cross examination of Schlieve, Van Susteren questioned him about the organizing activities of the union at the plant and his contacts with employes there.

Will Make Ruling

After studying the evidence, the trial examiner will make a ruling which is subject to confirmation or reversal by the National Labor Relations Board in Washington.

Cases are also appealable to the courts.

There was no indication of how long the hearing will last.

This Shorebird Apparently was a victim of the high winds in the state Saturday. The robin-size bird came fluttering down onto the rear parking lot of the Appleton Post-Crescent, fatigued and with its legs injured. Identified as an immature female sora, the species is also called Carolina rail and is adapted for wetlands living—not high and dry asphalt pavement. As in all such cases involving protected species of wildlife, the local conservation officer was contacted. If possible, the bird will be nurses back to strength so it can be released and resume a normal life. (Post-Crescent Photo)

900 Demonstrators

One of the largest demonstrations was staged Monday night in Stratford at the auction barns of the Equity Livestock Sales Corp.

Marathon County Sheriff Louis Ginoli said 900 to 1,000 men gathered at the Equity barns in an attempt to halt livestock trucks. But as the demonstration progressed Earl Kurtzweil of Stratford, the Marathon County NFO chairman, told the crowd he had been called to his home to take a telephone call from Oren Lee Staley, the organization's national president.

When Kurtzweil returned, he said the withholding had been called off. The trucks were allowed to enter and the livestock was sold.

"News to Mee"

Staley said at Des Moines, Iowa, he had not talked with Kurtzweil and the report that the holding action had been ended "was news to me."

The Lafayette County sheriff's department said four sticks of dynamite, a lighted fuse and an exploded cap were found in a scale house at the Oscar Mayer & Co. buying station in Darlington Monday.

Investigating officers said a window was broken to lower the dynamite to the floor. However, the fuse and cap pulled loose and caught on something about 14 inches from the dynamite, preventing an explosion when the cap fired.

Henry McNally, 34, a dispatcher for the Packerland Packing Co. in Green Bay, was admitted to a hospital Monday with bruises to his head and chest. He said he received the injuries in a scuffle with NFO members.

Five NFO members questioned by police said the disturbance began with an argument over where they had parked their cars, according to Brown County Sheriff William Swanson.

In Milwaukee, Assistant Dist Atty. Aldin De Brozzo refused to issue a warrant against Ted Weiland, 71, of rural Kenosha who said he fired a shotgun blast into the ground when his truck was stopped by six men. Weiland said the men had threatened to "let my cattle loose" and had ordered him from the truck. He said the men fled when he fired.

De Brozzo told Oak Creek police, "You have more of a complainant than a defendant here. You have no case at all."

Riverside Players Final Production Is Complete Sell Out

NEENAH — There are no tickets available for the final weekend run of "My Fair Lady," which begins at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and closes with Sunday night's performance.

This will be the second summer musical to be a sellout — last summer's production of "The Music Man" ran to capacity crowds.

At present the Riverside Players box office is preparing a waiting list for the coming four performances. Today these lists were filling rapidly and James Hrubecky says the cancellations are few and far between.

Zieman taught at Central High School, Superior, for three years before coming to Appleton in 1953. He taught English, social studies and mathematics at Wilson Junior High School before becoming principal there. He will assume his new duties immediately and will have his office in Morgan School.

Zieman belongs to educational organizations and to the Northside Kiwanis Club. He has two daughters, 9 and 10 years old. The family lives at 1311 E. Harding Drive.

Johnston, 32, is a native of Oshkosh. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Wisconsin State University Oshkosh, with a major in history and minors in English and geography, and a master's degree in administration from the University of Wisconsin. He taught in Watertown and Racine, and has been an English and social studies teacher at Wilson Junior High School for four years.

Johnston was elected president of the Appleton Education Association last spring. He served as the group's welfare committee chairman last year. He also belongs to the Appleton's Y's Men's Club and has been active in scouting and church groups. He has two daughters, 6 and 1 years old. They live at 1518 E. Lindbergh St.

Freedom Plans to Begin Work On New School in Late Fall

$650,000 Building Will Contain Elementary, Junior High Classes

FREEDOM — Construction of a 25-classroom elementary and junior high school building for Freedom Joint School District 3 is expected to start late this fall, Supt. of Schools Henry Patch said today.

The building — scheduled to be ready by September, 1965 — will help reduce overcrowded conditions in the present high school here and will mean the closing of eight existing one-room schools now operated by the district.

Special Education

Also resulting from the proposed $650,000 building program will be the start of kindergarten classes and the introduction of a separate junior high school operation in the district.

Patch also said the district, for the first time, will apply for federal funds to assist in paying costs of science, mathematics and related equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

The district — when the school is complete — also will offer a special education class for the first time, Patch said.

Architect for the two-story structure is Robert W. Surplice, Green Bay. The building will be constructed about 1¼-miles south of here on Outagamie County Trunk E just west of County Trunk N on the north side of the road.

Included in the building will be a cafeteria and a gymasium. Also to be provided is a central office and library.

Capacity of the proposed school will be 750 students. Presently, the district has 350 students in its high school in the 9th through 12th grades and 250 students spread around in the one-room schools in grades one through eight.

Additional Students

Ninth grade classes presently taught in the high school will be moved to the proposed school when it is completed.

At least 220 additional students will be enrolled in the district next fall, Patch said. About 120 children will be in the two kindergarten classes the superintendent said.

Spokesmen for three of five parochial schools in the district also have told Patch they will turn away at least 10 per cent of their enrollments — a total of about 100 — next fall. These students apparently will attend the new public school.

The 1964 student population census of children in the district showed there were more than 2,000 youths under age 20 in the area.

More Teachers

The district consists of the Village of Freedom, the Town of Freedom and parts of the towns of Center, Kaukauna, Oneida and Osborn.

Patch said he expected an increase in the teaching staff, but he did not know yet how much or in what departments.

A $650,000 bond issue to finance construction and equipment of the proposed school was approved by district voters at an adjourned session of the annual meeting this month.

Rail Merger Proposed

25,000 Miles Of Track in Unified Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — An examiner has recommended that the Interstate Commerce Commission approve the unification of five railroads into the nation's largest system — nearly 25,000 miles

The proposal approved Monday by examiner Robert H. Murphy calls for the merger of four lines — the Great Northern Railway, the Northern Pacific Railway, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and the Pacific Coast Railroad — and a 10-year lease on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway.

If approved by the full commission, the combined system — to be known as the Great Northern Pacific & Burlington Lines, Inc. — would have assets of more than $2 6 billion and annual income of more than $775 million.

U. S. Largest

Murphy said the system would be the largest railroad in the United States in terms of miles of road and geographic distribution, and the third largest in annual revenues.

He recommended a number of conditions that would require maintenance of open routes, gateways and channels of trade; the opening of important new gateways to competing railroads: and protection of adversely affected railroad employes.

Murphy's recommendations were denounced in Cleveland, Ohio, by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who called the decision "another victory for monopoly interests."

Greater Profit

"The recommended merger," Gilbert said in a statement "would be a surrender to the financial interests that seek greater profit from minimum service. jobs will be cut by at least 30 per cent and many communities will find themselves with either no rail service or relegated to branch line status."

Opposition came also from Frank Hayes, attorney for the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission, who said in Olympia that the state will continue to oppose the merger.

Hayes said the unification would eliminate a "competitive spur for maintenance of good service in this area and would put 1,284 men out of work in the state, with a loss of $8 million a year in annual income.

The head of a competing railroad which had opposed the merger welcomed a section of the examiner's recommendations, however.

Trackage Rights

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, known as the Milwaukee Road, would gain entrance to Portland, Ore., by being permitted to operate over the Spokane, Portland and Seattle tracks. It also would be given trackage rights through Everett, Wash., thus gaining access to Canada.

In Chicago, President William J. Quinn of the Milwaukee Road said Murphy's recommendations would assist it "in furnishing effective competition to the merged system." His road operates 10,540 miles of track between Chicago and the West Coast.

Officials of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern said they would have no comment until they had had a chance to study the lengthy findings.

77 Viet Cong Reds Killed in Clash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces killed 77 Viet Cong guerrillas during a major sweep for control of the rice crop in the delta area around Binh Dinh, a U.S. military source said today.

He said a three-day Vietnamese army operation also reportedly had captured 52 Communists and taken a number of weapons.

The rice crop is nearing harvest and government forces in the area 275 miles northeast of Saigon are trying to keep as much of it as possible out of Communist hands.

Latest reports said the government lost three killed and 16 captured in the sweep. The operation is continuing.

Boy With Leukemia Dies Knowing Debts Are Paid in Full

CARTERSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Ray Chappell, the gallant teen-ager with leukemia who battled so hard to pay his medical bills, died knowing his debts were paid in full.

The 18-year-old boy died Monday in a hospital a few minutes before newsmen could present him with a bill marked "paid in full."

Chappell's family, however, told him of the news Saturday when his condition worsened.

The youth worked with a highway construction crew, but was able to earn only $60. News stories of his plight brought in $1,400 in money and pledges which his father, Ray Chappell, a cotton mill worker in Aragon, Ga., said would be used to pay medical expenses. What is left will be applied to the boy's funeral expenses.

Tells Racine Barbers

Frinzi Says Reclassification of State Colleges Was a 'Blunder'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dominic Frinzi, campaigning for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said Monday night the reclassification of Wisconsin's nine state colleges as universities was a "terrible blunder."

Frinzi spoke at a meeting of union barbers in Racine and said that if elected he would ask the Legislature to restore the college system and add, as soon as possible, four-year colleges at Racine, Kenosha and Green Bay.

Saying that Democratic incumbent Gov. John W. Reynolds straddled the fence on the question of a four-year university for Racine, Frinzi said Racine "should not be promised any kind of university in the near future." He said the present two-year extention center should be replaced by colleges in Racine and Kenosha.

Made Blunder

"Actually," Frinzi continued, "a terrible blunder has already been made during the Reynolds' administration" in the switch of the colleges to university status Citing what he said were the higher costs of operating universities, Frinzi said, "You can see what a billion dollar boondoggle this has become."

The endorsed Republican candidate for governor, Warren Knowles, said Monday that Reynolds should reimburse the state for use of a state-leased limousine on campaign trips.

Speaking at Winneconne, Knowles said "riding around like a Roman emperor may be his idea of a campaign but certainly the people of Wisconsin shouldn't be expected to pay for the luxury."

Telephone Equipped

Knowles said he was referring to published descriptions of a Lincoln Continental equipped with a telephone which the "the state trooper who drives it calls ahead to arrange campaign appearances."

Reynolds was in Atlantic City for the Democratic National Convention. But an aide said at Madison that the governor had issued a statement June 16 saying a state traffic patrolman would continue to act as the governor's security guard in the campaign and that the state car would be used, with the state being reimbursed for any expenses.

GOP Candidate

Wilbur Renk, the endorsed GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Monday that a senator's effectiveness "is measured in the halls of Congress... not by the number of hands he shakes at ball parks and discount stores."

In an obvious jibe at Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., Renk continued, "His effectiveness is not measured by the number of times he speaks on the Senate floor, but by the expertness with which he speaks."

Proxmire is campaigning for re-election.

Tonsils Disappear

New Technique Used to Kill Diseased Tissues

BY FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Use of super-cooled probes to make inflamed tonsils disappear in virtually bloodless surgery was described today by two New York doctors. The tonsils are cooled to temperatures as low as 76 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

The doctors also told of other promising uses of cryosurgery — techniques involving use of extreme cold to kill diseased tissue instead of just cutting it away.

The technique has been used in certain types of brain disorders, such as Parkinson's disease (shaking palsy), and in treating cataracts of the eye, diseased prostate glands, and certain forms of cancer.

Cancer Center

Dr. William G. Cahan of the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, and Dr. Irving S. Cooper of the Department of Neurosurgery, St. Barnarbas, Hospital, told about the progress in reports to the first annual meeting of the Society for Cryobiology.

Liquid nitrogen, with a temperature 320 degrees below zero, is made to course through special probes inserted into the throat, or through a hole in the skull, or into other parts of the body.

The probes freeze the ailing body tissue at temperatures usually ranging from 14 to 76 degrees below zero In the process, the liquid nitrogen vaporizes and exits through the other end of the probe

Dr Cahan said oval-tipped probes were developed for tonsillectomies and straight probes small enough to be passed through a laryngoscope for attacking potentially cancerous papillomas which sometimes form inside the larynx or voice box of children.

There also are large straight probes to freeze bulky tumors, and flat discs for cancers spread over the surface of a broad area.

Dr. Cooper told of encouraging use of the technique in cases of shaking palsy and in other conditions marked by involuntary movement of muscles.

In such a freeze-type surgery, the probe is carefully inserted through a hole in the skull, and is made to course past various areas of the brain, without disturbing them, until it reaches a section known as the thalamus. It freezes only a portion of the latter.

Scout Rocket Probes Radio Signal Fading

Circular Orbit To be 620 Miles Above the Earth

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—A Scout rocket shot aloft today with a 97-pound package of electronics designed to probe the mystery of why earth-bound radios black out.

The 26 by-32-inch satellite, aimed at circular orbit 620 miles high, is the latest launched in a three-nation attempt to map the layer of electrically charged gases, called the ionosphere, that surrounds the earth.

The 72-foot solid-fuel launching rocket streaked into the sky at 6:43 a.m.

Officials said it would take several hours to determine successful orbit.

Destination was the top side of the ionosphere, so called because it is made up of tiny particles, or ions, knocked off in collisions of radiation in space. Trapped in the earth's magnetic field, they move along the lines of the field and set up a current strong enough to reflect radio signals.

St. Augustine's Catholic Schools Register Negroes

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Two of St. Augustine's Catholic schools started registering Negroes Monday for the fall term.

It will be the first integration of Catholic schools in the area. School officials would not comment A third Catholic school, operated for Negroes, has been closed.

Six Negro members of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference swam at St. Augustine beach without incident Monday. The beach was the scene of race riots earlier this summer.

New Missile Bases Reported in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla (AP) — Two new bases for medium-range missiles are being built in Cuba, the Sentinels of Liberty, an exile organization, said today.

Both are on the north coast of Oriente Province, according to the organization, which claims underground sources. It said Russians are directing the construction.

Catholic Mass Is Heard in English

11,000 Persons Witnessed Historic Event in St. Louis

BY HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Roman Catholic Mass, presented for the first time in English enraptured 11,000 persons witnessing the historic event Monday and seemed to fulfill its aim: to present the Gospel in familiar terms.

It was the first time the dialogue between priest and the laity was in English during worship — a change that will come to all Latin rite churches in this country on Nov. 29, the first day of the ecclesiastical year.

Not all the Mass was in English — as it is expected to be eventually. The prayers said at the foot of the altar by the celebrant, the Rev. Frederick R. Mc Manus, of Washington, D.C. were in the traditional Latin.

Other Changes

The service veered from tradition in other respects, too. Father McManus faced his huge congregation from a dais raised three feet from the auditorium floor. The altar was a simple gray block flanked by 40 gray wooden cubes upon which sat the priests who helped distribute communion.

One of the hymns was by Martin Luther, 16th-century German Reformation leader.

Another hymn sung in English was part of a Mass written three years ago by the Rev. Clarence J. Rivers, 33, a Negro priest from Cincinnati, Ohio. Father Rivers sang it in a rich baritone while communion was distributed.

Layman Narrator

A layman, John Manion of Washington, D.C., was narrator of the Mass, speaking from the sacristy before the altar.

Permission for holding parts of the Mass in the language of their country was given last year by the Second Vatican Council and Pope Paul VI.

Its first presentation in English opened the 25th annual liturgical week — a four-day workshop on church matters for 15,000 priests, nuns and lay people.

A 42-member commission, including two Amercans, will begin next April to rewrite the entire Mass. One of the Americans is Joseph Cardinal Ritter, archbishop of St. Louis.

Familiar Terms

The Rev. Gregory Baum, associate professor of theology at St. Michael's College in Toronto and editor of the Ecumenist, in the conference-opening address said, "the church must present the Gospel in terms which are near and familiar. It will not do to say that the old ways were good for so many centuries; this may well be so.

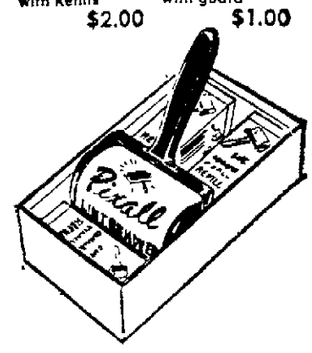

"But we must listen to the demands which God makes on us now and find new ways in reply to His challenge."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Yes, says the late Professor Willard Waller. Caste and social class are diminishing. With people moving about so much, differences in sections of the country are becoming ironed out. The greater freedom of women means that even sex distinctions are lessened. What does remain is occupation. Different vocations affect their members in particular ways, and make for real differences in personal status.

Have we over-domesticated our girls?

Yes —— No ——

Yes, there is some evidence that we have. Anthropologist Dr. Margaret Mead puts it: "Marriage is supposed to be the apex of the woman's existence — in fact, the only purpose in life. She goes to school or takes a job only to get a man. There is nothing a woman can do today that we might label 'happiness' that is not connected with a man. A date, a steady, a fiance, a husband — we teach her that these are the things she must want and prepare for." A girl is more than an adjunct to a man, she is a person in her own right, says Dr. Mead. Do you agree or don't you?

It isn't easy to be a good mother-in-law. Yet, many unnecessary arguments, tensions, and misunderstandings can be avoided, when you send for "How to Be a Good Mother-In-Law." This helpful booklet has been designed with one aim — harmony between in-laws. It can be had for 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, addressed to "Let's Explore Your Mind" care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

Novelty Duck Bowl Flower Holder Today's Fun Idea

BY CAPPY DICK

Any bowl can be converted into a duck bowl flower holder by following today's fun-project ideas.

The bowl should not be too large for the duck's head and tail which will be made out of a synthetic sponge (Figure 1). Choose a colored sponge for the best result.

Cut the tail and head to the shapes shown in Figures 2 and 3, making notches that will fit snugly over the edge of the bowl, as in Figure 2.

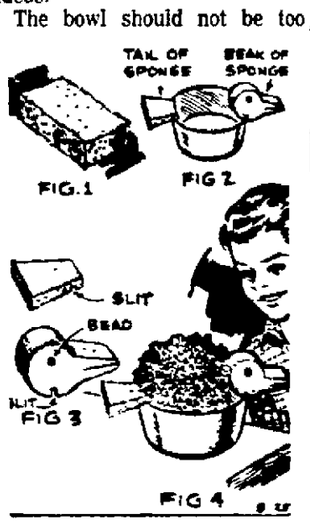

A bead should be glued to each side of the duck's head for its eyes.

Fill the bowl with short-stemmed flowers as in Figure 4.

If you prefer, you can fill it with water and float a few flowers on top of it.

Either way you do it, the color of the duck's tail and head will add to the color of the flowers displayed in the bowl.

(Copyright, 1964)

U.S. Citizens Urged To Leave the Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A radio message purporting to come from the U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville Saturday urged all American citizens and missionaries to leave the northeast Congo area immediately.

All United States missionaries and U.S. citizens in northeast Congo are to leave the area as soon as possible," the broadcast said.

Jingo Praises Fine Backstage Crew Work

Attic Theatre and Riverside Players Productions Lauded for Smoothness

BY JINGO

The community theater's musical comedy season is at its height this week with the Attic Theater running out the week in "Gypsy" and the Riverside Players preparing to reopen "My Fair Lady" Thursday for their final weekend run.

Jingo

Both productions are of a caliber to make Fox Cities theatergoers swell with pride, and seats at Stansbury Theater and the Riverside Park pavilion should be at a premium.

What caught Jingo's eye at both productions, was the tremendous production jobs that have been completed. Both Ken Anderson at Riverside and Don Jones at the Attic have met their challenges headon and have come up with remarkable achievements.

While both musicals are of the highest quality, their presentations caused very different problems. "My Fair Lady" is being produced in a three-sided arena, and "Gypsy" has been mounted in the proscenium.

Anderson and his Riverside crew, perhaps, have the more difficult problem since there is no opportunity to prepare a playing area while another scene is being staged. Each of the many scenes has to be mounted individually. "Gypsy" on the other hand, makes use of curtains to mask scene changes.

Time is all important in both cases. The audience comes to be entertained by the actors and has only the slightest interest in how the scenes get changed.

Efforts Overlooked

This attitude is understandable, but a lot of wonderful teamwork and energy is overlooked by it. It is obvious in these two productions that the stage crews under the direction of the stage managers must have spent almost as much time in "rehearsal" to prepare for their thankless jobs as the casts did for their jobs that win so much well - earned applause.

There should be some way to get across to the audiences the drama and excitement that fills the backstage area during a major production, but such a revelation would merely defeat the purpose of the stage hands' work which is to make the show move so smoothly that the audience doesn't notice the changes. The crews' work must have a touch of magic to it.

With the continuing success of our community theaters, we Fox Cities theatergoers are coming to expect perfection, and the Attic and the Riverside Players are meeting this standard. Our situation must be unique. It's good to live in the Fox Cities.

Jerry Lewis Gives Lesson in Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Karen Sharpe is getting an education working with Jerry Lewis in "The Disorderly Orderly."

"Comedy is serious business with Jerry," says his pretty costar. "I've never seen such concentration in my life.

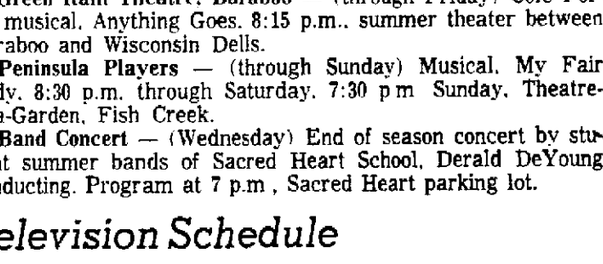

"When a scene is shot, he doesn't relax. Instead he questions all the cast and crew on whether the scene was shot right or not.

"Then he'll dash to a phone and check on costuming and props. He never stops."

And this is a picture where Jerry is only an actor. Wait until you see him when he also produces and directs.

Fireworks Possible at Convention

BY TV SCOUT

6 to Conclusion (All Channels) — If there are going to be any fireworks at the Democratic National Convention, expect them to begin tonight. The Convention Hall on Atlantic City's oceanside boardwalk should be ablaze with activity as the platform and credentials' committees turn in their reports and the delegates vote for the 1964 Platform.

Reporting live from the New Jersey resort are ABC's anchormen Edward P. Morgan and Howard K. Smith; CBS' Robert Trout and Roger Mudd; and NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley.

ABC's formidable squad will also be boosted by Senators Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), plus analyses by former White House aide Arthur Schlesinger and comedian George Gobel. CBS's coverage will also include Harry Reasoner and Eric Sevareid, with up-to-the-minute analyses, and a flock of floor correspondents. Aiding the NBC Huntley and Brinkley team will be Frank McGee, John Chancellor, Edwin Newman and Sander Vanocur, plus reporters by the dozens.

Holy Angels in Darboy to Start Classes Sept. 3

DARBOY—Holy Angels School will begin its fall session with mass at 8 a.m. Sept. 3.

Students will be dismissed at noon Thursday and Friday and will begin full day sessions Sept. 8. Four classrooms in the school's new eight-classroom addition will be used this year along with four old classrooms.

Each grade will have a separate teacher this year. The Sisters of St. Francis of the Holy Cross teach at the school and two lay teachers have been hired.

Sister Ursula will teach eighth grade, 26 pupils; Sister Andre, seventh grade, 36 pupils; Sister Theodora, sixth grade, 38 pupils; Sister Noel, fifth grade, 41 pupils; Mrs. Ed Ryan, fourth grade, 48 pupils; Miss Barbara Johanek, third grade, 40 pupils; Sister Rosella second grade, 45 pupils, and Sister John Bosco, first grade, 47 pupils.

Enrollment is about 20 children more than last year. Sister Ursula is principal and the new housekeeper for the nuns is Sister Denise.

To Your Good Health

Nosebleed Symptom of Four Medical Factors

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please advise what causes "epistaxis," how to treat it and prevent its recurrence. I have had two attacks in a year.

I recall "cautery and anterior nasal pack" on a recent bill from the doctor, but am still in the dark. — E.P.K

Dr. Molner

Epistaxis means nosebleed. It may be trivial or it may be serious.

Some doctor once said that nosebleed may be a warning, a remedy, or a disease.

This, of course, omits the most frequent cause — trauma, or injury. Of, in the direct parlance of childhood, "a punch in the nose."

As a warning, epistaxis can occur in certain blood disorders.

As a remedy, it may be nature's way of relieving high blood pressure.

As a disease, it may indicate an ulcer or some other condition in the nose. (Ulcers probably are second to the "punch in the nose" as a cause.

The tiny blood vessels of the inside of the nose lie very close to the surface, and are readily broken by injury; by blowing the nose; or by inflammation of the membrane — that's why, along toward the end of a heavy cold, a hard blowing, a bump, or even no discernible pressure at all can cause a nosebleed.

Most nosebleeds are of no consequence. A few may be. If there is no obvious reason, then small ulcers usually prove to be the explanation. Only occasionally is some more serious condition involved.

The usual site of a nosebleed is the lower part of the septum, or partition between the nostrils.

This makes it easy to get at, and heal.

"Cautery" means that something was applied to the site of bleeding, either a chemical, such as silver nitrate, or some form of heat, to coagulate the blood and perhaps to destroy an ulcer.

The "pack" means a cotton packing to apply pressure to the bleeding area, just as you might hold a bit of gauze over a minor cut on a finger.

The emergency treatment for nosebleed consists of packing the opening of the nostril with sterile gauze or cotton and applying a cold cloth or ice pack.

Hold the head forward; this will help a clot to form at the point of bleeding. Holding the head back merely lets the blood flow into the throat instead.

If bleeding recurs, and without apparent reason, and especially if it is heavy and chronic, have the cause investigated.

Dear Dr. Molner: My child was working on a project using broken colored glass, picking up the pieces with her fingers. Some pieces were very fine. Someone cautioned me that the fine glass could work its way under the skin and into the blood stream, and then be carried to the heart. Is this true?—Mrs. N. N.

No, it's not true and you have no cause to worry about that. However, a small piece could enter the skin and make a sore spot, yet perhaps be hard to find. Why not give the youngster a pair of tweezers and perhaps avoid a sore finger?

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Single Flight To Paris After Strike Starts

Mediation Effort Made at Meeting In Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—Pan American World Airways dispatched one flight from New York to Paris today then announced suspension of all outbound morning flights because of a strike.

A company spokesman said the departures were halted until noon, when a mediation attempt was scheduled to be made in Washington. The spokesman said Pan Am hoped for a settlement then.

The Paris flight from New York carried 48 passengers.

It had been scheduled to depart Monday night but was delayed by the impending strike by maintenance mechanics, loaders, port stewards and commissary and flight service personnel.

Picket Lines Formed

Union members began walking off the job within an hour after negotiations between union and management leaders broke off Picket lines were set up at Pan American bases on both coasts

The company said in advance of the walkout that a strike probably would ground all its flights. Its planes carry about 17,000 persons daily.

The union is seeking a 15 per cent pay raise, improved vacations, a shorter work week and other fringe benefits for the maintenance, ground service employes and flight service personnel it represents.

About 1,100 to 1,200 employes walked off their jobs at 2:15 a m at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, the union said

About the same time, the union called 2,500 of its members off their jobs on the Pacific Coast and Hawaii. About 150 pickets marched in Miami, the union said.

Name Manager For Barker Shoes

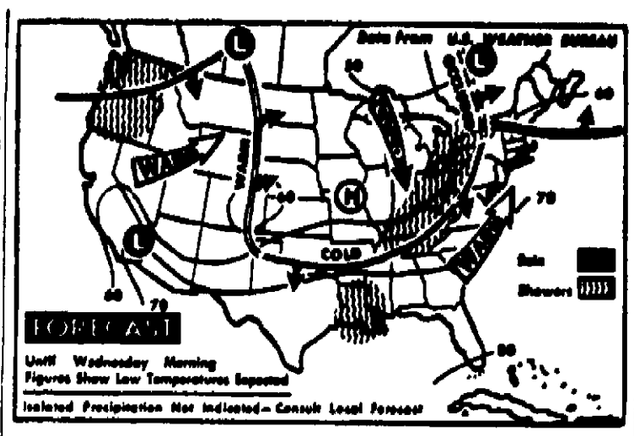

Harry Passofaro has been named manager of Barker's Shoe Store, 108 W. College Ave., succeeding Don Kimble, who has been transferred to St. Cloud, Minn.

Passofaro

Passofaro, 26, comes to Appleton after joining the Barker organization earlier this year in Lincoln, Neb. He had been manager of other chain shoe stores in Miami and Omaha.

He, his wife and their 3-year-old son live in Neenah.

Scattered Showers and Thundershowers are expected tonight in the northwest Pacific states, Louisiana, the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and the eastern part of the Great Lakes. It will be warmer in the northern Plateau and Plains, the northeastern and south Atlantic coast states. Cooler weather is forecast for the rest of the nation except for the west coast and southern Plateau and Plains where there will be little change. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Mostly Fair Skies Prevail Over Most Of Nation Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mostly fair skies prevailed over much of the nation today although a line of thunderstorms developed from the upper Great Lakes to the Texas Panhandle.

The storm line was the leading edge of a cool front surging southeast into the middle of the country. Sporadic thunderstorms also broke out in spots from Arizona to Florida.

While the mainland was enjoying generally pleasant weather, Hurricane Cleo inched her way at 15 miles per hour in a west-northwest direction between Jamaica and Cuba.

New York Acquires R. C. Owens

Griffing McElhenny, King, Looney Leave Giants in Wholesale Shuffle

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — The New York Giants released quarterback Glynn Griffing and halfback Hugh McElhenny today today and sent halfbacks Joe Done Looney, their top 1963 draft choice, and Phil King, their leading ground-gainer of last year, to other National Football League clubs in a wholesale shuffle of personnel.

Looney, who starred at Oklahoma during his colegiate days; Lou Kirouac, a tackle from Boston College, and a 1964 draft choice went to Baltimore in exchange for Andy Nelson, a defensive halfback, and R. C. Owens, spectacular pass catching end.

King went to the Pittsburgh Steelers for a high draft choice.

In addition to Griffing and McElhenny, once the outstanding running halfback in the league but now troubled by knee injuries, those cut from the roster were Millard Fleming, defensive halfback from Marshall; Phil Pashe, a defensive back from George Washington; Frank Lasky, a tackle from Florida; Louis Guy, Mississippi flanker back, and Tom Costello, a linebacker from Dayton.

Andy Robustelli, veteran end who retired at the close of the 1963 season to become a full-time coach, was reactivated and will be a player-coach as he was the past two seasons.

Ed Adamachik, a 235-pound rookie guard from Pittsburgh, was placed on the injured reserve list and will be out for the season. Still on the roster, however, is Jim Moran, the 255-pound rookie defensive end and tackle from Idaho, who was injured in the Chicago All-Star game and has not yet fully recovered.

By today's trades and cuts the Giants reduced their roster to 45.

Braves Score 12-9 Victory Over Phils

Sports POST-CRESCENT
Tuesday, Aug. 25, 1964 Page B7

Wise and Cloninger Duel Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A return to friendly County Stadium—his loyal legion of fans—apparently was all Milwaukee rookie Rico Carty needed to break out of a slump.

The slugging outfielder responded to the cheers of fans in the left field bleachers with five straight hits as the Braves snapped a three-game losing streak and moved back into the first division with a 12-9 victory over the Philadelphia Phils Monday night.

Carty collected his 13th homer, three doubles and a single in sparking the Braves' 16-hit attack on five Phil pitchers and boosting his average from .312 to .323. He scored four runs while batting in the leadoff position.

The victory enabled the Braves to move into a fifth place tie with Pittsburgh. The defeat trimmed the Phils' National League lead to 6½ games over San Francisco and 7 over Cincinnati.

Braves Erupted

Taking the cue from Carty, the Braves erupted. Hank Aaron drove in three runs with his 22nd homer, a single and a sacrifice fly. Eddie Mathews had three singles and two RBI's. Lee Maye, Joe Torre and Gene Oliver contributed two hits apiece.

Milwaukee right-hander Bob Sadowski, backed by the heavy offensive support, managed to survive the distance with a 13-hit effort that evened his record 8-8. Sadowski's chief tormentor was outfielder Wes Covington, who helped the Braves to pennants in 1957 and '58.

Covington drove in six runs with his 10th and 11th homers and a pair of doubles in five trips to the plate. He popped to the shortstop his other time up. Clay Dalrymple, another former Brave, accounted for the Phils' other three runs, hitting a homer with a mate aboard in the sixth and then tripling and scoring on an infield out in the eighth.

The Phils jumped off to a 3-0 lead on an infield hit, a hit batsman on a pitch which first hit the dirt in front of the plate and Covington's homer in the first inning.

The Braves got back two runs

White Sox Muff Chance to Gain on Orioles, Lose, 4-3

Giants Defeat Dodgers, 4-2; Houston Blanks Chicago Cubs

BY MIKE RATHET

Rico Carty of the Milwaukee Braves admits he was a bit over-anxious about breaking into organized baseball.

He signed with just about every club in the Dominican Republic. And with San Francisco. And Cincinnati. And he had his runaway pen in hand, ready to sign with St. Louis, when Milwaukee protested.

But the Braves haven't protested since.

A 24-year-old outfielder making a bid for Rookie of the Year honors in the National League, Carty slammed five straight hits — a homer, three doubles and a single — as the Braves walloped the first-place Philadelphia Phillies 12-9 Monday night.

Carty has hit like that in the Braves' chain ever since they took his ink well away by appealing to the late George Trautman, then the president of the minors.

Didn't Realize

Seems that Carty — "I was just a kid and I didn't realize what I was doing" — had signed with the Estrellas club in the Dominican Republic before wielding his pen for the Giants and Reds. The Estrellas club had sold Carty to the Braves.

Against the Phillies, Carty doubled in the first, singled in the second, homered in the fourth and doubled in the fifth and the seventh, lifting his average from .312 to .323 with the spurt while bringing his home run output to 13 and his runs batted in total to 56.

Carty, who has been overshadowed in his bid for rookie honors by the Phillies' Richie Allen, has no less impressive credentials. Allen, who has played in 30 more games, is hit-

Packers Trade Urban Henry To Pittsburgh

O'Grady, Baker Put On Waivers; Roster Down to 44

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers were down to 44 players today .... 24 on offense and 20 on defense.

The new figure was reached Monday when Coach Vince Lombardi announced the trade of veteran defensive tackle Urban Henry to the Steelers for a draft choice and the waiving of Tom O Grady, Northwestern offensive end, and John Baker, Norfolk state defensive end.

The Packers are actually one under the legal limit of 45,

AHS to Rebuild Its Football Team Around 6 Lettermen

Dillon Begins 22nd Year at Terror Helm With Optimistic Outlook

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Unlike many other coaches of considerable longevity in the game of football, Appleton High School's Ade Dillon hasn't become addicted to the use of the crying towel.

Dillon, who began his 22nd year as Terror head man Monday, refused to take a pessimistic point of view despite having only six lettermen of AHS' 1963 championship team at his disposal.

Though admitting that the Terrors were somewhat shy of last year's experience at this particular time (the '63 AHS team started with 16 lettermen), Dillon said the new unit will be bigger at some positions and refused to cite any real "problem" areas on the team.

No Exhibition Game

Dillon also failed to get upset about the prospect of having to open the season against a Fox River Valley Conference opponent — instead of playing an exhibition game, as in the past. The other conference teams will be starting with the same handicap, he noted.

The only returning lettermen from the team which shared the FRVC title with Sheboygan North (and posted a 7-1 record over-all) are backs Pat Gendron, Mark Tepper and Terry Soley; and lineman Dick Boldt, Jeff Sage and Gary McIntyre.

Boldt and Gendron are the '64 co-captains.

After the opening workout Monday, Dillon wasn't sure how large the roster would grow. The total of candidates had reached nearly 100, and was expected to increase in the next few days. For the time being, all sophomores are practicing with the varsity group.

The search is on in earnest for potential successors to most of last year's title-team regulars. Four all-conference players, for example, will be exceedingly hard to replace. They are quarterback Chuck McKee, tackle Jim Mahlock, defensive and Rick Martinek and defensive back Jim Bertschy. Bertschy also became the regular fullback after the mid-season injury to Gary Hietpas.

Now-graduated Terrors who won honorable mention on the all-FRVC list, include backs Hietpas, Joe Bowers, Ken Kitzinger and "Chip" Taggart; and lineman Tom Callaway, Tom Romenesko, Tom Karrow and Ted Olson.

Vie for QB Job

Vying for the chance to succeed McKee at quarterback are Soley, a junior, and Tim Bauer, a senior. Gendron looms as the likely first-string left halfback. Tepper appears to be the top right halfback possibility, but he is still working himself into condition after a mononucleosis attack this summer and isn't ready to go full speed as yet.

Battling for the regular fullback job are Malcolm McIntyre, Jim Dunsirn and Dick Erickson.

Dillon is currently being assisted by his regular aids, Herdis McCrary, Jr., and Keith Kohlman: as well as by assistant JV Coach Dick Pike; Jon Hohman, University of Wisconsin guard: and Romenesko, of the '63 AHS team.

Two drills will continue on a 2-a-day basis for some time.

Browns Trade Van Raaphorst For Draft Pick

Kicking Chores Left to Veteran Lou 'The Toe' Groza

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were 28 seconds remaining on the clock. Cleveland's Lou Groza calmly lined up his field goal attempt with the Browns trailing the Los Angeles Rams 28-27 in the National Football League championship game.

As Groza approached the ball for the all-important kick, on the sidelines, the Browns' already were heaving their helmets in the air in a sign of victory.

That was 13 years ago, and Groza justified the Browns' confidence, kicking the winning field goal.

Once again, Monday, the Browns expressed their confidence in Groza, now a 40-year-old veteran of 18 professional football seasons, by trading rookie kicking specialist Dick Van Raaphorst to the Dallas Cowboys for an undisclosed draft choice.

There had been speculation that Van Raaphorst, a 10th round draft choice from Ohio State tutored by Groza, would replace his teacher as the Browns extra point and field goal kicker.

"I feel good this year and will play as long as I can," said Groza. "I never work on the principle of leaving.

Sweep Me Out

"Ill probably be around until they sweep me out.'

They may never sweep him out of the record books.

The alltime leading scorer in the NFL, Groza holds eight league records and his seniority as a pro dates back to the original Browns of the now defunct All-American Conference.

Groza will be shooting to hit the 1,000-point mark in his NFL career this season. He has scored 987 points on 176 field

Foxes to Play Doubleheader Against Hawks

Hawkins, Sommer Will Start on Mound Tonight

The Midwest League-leading Fox Cities Foxes face the Waterloo Hawks in a doubleheader tonight at Goodland Field. Monday night's scheduled contest was rained out.

The first game on "Paperland Party Night" will start at 6:30 p.m. Both games are scheduled for seven innings.

The Foxes' league lead dropped to 4½ games as the second place Quad Cities Angels edged Burlington, 5-4, Monday night. The Angels-Bees tilt was called after eight innings because of rain.

Manager Billy DeMars will start Ed Hawkins, owner of a 10-3 record and 2.90 earned run average, in the opener. Tim Sommer is expected to hurl the nightcap. Sommer, 13-1 with a glittering 2.12 ERA, can break the Foxes' club record for most wins in a single season with a victory tonight.

Arne Thorsland, of the 1960 Foxes, and Sommer are tied for the record with 13 wins each.

First round champion Clinton trimmed Decatur, 4-2, Monday. All other games were rained out.

Jack McLaughlin, Race Driver, Dies Of Injuries

BETHLEHAM, Pa. (AP) — Jack McLaughlin, 30, of Thorofare, N.J., a well-known racing driver in the East, died Monday night in St. Luke's Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday in a race at nearby Nazareth Speedway.

McLaughlin was admitted to the hospital with a fractured skull suffered when his race car flipped over on the second turn of the 15th lap of the 25-lap modified sportsman's feature.

He apparently lost control of the car. It flipped into the air, landed on its roof and crashed into the south wall. The car then bounced into the air again, came down on its front end and landed on top of a car driven by Bob Pickell of Flemington, N.J. Pickell was not hurt.

Can Afford Occasional Shelling

Phillies Not Thinking of Panic Button as They Head for Pennant

BY DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Philadelphia Phils' pennant express is on the right track and they can afford an occasional shelling without too much fear of derailment.

The Milwaukee Braves, led by rookie Rico Carty, mauled five Phil pitchers for 16 hits in a 12-9 victory Monday night. However, the Phils aren't even thinking of a panic button as they ride atop the National League standings.

"The good still outweighs the bad," Phil Manager Gene Mauch said philosophically. "We're a lot better off than we were a month ago. Now we just have to keep playing our game, making as few mistakes as possible."

Still 6½ Ahead

Despite the clobbering by the Braves, the Phils are 6½ games in front of San Francisco and seven games ahead of Cincinnati in the flag chase. And time is running out as Philadelphia boasts a 76-48 record and just 38 games left.

"I figured at the start of the season that if we played .600 ball, give or take a percentage point or two, we'd get the job done," Mauch said. "We've done a lot better and that explains our lead. But we haven't clinched anything and we have to keep going to get the job completed."

The Phils finished last in 1960 and '61 before they began to move up under the direction of Mauch and General Manager John Quinn. They finished sixth in 1962 and fourth last year.

"I don't count '60 and '61," Mauch said. "Those were two years in which we went through a disassembling process. It was a job of getting healthy again. We made many changes to get some spirit going. Now we have it with a bunch of fellows who know how to play.

"This isn't just a bunch of players just arriving, although we have many young players. Don't forget, after June 25 last year we played at a clip 21 games over .500. This year we just picked up where we left off last fall."

Two Major Trades

The Phils swung two major deal brought Jim Bunning from Detroit last winter. The other was the recent acquisition of Frank Thomas from the New York Mets. Bunning has won 14 games, while Thomas has been slugging in a fashion that has helped his new mates post a 14-5 record since his arrival."

"The Bunning trade certainly has helped us," Mauch said. "He's won a lot of ball games for us. And Don Demeter, a player I'd take back anytime from Detroit, would have been a platoon player for us at the most. He would have platooned with Wes Covington in left. You just can't keep Covington's bat on the bench."

Covington showed what Mauch meant. He hit his 10th and 11th homers and belted a pair of doubles, driving in six runs in the loss to Milwaukee. However, it wasn't enough to offset five straight hits, including a homer and two doubles by Carty, and other slugging Braves.

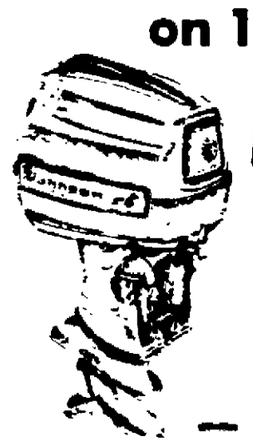

UW Lecturer Leads Yachting Trials

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Amid protests concerning individual positions in the standings, Pete Barrett, a 29-year-old engineering lecturer at the University of Wisconsin, took a big lead Monday in the Olympic Finn Class yachting trials here.

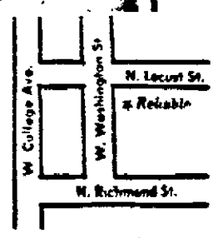

Barrett, with his victory by one minute and 20 seconds over Henry Sprague III of Newport Beach, Calif., went into today's fourth day of competition with 3,994 points.

'Wega Meets Clintonville in Playoff Finale

Koehler Blanks New London on BABA 4-Hitter

Dave Koehler fashioned a 4-hitter as Weyauwega beat New London, 4-0, in the first round of playoffs for the Southern Division berth in Badger Amateur Baseball Association competition.

Clintonville was extended to 10 innings before gaining an 8-6 win over Waupaca. The victors will square off Sunday at Clintonville in the playoff finale.

Weyauwega scored twice in the first on Brian Purchatzke's 2-run single. Jack Wohlt and Purchatzke drove in one run apiece in the seventh Koehler fanned four and walked four. Karl Balbus, despite a 6-hit effort, was the loser.

Louis Kort homered to knot the count in the ninth inning for Clintonville. Leon Westphal's 2-run homer in the 10th put the game on ice.

Kort, who relieved Dave Bohman in the ninth, picked up the win. The loss went to Dick Brown. Brown relieved Gary Potts in the ninth.

Parker Rates Steelers' Chances as Better Than '63 Despite Dial's Loss

Claims Club Unlucky in Not Signing Appleton

BY JACK HAND

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Buddy Parker gives his Pittsburgh Steelers a better chance to win the National Football League's Eastern Conference title this year than he did a year ago despite the trade of Buddy Dial for a drafted phantom who didn't sign.

Parker has spent most of the off-season defending the Dial deal in which the Steelers sent their flanker back to Dallas for the draft rights to Scott Appleton, the All-America tackle from Texas. Appleton finally decided to sign with Houston in the rival American Football League, leaving Parker without a tackle — and without Dial.

"We were just unlucky that we couldn't sign the boy," said Parker. "If I had to do it all over again,, I'd do the same thing but I might not take the same boy. We needed defensive linemen more tha nwe needed Dial."

The hope in Pittsburgh is that Paul Martha, a rookie from Pitt, eventually will take over Dial's job. To ease the pressure on the youngster, Parker has shaken up his receivers.

Ballman Moved

Talented Gary Ballman has been moved to flanker ahead of Martha, leaving John Powers and rookie Jim Kelley, two Notre Dame grads, to fight it out at tight end.

The Steelers came within one game of winning their first championship last fall. A victory over New York on the final day would have given them the title. Instead they lost and dropped all the way to fourth.

"I think we have a better chance to win than I did at this time last year," Parker says. "We don't have too much bench but we should be better if we can stay healthy.

"Last year we ran the ball more than anybody in the league, about 60 per cent of the time. This year I want to see us throw a little more."

If the Steelers do throw more it will be up to Ed Brown, the veteran quarterback whose off-day against the Giants in the 1963 finale proved so costly. Neither Terry Nofsinger nor Bill Nelsen appear ready to take over.

"Ed is a lot better than he was against the Giants," said Parker. "That was the worst game he ever played."

With receivers like Ballman, Martha and Kelly in the line-up, the Steelers may open up with a little more passing. Dial led the club last year with 60 catches.

John Henry Johnson, still a fierce competitor at 34, and Dick Hoak, a strong runner without breakaway speed, are the top ball carriers. Clarence Peaks, acquired from Philadelphia, backs up Johnson and Theron Sapp, another ex-Eagle, is behind Hoak. Parker likes what he has seen of Dave Fleming, a free agent with no college experience.

The experienced front line is made up of center Buzz Nutter, guards Ray Lemek and Mike Sandusky and tackles Charlie Bradshaw and Dan James.

Ben McGee, a No. 4 draftee from Jackson State, has been the surprise of the camp. McGee fits into the starting defensive line at right tackle. Joe Krupa is the other tackle and John Baker and Lou Michaels the ends. Michaels also does the field goal work and Parker thinks his defensive work was affected last year by erratic kicking.

Stautner Retired

The veteran Ernie Stautner has retired to become an assistant coach.

Bob Harrison, ex-Eagle, Myron Pottios and Bob Schmitz probably will be the first string linebackers, with John Reger and Ed Holler, also a punter, behind them.

Will Daniel and Brady Keys will be the corner backs, with Dick Haley at left safety and either Clendon Thomas or Jim Bradshaw at free safety. Parker also likes Al Hall at the corner.

Injuries to Daniel, Keys, Reger and Johnson were costly last season.

Burleigh Grimes' Wife Dies of Heart Attack

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Burleigh Grimes, 56, wife of the Hall of Fame baseball pitcher, died of a heart attack Monday at the family farm four miles southwest of Trenton. She had not been ill prior to the attack.

Her husband, named to the Hall of Fame last year, is a scout for the Baltimore Orioles.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Grimes is survived by a brother, Clifford Martin of New York.

The funeral will be Wednesday, 2 p.m., at the Davis-Blackmore Funeral Home in Trenton. The body will be taken to Clear Lake, Wis., for another service and burial Thursday.

Brooks Robinson Says Hooey To Necessity of 'Holler Guy'

BALTIMORE (AP) — "To be a good baseball player, you don't have to say a word," advises Brook Robinson. The Baltimore Oriole third baseman usually lets his bat speak for him, loud and clear.

But Robinson had something to say Monday in a by-line article in the Baltimore News-American.

"I've heard it said that I should be more of a holler guy and be the team leader. I never heard so much hooey in my life.

"Sports writers have written about holler guys and team leaders for so long I think they believe it themselves. To be a good baseball player, you don't have to say a word.

"That's my opinion and the more I play this game the more convinced I am that I'm right."

Robinson proved the unnecessity of rah-rah stuff last Friday. After losing two out of three to Boston., Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles wondered about holding a locker room pep rally before the four-game series with Chicago.

Robinson nixed the idea.

"We know what we have to do," he told the manager.

Robinson certainly did. He had eight hits in 15 times up, drove in three runs and scored three, including a pair of homers. The Orioles took three of the four games for first place in the American League.

As for himself, Robinson wrote. "I have no goals or records in mind. I just want to be a good player and be able to play on a pennant winner or a world championship team."

And as to that, he reported, "There's a marked change in how we feel. We honestly believe we can win the American League pennant. We're not saying we are going to win it, but we believe in ourselves more than ever before."

Milwaukee '9' Eliminated in Non-Pro Meet

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Milwaukee Falk was eliminated from the National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament Monday in losing 13-12 to Kingsport, Tenn., in a fourth-round game in the double elimination meet.

Milwaukee, which had posted a pair of victories, had 16 hits to 20 for Kingsport. The deciding run scored in the bottom of the ninth on a single by Bob Thorpe, a former Milwaukee Braves' property.

Jim Vande Wettering, Jim Boldt and Paul Schramka homered for Milwaukee.

Milwaukee built up a 10-3 lead after five innings of play, but Kingsport counted three times in the sixth and six times in the seventh.

Carl Basco started on the mound for Falk and was followed by Clair Hickman and Larry Huebner. Huebner, who had pitched a pair of victories for Milwaukee, was charged with the loss.

Ralston, McKinley Cop National Doubles Title

First U. S. Sweep In 10 Years as Women Also Win

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (AP) — Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, the young men who returned the United States to world tennis supremacy, are one-third of the way home toward an impossible goal.

"Mission one-third accomplished," shouted the 22-year-old Ralston after he and McKinley had demolished the English duo of Mike Sangster and Graham Stillwell 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 Monday and captured their third National Doubles Tennis Championship.

"Our goals for the summer," Ralston said, "have been this — win the national doubles and retire the cups. Then Forest Hills."

That's where the quest becomes impossible.

Can't Both Win

"Naturally we can't both win the singles, but we'll both be trying," Ralston said "One of us should win it. One of us should have last year Chuck hurt his back and lost to (eventual winner Rafael) Osuna That wouldn't happen again I had a bad match against Ronnie Barnes I'm playing much better this year

"Then here's the Davis Cup We've got to show that it was no fluke in Australia, by keeping it

"You know what the pattern has been — an American team wins it about every five years and the Aussies come over and take the Cup right back a few months later

"We want to keep it a while."

McKinley, 23, and Ralston, 22-year-old Southern California student, were the key factors in the United States' Davis Cup triumph a year ago and are the principal figures in the defense against the winner of the Sweden-Australia interzone match in Cleveland next month

The ease with which they dispatched the Britons the first English pair to reach the finals since 1903 — indicated they were ready. Neither lost his serve or was in danger of doing so.

It was the third doubles championship for the two—previous victories came in 1961 and 1963—and retired the silver bowl emblematic of the championship. The last duo to win three were Bill Talbert and Gardnar Mulloy, who won their third title in 1946.

Their doubles triumph, engineered in just 50 minutes, completed a sweep of the titles for the United States and marked the first time in 10 years it had been accomplished.

The sweep was set up when the California duo of Billie Jean Moffitt, of Long Beach and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego upset top-seeded Australians Margaret Smith and Lesley Turner 2-6, 6-2, 6-4 for the women's title.

The victory snapped a string of 48 match triumphs for the Australians and reversed the outcome of the Wimbledon finals when the Australians beat the California girls 7-5, 6-2

"We knew we could beat them," Billie Jean said "I missed a volley on a big point at Wimbledon that lost the match and I wanted to make up for it."

Paul Coppo hurled Seymour into sole possession of first place in the Dairyland Baseball League Sunday as he struck out 13 batters and allowed only four hits as Seymour tipped Garsow, 5-2

In other games, Navarino downed Black Creek, 7-1 and Bonduel edged Freedom, 7-6 Two other games, Nichols at Cecil and Hofa Park at Landstad, were postponed because of wet grounds

Seymour scored all five of its runs in the fourth inning on a combination of a 2-base error, a walk, passed ball and singles by Coppo, Lynn Stritzel and Ron Decker

Bonduel kept its second round title hopes alive by coming from behind with a pair of runs in the eighth inning to edge the Freedom Mets

Freedom snapped a 5-5 tie by scoring in the last of the seventh, but Bonduel rallied Leon Drage started for Bonduel, but Emery Hull was the winner in relief Jim Brockman started for the Mets and Ron Sprister took the loss in relief

Clayton School had two of Freedom's four hits both singles Wudtke had a double and two singles for Bonduel

Howie Vanden Elsen fashioned a 6-hitter, and Monty and Arlin Pues did the heavy hitting in Navarino's win over Black Creek Monty banged out two doubles and a single while Arlin had a homer and double and scored three times Don Kettner was the losing hurler

3 Advance to Semi-Finals in BDM Tourney

Defending Titlist Lindberg Reaches Quarter-Finals

R. A. (Bob) Martin, Don Strutz and Jeff Martin have advanced to the semi-finals of the Butte des Morts Golf Club championship tournament.

Defending champion John Lindberg and Jim Rudolf meet for the fourth semi-final berth. The victor meets Bob Martin. Strutz duels Jeff Martin in the semis.

Bob Martin swept past Tom Frawley, 4 and 3 in the first round. Martin followed with a quarter-final win over Tom Hayes, 3 and 1. Hayes ousted Harvey Lhost in the opening round, 3 and 1.

Strutz advanced with two 1-up wins over Rick Martinek (first round) and John Hayes in the quarter-finals. Hayes had outlasted Dan Steinberg Jr. in the first round. The pair battled 22 holes before Hayes emerged with a 1-up victory.

Beats Lieber, Jabas

Jeff Martin rolled to a 6 and 4 win over Otto Lieber in first round action. Jeff followed it up with a 3 and 2 win over Don Jabas. Jabas defeated Bill Schleisner, 1-up, in the first round.

Lindberg advanced to the quarters with a 3 and 2 win over Tom Timmers. Rudolf eliminated Jim Ginter, 5 and 4.

Otto Lieber gained a berth in the finals of the Senior Championship flight with a 5 and 4 win over Karl Baldwin. Lieber will meet the winner of the Dan Steinberg Jr.-Russ Berggren match for the title.

The highlight of Flight activity was produced by Dick Kewley. Kewley carded his lowest round in four years (a 78) in his 3 and 2 win over Gene Garvey.

Berra Hits Into Twin Killing; Players Toss Harmonicas Out

BY DICK COUCH

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've been up two times this season and made four outs."

Yogi Berra should have been a most happy fella. His Yankees had just struck a blow for the Establishment by beating the upstart Mets 6-4 in the 21st Mayor's Trophy exhibition at jam-packed Shea Stadium.

But old hitters never forget and manager Berra was lamenting the failure of pinch hitter Berra Monday night in the annual benefit game for New York sandlotters.

"First, I hit into a double play against the Old Timers, then I hit into another double play against the Mets." Yogi ruefully explained.

Only Active Role

Before Monday's plate appearance, Berra's only active role this season was the DP grounder he hit in the Yankees' Old Timers fete Aug. 8. He came up in the seventh inning against Met reliever Bill Wakefield with runners on first and second.

The crowd of 55,396, second largest in the short history of the Mets' glittering new plant, gave Yogi an ovation. The Met bench offered him a playful reminder of last week's harmonica incident by tossing one out of the dugout. They had done the same when Phil Linz batted for the first time, in the sixth.

Berra ignored the harmonica, fouled off a couple of pitches and then bounced smartly to shortstop Roy McMillan, who stepped on second and fired to first, nipping the panting pilot by a mere six steps.

When the Mets came to bat in the bottom of the inning, the New Breed implored 74-year-old Casey Stengel to do some hitting of his own. But Casey was too busy pulling strings in an all-out effort to continue the Met mastery of his former employers.

which must be reached today. The next mandatory cut is 43 — on Sept. 3, and the final is 40 on Sept. 8.

Henry was a gift of the Rams, who gave up on him because of a chronic shoulder injury. Dr. Jim Nellen, Packer team physician, outfitted Urban in a sponge collar and Henry had no trouble last year in backing up the defense line. Henry likely will step into a starting job with the Steelers.

Line Appears Set

The departure of Henry leaves the defensive line with six players — the starting four of Willie Davis, Dave Hanner, Henry Jordan and sophomore Lionel Aldridge, who beat out Urban last year, and replacements Ron Kostelnik and rookie Lloyd Voss.

Barring any future transactions the defensive line would appear set ... and in good hands.

The Bays have six linebackers and eight defensive backs. The linebacker group includes two rookies — Gene Breen and Tommy Crutcher, as well as Dan Currie, Ray Nitschke, Dave Robinson and Lee Roy Caffey.

Three rookies are among the eight defense backs — Doug Hart, who was on the cab team last year, Tom Brown and Duke Carlisle. Punter Jerry Norton has joined those three to form a second foursome behind Herb Adderley, Jess Whittenton, Hank Gremminger and Willie Wood.

In all the Packers have 12 rookies left and they are split evenly between offense and defense.

Offensively, the Packers have nine interior linemen, six pass receivers, six running backs and three quarterbacks.

Three rookies are among the interior stalwarts—tackles Steve Wright, who plays behind Forrest Gregg, and John McDowell, behind Norm Masters. The third, Ken Bowman, backs up Bob Skoronski at center. Sophomore Dan Grimm works behind guards Jerry Kramer and Fuzzy Thurston.

Bob Long is the only rookie among the receivers. He has been playing behind Max McGee at left end. The others are Ron Kramer, Boyd Dowler, Mary Fleming and Bob Jeter.

In the department of running back, Dwain Bean is the lone rookie. He's toiling with Jim Taylor, Paul Hornung, Elijah Pitts, Tom Moore and Frank Mestnik.

The running backs have another prospect in Dennis Claridge but the Nebraska prospect has been concentrating more on QB. Lombardi is impressed with Claridge's throwing and feels he has a good future as a QB.

Claridge can break in gradually under Bart Starr and Zeke Bratkowski, who have a total of 18 years experience (nine each).

The Packers continued preparations today for their next assignment — the Cowboys in Dallas Saturday night.

O'Grady stopped in the dressing room after practice Monday and bid each player goodbye.

The likable red head said "I'm not giving up now. I'll make it somewhere." He had hoped to be claimed by some club in the National League. If not claimed, O'Grady said he'll try the American League.

Twins Down White Sox, 4-3; Giants Win

ting .314 with 23 homers and 66 RBI.

The loss trimmed the Phillies' lead to 6½ games over the San Francisco Giants, who broke a tie for second place with Cincinnati by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2. In other NL action, St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 5-1 and Houston blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

Lost Opportunity

The Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, lost an opportunity to gain ground on American League leading Baltimore, falling two games behind the Orioles after a 4-3 loss to Minnesota in the only game on the American League schedule.

The Giants put it away against the Dodgers in the first inning with a four-run outburst helped along by Tommy Davis' error on a Willie Mays liner. That produced one run, a grounder by Orlando Cepeda drove in the second and Jim Hart finished things up with a two-run homer.

The Dodgers scored their only runs in the first on a homer by Willie Davis, then were shut out the rest of the way by Jim Duffalo. Duffalo, who hadn't pitched a complete game since his first major league start in 1961, allowed only six hits.

Muffed Chances

The Twins scored twice in the second inning against the White Sox with the aid of an error by Al Weis, and added two more in the third on singles by Rich Rollins, Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles. Then they held on as the White Sox muffed their opportunities.

The White Sox had the potential tying runs on in the sixth, but Jim Kaat picked Don Buford off first to end the inning. Chicago then closed to within one run in the eighth, but reliever Al Worthington got Moose Skowron and Buford on short flies with the tying run on third.

Bill White hit a two-run homer for the Cardinals in the eighth and Ken Boyer followed with another homer, taking the pressure off Bob Gibson. Gibson was working on a 2-1 lead at that point and wound up with a six-hitter while striking out 12.

Pitcher Bob Bruce, who allowed only two hits, got the Colts winning rally started in the eighth inning with a single off Lou Burdette. Walt Bond's single and an error on the play by Billy Williams let both runs score. Hal Woodeshick pitched the ninth for Houston after Bruce hurt his back.

Idaho, Iowa 9's Post Victories In Legion Meet

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Lewiston, Idaho and Waterloo, Iowa won first round games Monday as the American Legion baseball world series opened in Little Rock.

John Hamilton held Manchester, N.H., to three hits as Lewiston picked up a 3-0 victory in the first game. Waterloo used some confusing base running to defeat New Orleans 3-2 in the night game.

Richard Folkers picked up his 18th victory of the year for Waterloo. The Iowa team scored the winning run in the bottom of the eighth when Roger Thompson singled to left with runners on first and second.

Feature Race at Shiocton Won By Lyle Schultz

SHIOCTON — Appleton's Lyle Schultz won the feature race at the Shiocton Speedway Sunday, ahead of Navarino's Jerry Diemel and New London's Leonard Bartman.

All But 10 of Johnson Bills Are Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress now has sent to President Johnson all but 10 of his "must" bills and he seems likely to get at least five more of them before the 1964 session ends.

Johnson laid out for the legislators on June 23 a list of 30 measures on which action remained to be completed.

The 20th out of this list, a $287 6-million measure inaugurating a broad nurses' training program, was cleared for the White House Friday just before the Senate and House quit for a 10-day recess

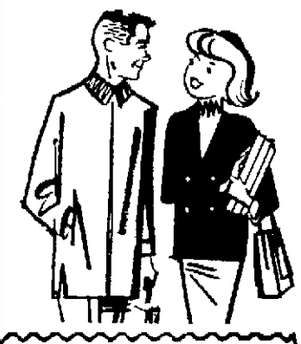

Democratic congressional leaders, working with a list of 51 bills they say includes all of Johnson's major proposals this year, point out that 41 of these now have been enacted or are awaiting signature.

All of the remaining 10 are alive and the leaders plan to push hard for them when the session reconvenes Aug. 31 after the Democratic National Convention.

Your Money's Worth

Trend Toward Shorter Workweek Marches on

BY SYLVIA PORTER

As an objective reporter on the bread-and-butter front, I again dutifully report that if you're an average American worker in 1964, you are enjoying more paid holidays, the longest paid vacation and the shortest basic workweek in our country's history.

Porter

What's more, the trend is still powerfully and relentlessly in the direction of increasing your leisure time. Last week, for instance, in their first proposals to the United Auto Workers, the auto companies offered to add Good Friday to the six full paid holidays and the two paid half-holidays autoworkers now get. The auto companies also offered to give workers with 25 or more years seniority four weeks' vacation pay instead of three weeks and to liberalize most other vacation schedules.

So it goes throughout our economy. If you're a typical employee your leisure time is being inexorably expanded by labor union pressures, by the mounting efficiency of our productive machinery and the rising skill of our work force, by federal and state laws.

Objective Observer

However, as an objective observer of myself and others like me, I hereby submit that as far as we're concerned, these glittering statistics about leisure time are the bunk.

We work on traditional holidays as well as normal workdays. We snatch vacations when we can, often do so much preparatory work before leaving that outsiders aren't even aware we're not in the office as usual. As for the eight-hour day, five-day week, that's a laugh. Stretch that 40-hour week to 60 or 70 or even more hours and you will have a more accurate picture of the way we live.

In a recent report the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York zeroed in on this aspect of our life. "Estimates are that 40 per cent of all managers, officials and proprietors work more than 48 hours a week, as against only 20 per cent for the total employed labor force," said the Chase. "Professional and technical persons put in unusually long workweeks too."

Inspired by this report, I have since kept a Sylvia Porter version of Samuel Pepys' Diary. The revelations are horrendous—yet I suspect that they are typical of many more millions of us in the profession, managerial positions and self-employed occupations than you think.

New Year's

Traditional holidays. To date this year, I've had one — New Year's Day. I lost Memorial Day and Independence Day because they fell on a Saturday and I'm committed to writing a column five days a week. I'm hoping to get Labor Day (Monday), Thanksgiving (Thursday) and Christmas (Friday)—giving me a measly total of four traditional holidays in 1964. At that, I'm better off than many family physicians I know.

Vacation. While I've been out of town, I haven't missed a single scheduled column, have had no official vacation so far in 1964.

Workweek. My diary shows that every weekday last week, I was at work before 9 a.m., studying the papers and magazines I must read for the column. On two days, I had a one hour or so lunch with men to exchange information—hardly social. On one, I lunched alone while reading a trade paper. On the remaining two, I had a work lunch with my secretary. On two days, I left the typewriter at around 7 p.m., on one, I quit at 4 p.m. on two others, the workday fuzzed into evening because I had cocktails and early dinner with information sources. On Saturday and Sunday, I spent a total of eight hours, going over accumulated papers and gathering facts for this week's columns. It added up to a minimum of a 60-hour-plus workweek—and no fooling.

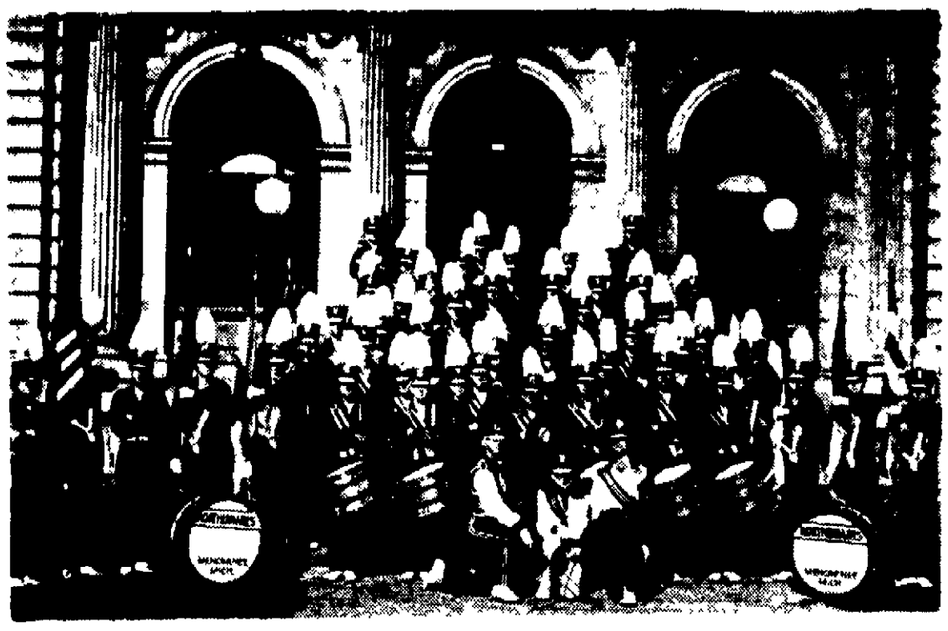

Work Is Play

Am I sorry for me? Of course not! As the Chase points out, I'm one of the fortunate ones to whom work is play and play is work.

But the fundamental and generally ignored point is that in our country, we are making a mockery of the age-old theories about the privileged, higher income, higher education, leisure classes.

It is the workingman who is getting the privilege of ever-expanding leisure time via our laws, unions and automation. Millions of us remain imprisoned in our own "executive suites" because to us, there is no clear-cut mark between time-on and time-off.

Johnson Visit Puts Hex on Tobacco Farmer

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Nash County tenant farmer William Marlow has traded his tobacco crop for a paint brush because of crackpot letters and snubs by neighbors since President Johnson visited his family last spring.

Marlow has taken a job with a painter and his wife has gone to work in a manufacturing plant. He said he would move his family from the farm into Rocky Mount later this year.

Tobacco Crop

Marlow's landlord, Ervin J. Stone, said Marlow told him last Tuesday he was giving up his nine-acre tobacco crop with much of it unharvested. Stone quoted Marlow as saying farm life had been unbearable since the President's visit.

The President came to Marlow's farm on a tour of sections which might be aided by the administration's antipoverty bill.

The visit was widely publicized and came back into focus about a month later when Marlow said in an interview that he would clear more profit from his crop than the President had been led to believe.

Marlow, 39, said a flood of crackpot letters had arrived since the President's visit. He said some neighbors enraged the family by calling them "the poorest folks in the world."

To make matters worse, Marlow fell from a ladder on the first day of his new job and aggravated a back injury which disabled him in 1962. His oldest son, Billy, 19, is filling in until Marlow recovers.

Janesville UAW Sanctions Strike

JANESVILLE (AP) — Some 1,500 members of two United Auto Workers Union locals in Janesville voted Sunday to support nationwide strike, if necessary, against the major auto makers to obtain contract demands.

The locals involved are 121 and 95, representing workers at a Chevrolet assembly plant and a Fisher Body facility.

The votes were reported as near unanimous, although actual results were not revealed.

State Department Seeks Experts on Foreign Languages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher pay and good assignments are twin lures being offered by the State Department to boost the supply of U.S. diplomats who can speak one of 29 difficult languages.

The higher pay may be up to $1,000 additional a year. The promise of good assignments could lead to an ambassadorship.

The incentive program is aimed at getting 1,000 officers — one fourth of the U.S. diplomatic corps — equipped with one of the native languages of remote countries.

Only about 600 U.S. career diplomats now meet this qualification.

The department has run into difficulty with the languages which are tough for Americans to learn and which are spoken only in limited areas. The most wanted at present are Hebrew, Bengali, Burmese, Korean, Nepali, Sinhala, Tamil and Vietnamese.

Area Girls Awarded Thilco Nursing Scholarship Grants

KAUKAUNA—Two area girls have received three-year nursing scholarships from the Thilco Foundation, part of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company Aid To Education Program.

Ronell Schubring, Kaukauna, and Pamela Kees, Menasha, have been awarded the scholarships, which provide $500 per annum for three years.

Miss Schubring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Schubring, 913 Desnoyer St., Kaukauna, will attend Bellin Memorial School of Nursing, Green Bay.

A June graduate of Kaukauna High School, she was active in the senior band for four years, participated in forensics in her junior and senior years and has been active in the Methodist Youth Fellowship as well as being a member of the church choir.

Miss Kees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert N. Kees, route 1, Menasha, is a June graduate of St. Mary High School, Menasha, and will attend Marion College, Division of Nursing, Fond du Lac.

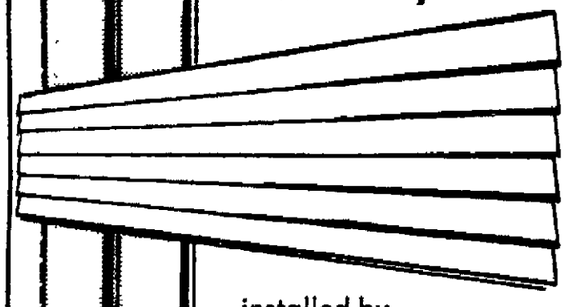

National Honor Society

She is a National Honor Society member, was active in the Sodality and Catholic Students' Mission Crusade for four years, a member of the Advanced Science Club and Future Nurses Club, first place winner in the Thorp Finance esay contest, second in the Elks Constitution contest and Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Miss Kees has also been awarded the Twelfth District Nursing scholarship and the 40 et 8 Voiture scholarship, both for nursing students.

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh gave up the title of president and his dictatorial powers today under the angry demands of students and Buddhists for an end to military rule. He was expected to stay on, however, as the actual chief of the U.S.-backed government.

The 37-year-old strong man may resume the premiership he dropped after the revolutionary military council elected him to the presidency 10 days ago. Or he might have himself re-elected president of a revamped regime. He retains command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Agrees to Election

Jubilant student leaders told The Associated Press that Khanh had agreed to hold a new election for chief of state and that the military council would then be dissolved.

Student leader Ton Thah Tue said he had been in telephone contact with Khanh at the presidential office building, and Khanh said he was willing to:

—Revoke the charter he promulgated Aug. 16 that gave him sweeping powers.

—Have the military council hold a new election for the chief of state — conceivably re-electing Khanh.

—Dissolve the council after the election, and set up some new form of government.

An aide in Khanh's office said that this version was essentially correct. It does not mean, the aide said, that Khanh has resigned his power as chief of Viet Nam.

Deputy's Statement

The deputy premier for economy, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, told The Associated Press that the new move means Khanh no longer is either president or premier. The military revolutionary council will be called into an urgent session tonight, he said, to elect a new chief.

Khanh probably will be re-

Delegates Set to Back Platform

BY JOHN CHADWICK

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A middle-road platform that largely reflects President Johnson's desire not to rock the boat goes before the Democratic National Convention tonight. Approval is expected, with no floor fight in prospect over any of the planks.

Members of the platform committee finished their work late Monday, turning out a document that for the most part affirms present administration policies and promises to improve and expand them rather than break new ground.

The chairman, House Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert of Oklahoma, said that although there were some differences within the committee over specific planks, the final action on the platform was unanimous.

Stresses Unity

"We go united to the convention, and I expect it to accept our recommendations without any floor fight he told newsmen

"We condemn extremism, whether from the right or left, including the extreme tactics of such organizations as the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society," the Democratic platform says.

As for nuclear weapons, it declares that control over their use must continue to rest solely in the hands of the President.

On the divisive civil rights issue, the Democrats wrote a plank that the Southerners on the platform committee said they could go along with and that one of them, Pierre Pelham of Alabama, called "something of a victory for the South."

Civil Rights Enforcement

It declares that "the Civil Rights Act of 1964 deserves and requires full observance by every American and fair, effective enforcement if there is any default."

Albert said this means that if the comprehensive antidiscrimi-

BY JACK BELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson was reported hesitating today over the possible choice of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate because of Southern opposition.

The Democratic National Convention, heading into its second formal session with the issue of seating a Mississippi delegation unsolved, still had no word from its White House headquarters about the President's preference for a vice-presidential nominee.

Minnesota's Humphrey, who was everywhere doing everything he could to prevent any incident that would mar the unity that Johnson wanted achieved, was the consensus choice by leading Democrats for the place But individually and collectively they conceded they don't have an inkling of Johnson's thinking.

Opposition Indicated

Some dissent to the choice of Humphrey had been communicated to Johnson, lending credence to reports that he still had not made up his mind despite the relatively late hour.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, one of those selected by President Johnson to put his name in nomination, said today he thinks there may be some Southern opposition to Humphrey but doesn't believe it is serious.

Connally said he had heard a rumor—and he defined it only as a rumor—that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, expected to arrive at the convention today, might place Humphrey's name in nomination if the President chooses the Minnesota senator as his running mate.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, on whom Johnson has been leaning heavily in his efforts to leaning heavily in his efforts to salvage part of the South in the November election, said in an interview he had told Johnson at a White House conference Saturday he thought Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy might be a better choice from the South's standpoint.

McCarthy Near Top

"Understand me," Sanders said, "I raised no objections to Sen. Humphrey. But I said that I believed McCarthy was not as well known and his views were not as well known in the South and that he might be a better candidate."

McCarthy, a Roman Catholic, has been regarded as one of the

Promises to Devote All His Talents To Empire State

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate from New York, a nomination considered already in his pocket.

Kennedy formally began his first campaign for elective office at the side of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the state's No. 1 Democrat.

Ready to Quit Cabinet

Kennedy met head on the issue of his residence:

"I shall devote all my effort and whatever talents I possess to the State of New York. This I pledge."

If New York Democrats nominate him next Tuesday, Kennedy said, "I shall resign from the Cabinet to campaign for election."

Kennedy seeks the seat occupied by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican who has announced for re-election. Clare Boothe Luce has said she is seeking the Conservative party nomination for the same job.

The attorney general's wife, Ethel, was with him as he announced.

"All that President Kennedy stood for and all that President Johnson is trying to accomplish, all the progress that has been made, is threatened by a new and dangerous Republican assault," the attorney general said.

"No one associated with President Kennedy and with President Johnson—no one committed to participating in public life—can sit on the sidelines with so much at stake."

Storm Hits Parts Of Cuba, Jamaica

BY THEODORE A. EDIGER

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Gale force winds raked Cuba's Oriente Province and northern Jamaica today as Hurricane Cleo churned through the strait separating the two islands.

Seas raged and heavy surf battered shipping and coastal installations along Jamaica's north coast and Cuba's southeastern coast.

Shifts Northward

The Jamaican Weather Office said reconnaissance planes reported the hurricane veered northward during the night and appeared headed more directly toward Cuba. Extent of the northward turn would not be known until additional observations were made by hurricane hunter aircraft.

Forecasters said Cleo appeared headed toward Oriente Province, which suffered a severe blow last October from Hurricane Flora.

Residents were evacuating the southern coast of Cuba's Oriente Province, Havana radio said, and the government was preparing to evacuate parts of neighboring Camaguey Province.

Fifty physicians and 50 nurses left Havana Monday night to work with emergency teams previously established in Camaguey, the broadcast said.

At 8 a.m... EST, the hurricane was centered about 35 miles south of Cuba

The Miami, Fla., Weather Bureau said peak winds were about 110 miles per hour near the center and the storm was on a west-northwest course at 15 miles per hour.

Radar at the U.S. Navy base, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and reconnaissance planes were keeping watch on the hurricane.

Wisconsin Democrats Will Attempt Grand Strategy

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY—The grand strategy of the Democrats, in Wisconsin terms, will attempt to exploit a curious reversal of the usual positions of the political parties there.

The peace issue will be central to the party's drive for votes, and in that strategical plan the Democrats of Wisconsin hope to exploit an appeal which the Republicans used against them many times in the past

Sen. Barry Goldwater will be described as a man who would have a nervous finger on the nuclear trigger, President Johnson as a masterful leader of calm determination and consummate skill in piloting the nation in a troubled and dangerous world

Historical Irony

Older Wisconsin Democrats here are aware of the historical irony in the situation When they were launching their own careers only a few years ago, such men as Sen Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire and Gov. Reynolds fruitlessly sought votes in many Wisconsin districts where the Republican party and its leaders profited from the traditional popular fear of foreign wars

Wisconsin then was known throughout the land as "isolationist", in the language of those times.

Whether that tag still applies is doubtful, but it is obvious here that the Democrats feel they can describe Sen Goldwater as trigger happy and exploit the hope for peace by concentrating on his insistence upon

India Arrests 2,500 Reds as Food Rioters

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—More than 2,500 Communists protesting against food shortages and rising prices have been jailed in India's biggest mass political arrest since independence.

Sixteen hundred demonstrators were arrested Monday on the first day of a four-day nationwise protest, a government spokesman said today. This was the greatest number of political arrests in one day since Gandhi's civil disobedience movement for freedom 20 years ago.

About 1,000 Communist agitators had been taken into custody by midday today as picketing, street marches and rallies continued across India.

The spokesman said the Communist demonstrations still were "by and large peaceful," but a few incidents were reported. Forty Communists were injured in a clash Monday with police at Madhubani near the Nepal border.

Fireworks Blast In Mexico Takes At Least 42 Lives

TOLUCA, Mexico (AP) — At least 42 persons were killed when a pile of fireworks exploded during a religious celebration near here Monday. Another 33 were injured.

Rescue workers, digging through debris in the village of Atlatlahuca in central Mexico, said the toll of dead and injured might go higher.

The fireworks exploded near several tanks of inflammable gas. Authorities said they had not determined what set off the fireworks.

9 Hurt in Saigon Bomb Explosion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A terrorist bomb shattered parts of two floors at Saigon's Caravelle Hotel today, injuring at least nine persons, four of them Americans

The blast was centered in a room rented Monday night by a Vietnamese man now being sought by police, a hotel source said

The Americans injured were identified as Mr and Mrs Dan Moran of San Francisco, Mrs Hugh G Glassford, wife of a National Broadcasting Co correspondent, and an unidentified U S serviceman All had minor injuries caused by flying glass and other debris

A secretary of the New Zealand Embassy, and a French businessman were among the injured Several hotel employes also were reported hurt

Chauffeurs Dropped From Queen's Service Tell of Tough Jobs

LONDON (AP)—Two chauffeurs fired by Queen Elizabeth II's royal household complained today they had been treated like peasants

One of the drivers, Alex Beard, 28, commented: "Working for the queen is no bed of roses. In fact, you can call it hell."

"It was car washing, driving royalty, driving guests, secretaries and equerries, fetching groceries, collecting laundry and more car washing from nearly sunup to sundown," said the other, Sidney Baker, also 28

A royal household spokesman said the chauffers were fired because they deserted their jobs at Balmoral, the queen's retreat in Scotland.

15 Persons Perish in Philippines Tragedy

All victims—seven children, seven women and a man—reportedly were trapped in a three-story building where the fire began

Negroes, Whites Clash in Georgia

MONROE, Ga. (AP) — Gunfire between a crowd of Negroes and several white persons broke out Monday night. Four Negroes were treated for shotgun wounds and police said the crowd later wrecked a service station operated by a white man.

Police Chief Jack Morris said a crowd of several hundred Negroes had jeered customers at the service station for nearly two hours.

Morris said they shouted, "Don't buy from that white man."

The station was damaged shortly before 3 a.m. today when several white men at the station departed, Morris said.

A car driven by Mrs Tommy Cooper, wife of an operator of the station, was fired into as she drove into the station, Morris said

U. S. Nuclear Subs To Visit Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — U S nuclear-powered submarines this year will be allowed to make their first visit to Japan, Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina said today

The United States has repeatedly pressed the Japanese for docking privileges for the subs, but the government has deferred a decision, saying it wanted to study safety factors

Leftists have charged that the United States wants to use the port calls to introduce nuclear weapons into Japan.

Convention Caucus

Wisconsin Will Support Seating Portion of Freedom Delegation

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

ATLANTIC CITY — The Wisconsin delegation to the National Democratic Convention voted today to support the seating of "at least a portion of the Mississippi Freedom Delegation" if any Democrats from that state are seated as delegates and to support a convention roll call tonight if one becomes necessary on the issue

With only one negative vote, the Wisconsin delegation took the action after hearing from Rep Edith Green, Oregon, sponsor of a compromise pending before the credentials committee Before the vote, an effort to table the Wisconsin action as premature, lost overwhelmingly on a show of hands

The caucus also adopted a resolution saying Wisconsin would be pleased if President Johnson picks Minnesota Senator Hubert Humphrey to be his vice presidental running mate.

Wisconsin Rep. Robert Kastenmeier is supporting Rep. Green on her compromise in the credentials committee and is one of at least 11 members ready to bring a minority report. Miss Elizabeth Hawkes, Washburn, Wisconsin's other credential committee member, was the sole opponent on a voice vote to the action of today's caucus

The Green proposal would seat any member of either the regular or freedom Mississippi delegations who pledge to support the national ticket and divide the state's 26 convention votes in proportionment to the members from each delegation.

Rep. Green told the Wisconsin caucus that the Fredeom Democrats deserve voting credentials as a matter of law, morality and practical politics to help elect Pres. Johnson this fall.

"People tried to register to vote and they have been killed. There have been bombings and threats. These are facts. This is not emotion," she said.

Moral Issue

Fredom Democrats tried "everything possible within the laws of Mississippi to organize as a party loyal to the national organization," she said.

"A party that will murder, bomb, and beat is the kind of party we are going to say is legal? I suppose in the days of Hitler everything he did was legal," she said.

Rep Green warned that denying Freedom Democrats any seats would lead "to the ideological walk-out of hundreds of thousands of liberals" in the fall election, possible demon-

New Hospital Administrator Begins Duties

Former Official of Honduras Mission Comes to Waupaca

WAUPACA — A West Virginia native who spent almost five years as administrator of a hospital in Central America assumed duties as administrator of Riverside Community Memorial Hospital here Monday.

F. D. Fowler, 47, succeeds Gerald Almond who will leave for a similar post at Doctors' Hospital, Des Moines, Iowa, next week.

Fowler is coming here from Midland, Tex., where he was assistant administrator of the 151-bed Midland Memorial Hospital. Prior to that he served as administrator of Hospital Evangelicos, Honduras.

Mission Hospital

In Honduras, Fowler said, he was in charge of all government-hospital contacts and all importation. Fowler said he went to the mission hospital from work as purchasing agent with an aircraft plants and a food corporation.

During World War II Fowler served as a pharmacist's mate in the Navy Reserve. He also attended Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio.

He will bring his family to Waupaca soon he said. He is married and has two sons in college. A third will be a junior at Waupaca High School this year.

Children Sent Back to Home

Mother Claimed Inability to Support Two Youngsters

Two children left with Outagamie County welfare workers two weeks ago when their mother claimed she could no longer support them, are back home.

Randall Lee, 10, and Ola Gail Rueden, 9, both children of Mrs. Adella Rueden, route 1, West DePere, were found to be neglected. A juvenile court hearing was held last week before Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Judge Dohr said the woman was "sorry" she had left the children Aug. 13. Judge Dohr has placed the children under supervision of the county welfare department for one year. Mrs. Rueden was ordered to pay to the county the costs of caring for the children in a foster home, and the children were returned to her.

Support Payments

Mrs. Rueden, who has been receiving $62.25 per month for support of her children, is a widow. She reportedly sold a portion of her 100 acre farm in West DePere and was in dispute with the welfare department about the disposition of the money received from the sale.

She has told welfare workers the money was given to her aged parents in Chicago who aided her since her husband died in 1962.

Baha'i World Faith Sponsoring 3-Day Institute in Appleton

The institute, open to the public, will be conducted by Mrs. Terah Cowart - Smith, Greensboro, N. C.

Members of Baha'i World Faith sponsored their first public meeting Saturday, when a youth panel from California presented a discussion of "The Dawn of the New Day." Shinji Yamamoto, Madison, was chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. Arden Lee, 717 N. Rankin St., was hostess.

Freedom Plans to Begin Work On New School in Late Fall

$650,000 Building Will Contain Elementary, Junior High Classes

FREEDOM — Construction of a 25-classroom elementary and junior high school building for Freedom Joint School District 3 is expected to start late this fall, Supt. of Schools Henry Patch said today.

The building — scheduled to be ready by September, 1965 — will help reduce overcrowded conditions in the present high school here and will mean the closing of eight existing one-room schools now operated by the district.

Also resulting from the proposed $650,000 building program will be the start of kindergarten classes and the introduction of a separate junior high school operation in the district.

Patch also said the district, for the first time, will apply for federal funds to assist in paying costs of science, mathematics and related equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

Special Education

The district — when the school is complete — also will offer a special education class for the first time, Patch said.

Architect for the two-story structure is Robert W. Surplice, Green Bay. The building will be constructed about 1¼-miles south of here on Outagamie County Trunk E just west of County Trunk N on the north side of the road.

Included in the building will be a cafeteria and a gymasium. Also to be provided is a central office and library.

Capacity of the proposed school will be 750 students. Presently, the district has 350 students in its high school in the 9th through 12th grades and 250 students spread around in the one-room schools in grades one through eight.

Ninth grade classes presently taught in the high school will be moved to the proposed school when it is completed.

Additional Students

At least 220 additional students will be enrolled in the district next fall, Patch said. About 120 children will be in the two kindergarten classes the superintendent said.

Spokesmen for three of five parochial schools in the district also have told Patch they will turn away at least 10 per cent of their enrollments — a total of about 100 — next fall. These students apparently will attend the new public school.

The 1964 student population census of children in the district showed there were more than 2,000 youths under age 20 in the area.

More Teachers

Patch said he expected an increase in the teaching staff, but he did not know yet how much or in what departments.

A $650,000 bond issue to finance construction and equipment of the proposed school was approved by district voters at an adjourned session of the annual meeting this month.

Youth Pays $25 Fine After Involvement in Clintonville Accident

CLINTONVILLE — Robert J. Finger, 19, route 2, New London, paid $25 on a charge of failure to have a vehicle under control after signing a stipulation of guilt following his arrest by the Clintonville police.

He was involved in an accident at 3:25 p.m. Saturday at Eighth and S. Main streets. A car driven by Lloyd Henry, 42, Milwaukee, going north on Main, slowed to make a left turn onto Eighth, and was struck in the rear by the car driven by Finger, police said. Mrs. James Samz, Portage, a passenger in Finger's car, received a bump on the head.

Damage to the Henry car was estimated at $90, and to the Finger car at $150.

St. Pius Charter First Granted in State Region

Members of St. Pius X Catholic Church have been granted a charter to operate their own credit union, the first Catholic credit union in the Fox Valley area.

Officers chosen include Jerome Hermsen, president; Chester Meiers, vice president; Clement Sullivan, secretary; Harry Arnoldussen, treasurer, and William Fervoy, director at large.

Members of the parish will use the new organization for saving and loaning privileges.

Harold Christianson, James McInness and James Hickinbotham form a committee which will consider applications for loans.

Life insurance coverage will be provided to all eligible borrowers equal to the balance of the loan outstanding. Savings of eligible members will earn life insurance equal to the amount saved up to $1,000.

Annual examinations will be held by representatives of the State Banking Department and a blanket surety bond on all officials with coverage up to $1,000,000 will be taken out.

The new union belongs to the Wisconsin Credit Union League, which is in turn associated with the Credit Union National Association.

More than 20 Catholic credit unions operate in Wisconsin, with assets of more than $5,000,000 and 12,000 members.

K-C Ranked 4th Largest Paper Firm

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. today was rated by Fortune Magazine as the fourth largest producer of paper out of a top 30 in the United States. American Can Co. of which Marathon is a division, was ranked No. 17.

Fortune researcher's task was to ferret out the paper-production tonnage, or make careful estimates, for a listing of the top 30 companies in the industry.

Kimberly - Clark production was estimated at 1,382,420 tons and American Can listed at 520,000 tons.

The leading paper manufacturer was International Paper at 4,690,721 tons followed by Crown Zellerbach at 1,983,630 tons. St. Regis Paper was listed in third place at 1,780,305 tons.

No other Fox Cities firm was listed in the top 30. Green Bay, however, had several listings.

NFO Members Said to be Blocking State Highways

Fox Valley Officials Call for Peaceful, but Firm, Activity as Holding Move Starts Seventh Day

National Farmers Organization (NFO) members today reportedly were blocking state highways to prevent livestock from reaching the market.

The militant farm organization is in its seventh day of a livestock withholding action aimed at bringing prices of cattle, hogs and sheep higher and forcing master contracts with buyers and packers.

Authorities said they had received reports of NFO activity, including blocking state roads, particularly in Waupaca and Shawano counties.

However, they said they were not able to confirm these reports.

There also was an unconfirmed report a truck carrying livestock had been struck Monday by a hit-and-run driver. Although there was no police report, the driver of the truck was quoted as saying he believed the incident to be sparked by the NFO action.

Meanwhile, NFO Fox Valley officials met Monday in the Town of Farmington town hall, calling for activity in the group's drive to be firm, but peaceful. They asked that members take care not to cause any "trouble or violence."

The withholding, according to livestock buyers, apparently was succeeding, although it was not yet clear to what degree.

Nolan Bros. livestock buyers, Marion, said they had met with local NFO officials and agreed not to conduct sales Wednesdays if they would be permitted to continue selling Mondays and Tuesdays.

The firm normally conducts sales all three days.

Prices "Extremely High"

At their sale Monday night, they reported receipts of livestock were about 25 per cent below normal, and prices were "extremely high" — about two cents above last week's market.

Firm officials early today reported "several" cars of NFO members at the Nolan Bros. sale at Lomira. The officials said the members had blocked the driveway for a short time but finally moved.

On the state level, Gov. John W. Reynolds has asked a state agency to investigate reports of disorders growing out of demonstrations by the NFO.

The action by the governor, who is attending the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City, was announced by his office Monday. Even as the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board was asked to check the reports, NFO officials notified the executive office they would cooperate fully in the investigation.

"Deeply Concerned"

At the same time, the Wisconsin Farm Bureau telegraphed the governor in Atlantic City that it was "deeply concerned with acts of violence resulting from the NFO strike."

A similar message was sent by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperatives, which said, "The entire membership ...requests immediate aid of law enforcement in our state."

The Farm Bureau message, signed by president Percy Hardiman of Hartland, said, "Our office has received word of a truck dispatcher being assaulted and hospitalized in Green Bay, a livestock buyer beaten, a shooting incident in Milwaukee, and dynamite with

Action Urged on Library Service

Ask Rural Outagamie Residents To Appeal to Their Supervisors

Outagamie County rural residents who want continued free use of city library services should contact their county board supervisors and seek separate agreements between individual towns or villages and the libraries, Supv. Eugene F. Kloes (Appleton 4) said Monday.

Kloes, a member of the county board's health, education and institutions committee, made the statement in explaining the county board's decision to cut off appropriations to public libraries after 1964.

He said the committee's intention in recommending the cut was not to curtail services, but rather to have each governmental unit pay for its share of costs.

Letters to Non-Patrons

A letter from the Appleton and Kaukauna public library boards, sent last week to their non-resident patrons, said that on Jan. 1 the libraries will begin charging non-resident fees "unless the county board can be persuaded to work towards an equitable sharing of costs." Both libraries now extend their services free of charge to all county residents and to public and parochial schools in the county.

The two libraries are the largest of the eight public libraries in Outagamie County. The Appleton library is receiving $7,350 and the Kaukauna library $1,102.50 of the total county library appropriation of $10,500 this year.

Kloes said the committee believes each town, village or school district should enter into its own contract with one of the city libraries and pay for services based on its share of the number of borrowers or the circulation.

"We think this is the most honest approach," he said. "It makes everybody pay their part for the use of the library."

Appleton Pays Most

Since Appleton pays about 51 per cent of the county tax levy, the city pays over half the library appropriation, he noted. "People who live outside the cities must pay for the services for which they are not paying taxes. We don't see why we should penalize the city of Appleton taxpayer."

The library boards each year have asked for an increased county levy, reaching $50,000 for all the libraries, and the biggest burden would fall on the city taxpayers, Kloes said.

"The library people themselves do not want to sit with three or four or five different governmental bodies and explain to them why they should pay this part for the service," he said.

As people become accustomed to paying for library services, it may be possible ultimately to work toward a city-county library, Kloes said.

Johnson Signs Bill Lowering Import of Meats by 15 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat imports will be kept 15 per cent below last year's record level under a bill signed by President Johnson Saturday.

The bill sets a basic import limit of 725,400,000 pounds per year of fresh, chilled or frozen beef, goats and sheep, except lambs. A 16 per cent estimated growth factor is added and a 10 per cent leeway is allowed foreign nations selling such meat to the United States.

This means that imports would have to reach about 913 million pounds next year to trigger the imposition of quotas.

The new law gives the President power to suspend the limitations if he decides it is in the national interest.

Planned for in-service sessions are elementary teacher consultations, Wednesday; Marlin Tanck, Manitowoc School System, "Skillful Questioning," and school policy interpretation, Thursday.

Orby said major improvements in the school plant include blacktopping the elementary playground area and drop ceiling and fluorescent lighting in the lunch room.

The Schiocton High School yearbook of 1964 has arrived and will be distributed to students Friday evening at the high school. Obry said all 1964 graduates should contact class members and notify them of the distribution.

Dr. Glenn Jensen

UW Urban Team Head To Leave Wisconsin

Dr. Glenn Jensen, coordinator of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Urban Team, will leave the Fox Cities next month to become a professor of adult education at the University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyo.

Dr. Jensen has been urban team coordinator for a year. Plans on replacing him are indefinite.

As urban team coordinator, he has worked primarily with schools and with other disciplines represented on the team as they relate to problems of the schools.

Previous Experience

Before joining the urban team, Dr. Jensen was executive director of the Adult Education Association of America, with headquarters in Chicago, for five years.

Dr. Jensen worked with urban team projects in cooperation with the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council and the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission. He and Dr. Lloyd Luepton, also an urban team member, served as consultants to the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council for its research project on non-college - bound students.

Dr. Jensen and the urban team worked last spring on a regional workshop for all social studies teachers in the Fox Valley, in cooperation with the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh and the State Historical Society. He and other team members also conducted a program in Fox Valley senior high schools to acquaint social studies classes with regional planning and its importance.

Dr. Jensen, a native of South Dakota, was graduated from Yankton College, Yankton, S.D., and received his doctor's degree in education from the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo.

He taught at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, last summer before coming to the Fox Valley Center.

He will leave for Wyoming during the second week of September.

Men's swimming will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays and women's swimming, the same hours Wednesdays. From 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays the pool will be open for family swimming.

Open swimming will be permitted from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturdays.

Waupaca Fair Starts Thursday

Some 'Color' Lost; Children Start School Wednesday

WEYAUWEGA — Thursday has been designated opening day for the 91st annual Waupaca County Fair, but Weyauwega parents will tell you the fair actually starts much earlier in the week.

The 4-H groups experience "fair fever" as they prepare their animals for the final showing or put the finishing touches on some of their exhibits. But the worst case of "fever" is apparent in the city youths who spend all their waking hours at the fairgrounds.

The fascination of watching truck - loads of steel build up into exciting rides, the lure of the trotters and pacers who need to be fed, the variety of new machinery being brought to the grounds, all leave the youngsters anxious in anticipation of the fair.

But this year, much of the pre-fair color and excitement will be lost to the boys and girls. School starts here Wednesday.

Exhibits in both the junior and senior fairs will be brought to the grounds all day Thursday. Department superintendents will be on hand to arrange displays. Only the entries in the floriculture department may be brought in later. Officials recommend cut flowers not be brought in until Friday evening or Saturday before 11 a.m.

Gray Ladies at Clintonville Get Suggestions

CLINTONVILLE — Red Cross Gray Ladies in Community Hospital here last week heard two representatives of the State Board of Health describe a program of activities for patients.

The speakers discussed visiting procedures and suggestions, techniques for helping patients with their personal appearance, suggestions on games and books and diversional activities for children.

A new item being considered by the auxiliary is the addition of a large print version of a well-known general magazine to the library cart publications.

Lions Club to Hear Report on Blind Camp

NEW LONDON — Members of the Lions Club will hear the Pinkal sisters of Berlin speak on the Lions' Blind Camp at Rosholt, when they meet at the Rainbow Supper Club at 6:30 p.m. today.

Arthur Treutel will also speak at the meeting.

Frank Hanna, director of the camp, and zone chairman Gordon Bradley, will be guests at the meeting.

On the September program committee are William Freiburger, chairman; Harvey Romberg, Marlin Brown, Bill Rice and Rudd Smith.

Lutheran Men's Clubs To Pick Secretary, Vice President Tonight

CLINTONVILLE — A secretary and vice president will be elected to two-year terms at the dinner meeting of the Wolf River Council of Lutheran Men's clubs tonight in the St. Martin Lutheran Church basement.

Terms of Charles Mack as secretary and Herman Gardner as vice president expire. Both are from Clintonville. Holdover officers for another year are James Brandt, Bonduel, president, and A. W. Dobberstein, New London, treasurer. The Rev Carl Luedke, Manawa, is the spiritual advisor.

Plans also will be discussed for the annual Ladies' Night sponsored by the group.

The 7:30 dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid.

Two Injured in Auto Accident

Three Car Crashes Over Weekend in Calumet County

CHILTON—Two persons were injured but not hospitalized in three Calumet County accidents over the weekend.

Cars driven by Clifford LaCrosse, 42, 113 N. Madison St., Chilton, and Salvatore Cedario, 74, Chicago, Ill., collided near the intersection of State 57 and U.S. 10, one-fourth mile west of Forest Junction at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Injured were Mrs. LaCrosse, 38, with neck injuries, and Mrs. Cedario, 64, head bumps. Both were advised by county police to see a doctor.

Damage was estimated at $500 in a one-car accident at 7:30 a.m. Sunday. Robert J. Heimann, 29, route 2, Chilton, was driving north on County Trunk G, two miles south of Chilton, when his car went out of control and struck a utility pole, police said.

Two-Car Crash

No one was injured in a two-car crash at 7:17 a.m. Sunday on State 57, one mile south of New Holstein. Vehicles driven by Paul P. La Croix, 75, Kiel, and Robert Lee Newbry, 21, Van Burn, Ark., collided as the La Croix car was attempting to turn, police said.

County police said both vehicles were traveling south on State 57 when the Newbry's struck the La Croix auto from the rear as it was turning left.

Damage was estimated at $450.

Clintonville Scout Leader Returns From Training Conference

CLINTONVILLE — Lowell R. Walker, 245 S. Main St., Troop 21 Scoutmaster, has returned from a farm-city conference at Philmont Scout Training Center, Cimarron, N. M. Walker had a scholarship from the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The scholarship was awarded on a basis of outstanding leadership in scouting, church, civic and other community organizations.

Walker has been Troop 21 scoutmaster at First Methodist Church for the past year. He is a member of First Methodist Church, Order of Eastern Star, and the Clintonville Free and Accepted Masons, Lodge No. 197.

That's a Lot of Corn, Brother!

NFO Reportedly Block Wisconsin Highways

fuse lit placed in a livestock buying station in Darlington and 100 hogs and trucks damaged at Burlington."

900 Demonstrators

One of the largest demonstrations was staged Monday night in Stratford at the auction barns of the Equity Livestock Sales Corp.

Marathon County Sheriff Louis Ginoli said 900 to 1,000 men gathered at the Equity barns in an attempt to halt livestock trucks. But as the demonstration progressed Earl Kurtzweil of Stratford, the Marathon County NFO chairman, told the crowd he had been called to his home to take a telephone call from Oren Lee Staley, the organization's national president.

When Kurtzweil returned, he said the withholding had been called off. The trucks were allowed to enter and the livestock was sold.

"News to Mee"

Staley said at Des Moines, Iowa, he had not talked with Kurtzweil and the report that the holding action had been ended "was news to me."

The Lafayette County sheriff's department said four sticks of dynamite, a lighted fuse and an exploded cap were found in a scale house at the Oscar Mayer & Co. buying station in Darlington Monday.

Investigating officers said a window was broken to lower the dynamite to the floor. However, the fuse and cap pulled loose and caught on something about 14 inches from the dynamite, preventing an explosion when the cap fired.

Alleged Scuffle

Henry McNally, 34, a dispatcher for the Packerland Packing Co. in Green Bay, was admitted to a hospital Monday with bruises to his head and chest. He said he received the injuries in a scuffle with NFO members.

Five NFO members questioned by police said the disturbance began with an argument over where they had parked their cars, according to Brown County Sheriff William Swanson.

In Milwaukee, Assistant Dist. Atty. Aldin De Brozzo refused to issue a warrant against Ted Weiland, 71, of rural Kenosha who said he fired a shotgun blast into the ground when his truck was stopped by six men. Weiland said the men had threatened to "let my cattle loose" and had ordered him from the truck. He said the men fled when he fired.

De Brozzo told Oak Creek police, "You have more of a complainant than a defendant here. You have no case at all."

9 Persons Die In Automobile Crash in Texas

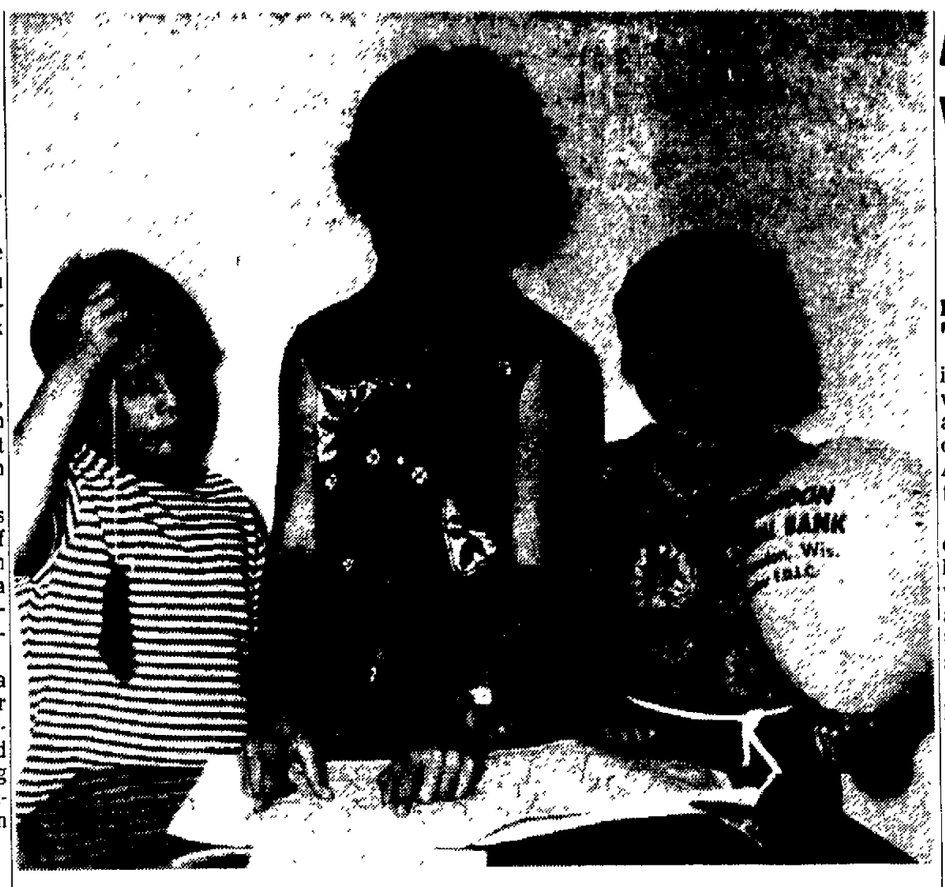

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Nine persons—five from Illinois, four from Texas—were killed Monday when a car and a pickup truck collided in a dark downpour near this eastern Texas city.

The sole survivor was an 8-year-old girl who lay in a hospital unaware her parents, two sisters and a brother died in the collision.

She is Gayle Redeker, who was termed in fair condition at Medical Center Hospital here.

Dead in the car were Gayle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Redeker of Route 2, Box 116, Milford, Ill.; two other daughters, Alma and Beverly, both 1; and a 16-year-old son.

Killed in the pickup truck Len W. Wad, 43; and Louis, 24; Freddie Hammonds, 19; Leon W Ward, 43; and Louis Gill, 28, all of the Tyler area.

Appleton Land Values Soar

City Assessor Cites Expansion as Factor In Reducing Prices

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Property values are continuing to rise sharply in Appleton with the buying public showing an apparent willingness to pay open market real estate prices, Assessor John Pierre indicated today.

As the board of review opened weeklong hearings at city hall, Pierre warned values would continue to climb, and assessments with them, unless the city expands its present 11 square mile boundaries.

Pierre said sales slips and property transaction recordings indicate real estate is selling at a premium in Appleton.

He said prices paid for real estate are reflected in assessed valuations and would continue to do so in the future.

Average Cost Up

Pierre cited 1960 when average cost of lots in Appleton was $2,837. In 1962 the figure was $3,125 and in 1963 it climbed to $3,490.

"The cost and value of property, based on sales, is going way up," Pierre added. He said the increase was more so than in the Madison area.

"People are willing to pay the price," Pierre said.

Pierre explained there is just so much land and real estate within the city's corporate limits, and the demand is continuing to hold prices up.

For example, Pierre noted that a house that originally cost about $5,600 several years ago recently sold for close to $17,000. He noted there had been few improvements made to the residence.

Oscar Brenden Denies Hitting Motorcyclist Near Clintonville

WAUPACA — Oscar Brenden, 30, route 1, Eland, was bound over to Waupaca County Court on a charge of hit and run in the accident which took the life of motorcyclist John B. Olen, 19, Clintonville, July 12.

He appeared this morning in Municipal Justice Court and waived preliminary hearing.

No date has been set for his appearance in county court. Brenden is being held in Waupaca County jail under $2,500 bond. He was arrested by State Patrolman John Bartol Monday night and taken to the county jail where he was held overnight.

Sheriff Loran Frazier and Bartol questioned Brenden Monday night but said he denied any connection with the fatal accident four miles west of Clintonville. Police believe at least two autos struck Olen.

Bartol has not said whether the arrest was made in conjunction with a tip in connection with a $1,000 reward offer. The reward was offered by an anonymous doner through Frazier last Tuesday for information leading to an arrest.

Finest Festival

Peninsula Concerts End In Burst of Brilliance

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — Nature, in an ominous mood most of the weekend, tried hard to throw a pall over the final concerts of the 12th annual Peninsula Music Festival here Saturday and Sunday. It failed. The music and musicians were too good.

Despite the downpour just before curtain time Saturday night a good crowd was present to greet popular pianist Mary Sauer. Skies were dark Sunday, too, but the Green Bay Concert Choir and an array of Festival orchestra soloists put a brilliant period to the musical fortnight.

Even the weather had a change of heart Sunday, possibly on the principle that "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em." Concertgoers who entered Gibraltar High School under lowering skies came out into sparkling sunshine that appropriately saluted what was, on overall quality, the finest festival to date.

No question about it, Peninsula audiences love Mary Sauer. And well they may.

Miss Sauer is beautiful, she's charming — and she plays the piano with glorious artistry. All these resplendent gifts were on display Saturday evening when she made her annual appearance as Festival soloist with radiant performances of Edward Collins' "Concert Piece" and the "Symphonic Variations" of Cesar Franck.

Miss Sauer had an exceptionally fine supporting cast. Clarinetist Ray Gariglio was excellent in Debussy's First Rhapsody for Clarinet, while Donald Weilerstein and Felix Skowronek got the evening off to a brave start with a graceful violin-flute collaboration on Alexander Tcherepnin's "Concerto da Camera."

Composer Present

The latter was played in honor of Tcherepnin's 65th birthday, and the composer was on hand to take the salute. His broad smile when introduced was testimony to his pleasure over the manner of its performance as well as his appreciation of the gesture.

Miss Sauer was, however, the brightest star of the evening and she gave a sparkling demonstration of pianism. In both works, so vastly different in style, content and mood, she was in top form and the orchestra was with her every note of the way.

The program, which swept on at a steadily mounting pace from the outset, closed in a blaze of gypsy tunes as the orchestra whirled through Zoltan Kodaly's colorful "Dances from Galanta" with zestful abandon. Had Miss Sauer reappeared at the fiery climax shaking a tambourine the whole house would have gone completely gypsy.

The Green Bay Concert choir stepped out of its classification but not out of its class Sunday afternoon. The chorus may be amateur by definition but it gave a performance of professional quality in a program that demanded nothing less.

It was a triumphant vindication of the group's dedication to the finest choral music and emphastic proof that it is an ensemble deserving of greater support than Green Bay has hitherto granted. Festival Director Thor Johnson may have gambled in bringing the chorus to his stage but the gamble paid off handsomely.

The concert had many shining moments for various members of the Festival orchestra as well. Violist William Preucil carried the major load with his usual polished ease. He drew a warm, glowing tone from his crooning instrument in both the Bloch Concertino for flute and viola (in which he was matched by Felix Skowronek) and with the chorus in the unusual "Flos Campi" by Ralph Vaughan-Williams.

Fine Performance

Leon Raper's trumpet sang both wistfully and powerfully in the Copland "Quiet City" Suite, in which James Caldwell's agile and sensitive English horn brought further laurels to one of the new stars of the festival. "The Quiet City" is an expressive work and it received a virile performance.

The concert choir quickly established that it was a worthy festival participant in "Flos Campi." Having negotiated that, the chorus and orchestra were in complete rapport for the final "ode," a pretentious build-up of what is, in the afterglow of history, a naive poem. The ode is aggressively proud, exciting and rises to a spine-tingling climax. Both orchestra and chorus performed it with spirit and vigor.

The poise and concentration with which the concert choir met the greatest challenge of its 15-year history was more than a success for the 40 dedicated singers. It was also a triumph for the musicianship of founder - director Rus Widoe, who brought them to their moment of truth so thoroughly prepared.

Child Darts Into Street, Receives Slight Injuries

A child who darted into the street between parked cars on S. Elm Street was injured slightly about 11:45 a.m. Monday.

Ellen Drexler, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drexler, 8065 S. Elm St., ran into a car driven by Mrs. Clarence Schuh, 58, 422 E. Glendale Ave.

The car was going south on Elm Street.

Ellen was dragged 19 feet, according to police. She received cuts on the forehead and face and bruises on both knees and legs. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Fox Cities Heart Chairmen Named

Fox Cities area officials for the 1965 Heart Fund campaign have been named by Dr. William B. Hildebrand, Menasha, president of the Wisconsin Heart Association.

Don C. Smith, 1702 Ravina Place, Appleton, has been named to head the campaign in Appleton. Dr. Donald C. Grunwaldt, 1008 Hennes Court, Kaukauna, will be in charge of that city's part of the program.

Mrs. Wayne R. Hull, 403 Buchanan, Combined Locks, will head the effort there. Francis Coffey, 817 E. Commercial St., Appleton, is Heart Fund representative for the Outagamie County east district of the drive.

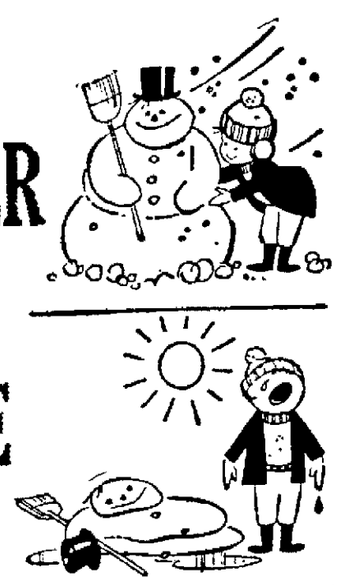

The 1965 goal for the Appleton area has been set at $10,660. The state goal is $616,000.

Absentee Voting Hours Set at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Absentee ballots for the Sept. 8 primary election are now available at the office of City Clerk Lloyd Eggleston.

Persons who will be unable to vote during regular polling hours may vote until Sept. 4 and also on Sept. 5 from 10 a.m. until noon. The office will also be open from 3 to 5 p.m. on Labor Day for absentee voting.

Goldwater Says Democrats Misled

Says Party Has Unrealistic Approach to Disarmament

BY WALTER R. MEARS

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sen Barry Goldwater said today the Democrats "are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament."

The Republican presidential nominee also said that if he is elected, U.S. allies in Europe will be invited to plug into the Washington-Moscow hot line.

In a speech prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention he said that the United States must find a way to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "with its own stock of small, tactical nuclear battlefield weapons — what may truly be called conventional nuclear weapons."

Small Packages

The weapons he is telling them about, Goldwater said, are "no more powerful than the firepower you have faced on the battlefield. They simply come in a smaller package."

In New York City Monday, Goldwater met privately with business leaders.

"It's been a very good day," he said. "I'm well pleased with it."

An aide said the meetings were held to give the business community a chance to get acquainted with Goldwater and his views.

In his speech to the veterans here, the Arizona senator said President Johnson and the Democrats are undermining NATO unity.

"This administration must answer not just to the voters of this nation, but to history for its abject failures in foreign policy. And of these failures, none is more tragic than the lack of support for NATO," Goldwater said.

Too often, Goldwater said, "this administration has bypassed our NATO partners to deal directly and unilaterally with the Soviet Union.

"Our hot line to Moscow is an unfortunage symbol of this. It suggests secret conversations, deals, unilateral negotiations in matters that concern and should involve all our partners in freedom," Goldwater said.

"I pledge that as president, our NATO allies will be given the opportunity to hook into our hot line, either directly or by diplomatic process."

Concerted Voice

That way, he said, the leaders of communism will know they are hearing "the concerted voice of freedom's great Atlantic partnership."

Goldwater's plan would make the hot line a party line linking all 15 NATO nations with the Soviet Union. The line, designed to provide instant communications in time of crisis, was turned on last Aug 30.

Goldwater said that America has in its people and its military might the strength to repel communism.

"But its leaders lack this strength," he said. "They are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament. Their eyes are turned away from the real world and are fixed in a hypnotic stare upon a dream world."

Goldwater said that before his administration would negotiate with the Soviet Union, "particularly at the so-called summit, I will propose that there always be a meeting at freedom's summit first."

"This administration has attempted to scare not only our own citizens but those of Europe, too, with preposterous alarms regarding these vitally needed NATO defense weapons," Goldwater said.

Hiring Practice Of Union Banned By Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—A key construction union's traditional "father-son" hiring practice—which has excluded Negroes and many others from membership—has been banned under a court-approved agreement.

The agreement specifically excludes the granting of preferential treatment to membership applicants who are relatives of present or former members.

The agreement, which followed dozens of unpublicized meetings during the past three months, was included in a decision handed down Monday by State Supreme Court Justice Jacob Markowitz.

Markowitz upheld a ruling made by the State Commission for Human Rights last March that Local 28 of the Sheet Metal Workers International Association had automatically excluded Negroes.

Terms of the agreement call for Local 28 to scrap its apprentice training program and adopt a new system for accepting members—on the basis of qualification.

Use of White Mercenaries Charge Denied

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A government spokesman denied Monday Premier Moise Tshombe is hiring white mercenaries from South Africa to fight Communist-backed rebels in the eastern Congo.

"We will fight the rebels with our own soldiers," said spokesman Emmanuel Sende, "we have enough."

Sende also denied that Tshombe had been rehiring whites who fought under him as president of the secessionist Katanga Province.

Reporters here, however, have been rubbing shoulders with members of Tshombe's old mercenary army and air force.

New U.S. Commandant Takes Over in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The new U.S. commandant in Berlin, Maj Gen John F. Franklin, arrived Monday and pledged that Americans will "continue to meet aggression with courage and firmness."

Franklin takes over on Aug 31 from Maj Gen James H Polk, promoted to command of the U.S. 5th Corps in West Germany.

Franklin said that "notwithstanding the ever-changing identity of persons who represent the United States here and elsewhere around the world our policy remains steadfast and sure in support of our friends and our ideals."

Not Like Movies

Private Eyes Planning Picnic and Sing-Along

BALTIMORE (AP) — The private eye's mitt snaked inside his jacket to where the bulge was. His hand came out like a shot. In it was a stack of press releases.

He was one of 75 private detectives here for the 15th annual convention of the World Secret Service Association, representing "a network of the leading security agencies thru-out the world."

The network held a news conference Monday. There was talk of killing.

"We want to kill this phony image of cloak and dagger work," said Ellis Sandlin of Detroit, an association director.

It's not like the movies, he insisted. He said much of the members' work is done for industry and commerce.

A half-dozen gumshoes sat around a table, drinking water. Not one had ever been hit on the head or shot at, Sandlin reported.

"We let the police department do our fighting for us," said one.

Mike Hammer would have been crushed.

Sandlin said the dime-novel image of the private eye is misleading, but it helps draw clients.

He said people call him up, give him a job, and expect it to be done in a half-hour, "just like the movies."

The association lobbies for laws to prevent unqualified persons from getting a private detective's license, said Murray F. Seyler of Columbus, Ohio.

The convention winds up Saturday.

Atomic Arms Use Becoming Platform Issue

Foreign Powers Reading Between Lines in Planks

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

ATLANTIC CITY — Platform planks may be tossed aside by some citizens in our country as just so much verbiage, but foreign governments —both friend and foe — are accustomed to reading between the lines of any foreign - policy pronouncement from the United States.

They are anxious to determine whether America will stand up resolutely or procrastinate in an emergency and thus unwittingly give an adversary a big advantage.

A developing issue which has crept into the political campaign involves a possible land invasion of Europe someday by communist armies. Sen. Goldwater thinks that, to meet such a contingency, the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—usually an American—should be authorized in advance that under certain circumstances small nuclear weapons of a tactical nature may be used to thwart an aggression. For this, the Republican presidential nominee has been accused by the Democrats of wanting to "trigger a war" or of wishing to let some irresponsible hand abroad start a nuclear conflict.

The question has been further beclouded by a meaningless declaration in the party platform now scheduled for adoption by the Democratic National Convention here. It reads as follows:

"Control of the use of nuclear weapons must remain solely with the highest elected official of the country — the President of the United States."

Nobody has ever disputed this broad principle, and Sen. Goldwater himself has said the same thing. The issue goes deeper. It concerns the best means of defending western Europe against invasion by conventional forces. Certainly it is the duty solely of the commander-in-chief—namely, the President of the United States—to decide when or where any nuclear weapon, however small, shall be used.

But so also has it always been the sole right of congress to declare war. Yet the congress has duly ratified the North Atlantic Treaty, which authorizes in advance military action by the United States to defend immedgately any or all member nations of NATO who may be attacked.

It is precisely the same concept of planning for a grave contingency that has prompted the recent discussion of how to ward off a land invasion in Europe. The idea has been to urge the president of the United States to announce that, in an emergency, small tactical nuclear weapons can be used at once.

This, it is argued by many military men — especially in France and other European countries—is the best way to let the world in general and the Soviets in particular know that such a military aggression will not be allowed to succeed even though the armies of the Western European allies may be greatly outnumbered.

This is one reason why the platform flank adopted here will be construed as a turndown of the simple proposal advocated by military experts that the American supreme commander in NATO be given in advance authority to use small tactical nuclear weapons when circumstances require it.

The fear has been that, if it is widely known that NATO armies cannot immediately act in response to an attack but would have to wait for a long discussion in Washington to yield a decision on the question, then there would be danger of being overrun by an advancing enemy. A time lag of two hours could mean the difference between victory and defeat. Hence, it is urged that the field commander in chief be allowed to respond instantly by using tactical weapons with small nuclear warheads.

The Democratic National Platform is vague on the whole subject, which is an indication that the politicians wish to remain noncommittal on the issue and still accuse their opponents of trying to start a nuclear war. When, in truth, the basic question is whether the Soviets shall be given virtual immunity from any nuclear response if they try to seize Berlin and West Germany and march across France with their huge armies.

The solidarity of NATO as an alliance is at stake. It had been hoped that the administration would issue some pronouncement, even during a political campaign, that would dispel the fears of the Western European countries.

The Russians, of course, are watching the whole performance here with penetrating interest. The Moscow news-agency dispatches keep emphasizing that Sen. Goldwater and the Republicans are pursuing "brinkmanship" in foreign policy. Yet it was the "brinkmanship" of an American secretary of state, the late John Foster Dulles, which deflated many a crisis in which the Communists had sought to test American resoluteness. They were answered promptly, and war was averted. It is the same formula that now is being urged on both parties by military men, who have no political axe to grind and who are concerned solely with the prevention of a major war.

Rural Appleton Girl Wins Blue Ribbon in State Fair Judging

CHILTON — Margaret Jockmann, route 4, Appleton, a member of the Darboy Ever Alert 4-H Club, won a blue ribbon in the party dress division at this year's State Fair.

Winning red ribbons were Mary Beth Brantmeier, Sherwood Wide Awake Club; JoAnn Juckem, Busy Beaver Club; Charlene Behnke, Rantoul Center Club; Kathy Koehler, Chilton Tip Top Club; Ellen Hopfensperger, Darboy Ever Alert; Janet Kliensmith, Rantoul Center Club, and Betty Gruber, Irish Road Club.

Representing Calumet County in the best dress division were Gloria Gasch, route 1, Chilton, and Faye Ott, route 2, Hilbert.

Greenleaf Man Injured In 3-Car Collision on Wet Kaukauna Road

KAUKAUNA — Francis Dorsey, 40, route 2, Greenleaf, complained of severe back pains and was advised to see his family physician after a three-car accident at Wisconsin Avenue and Lawe Street about 4:45 p.m. Monday.

According to police, Dorsey stopped in a line of traffic behind a car driven by Donald Mayo, 44, 2401 Hendricks Ave., Kaukauna, when a car driven by Lester Besaw, 28, route 2, Kaukauna, was unable to stop on the wet pavement and skidded into the Dorsey vehicle, pushing it forward into the Mayor car.

Glass Broken on Used Cars in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Taillights, aerials and outside mirrors were broken on about five cars parked in a used car lot at Gustman's Chevrolet Sales Inc., 222 Lawe St., sometime over the weekend.

No damage estimate was available.

The CIA Report on Viet Nam

The paper written by a member of the Central Intelligence Agency's board of national estimates, suggesting that "some kind of negotiated settlement based upon neutralization" might occur in the Vietnamese area, does not appear to be a trial balloon sent up by the Johnson Administration. The President is too concerned about the charges of Sen. Goldwater and other Republicans about a no-win policy to risk such an approach until after the November election.

But the trouble with the rest of the world is that it will not remain in a position of suspended animation during our election campaigns. The Buddhist leaders in Viet Nam continue to make it difficult for President Khanh, the Viet Cong insist upon attacking, the students riot. As much as the present administration tries to hold all these things in abeyance, they just won't be quiet.

Actually the CIA paper was written earlier in the year and is simply a description of the way things were and to a considerable extent still are. And while Sec. of State Dean Rusk and other officials have been quick to say that it does not represent official Washington policy, it is a sound paper. As far as solutions for Viet Nam, it merely states that "the counterguerilla effort continues to flounder, partly because of the inherent difficulty of the problem and partly because Diem's successors have not yet demonstrated the leadership and inspiration necessary. There remains serious doubt that victory can be won and the situation remains very fragile. If large scale United States support continues, and if further political deterioration within South Viet Nam is prevented, at least a prolonged stalemate can be attained. There also is a chance that political evolution within the country and developments upon the scene could lean to some kind of negotiated settlement based upon neutralization." This is hardly anything to get all upset about. It is simply stating the situation as the writer saw it and as it certainly appears to be.

But the implications of all this go deeper and are more than either Democrats or Republicans are going to say right now.

Most Americans, as well as official Washington, see any Communist victories as direct threats to ourselves. This is sound. But we have never firmly faced the issue of when such an approach could come into direct conflict with another deeply held American idea, that of the right to self determinism of other peoples. To carry this further, what if the people of Viet Nam decide that they would prefer neutralization of their nation, and do not want to fight any longer, even if we see such neutralization as a road to communism?

A negotiated settlement, in such a case, is not out of the question. Republicans might remember that one of Gen. Eisenhower's promises in the campaign of 1952 was to end the Korean war. Nothing was said about winning it. And while it is likely that a better settlement could have been made closer to the Yalu river with more American pressure, the negotiated settlement has been a loudly shouted triumph for the Republicans.

There is another part of the CIA paper that makes sense and has still other implications. Pointing to the obvious reluctance of both the United States and Russia to get involved in a nuclear war which would appear to be unwinnable by anyone, the paper says that it is also difficult for the U.S. and Russia "to project its military power in conventional form into other areas of the world or into disputes which may arise." Our power for destruction is so great that it may be losing its deterrent effect.

This point was brought out by speakers at a recent Council for Religion and Foreign Affairs at Lawrence University. If the United States and the Soviet Union really have renounced nuclear war as a policy of diplomacy—and it appears that both sincerely have for reasons of self interest—it follows that other nations will take an increasing role in various power struggles as the CIA paper states.

Obviously United States forces are not going to be withdrawn from Viet Nam at this time. Nor do we think they should—right now. But unless the Vietnamese show real capability to defeat the Viet Cong, even if only with our weapons and some assistance, let us not get out on ridiculous political limbs about a negotiated settlement. After the bombing of North Vietnamese bases, it is quite possible that Ho Chih Minh could get into a state of mind for a settlement with guarantees of greater strength than were applied in Laos.

Pressure Move

Mrs. Clare Booth Luce's announcement that she would run for United States Senator from New York on the Conservative Party ticket "if the nomination is offered to me" appears at this time to be merely part of a bargaining move rather than a true candidacy. But she may be stuck with it.

Sen. Kenneth Keating, the incumbent, already has announced he will conduct his campaign for reelection independently from the national Republican ticket. He has indicated that he could not wholeheartedly support Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Rep. William Miller.

But at the "unity" meeting in Pennsylvania, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller reportedly urged Goldwater to try for Republican unity in New York and to try to dissuade Mrs. Luce from running. Goldwater called Mrs. Luce and she said he had only the "kindest" things to say about Keating. He seemed to feel, she said, that there would be real unity in the New York Republican party after its state convention on Aug. 31.

Therefore it is likely that Mrs. Luce's candidacy is supposed to bring pressure to bear upon Sen. Keating for his support of the Goldwater-Miller ticket. If such should occur at the convention, she would withdraw and the Conservative Party also would support Keating.

But this certainly is a dangerous tactic. Keating has shown a decided reluctance to change his view about the Goldwater-Miller ticket. And if Mrs. Luce and Keating both run, they will share normally Republican votes in November and increase the chances of Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, for election.

The Goldwater forces showed their firm control of the Republican Party on a national scale at San Francisco. The Luce move appears to be an effort to be sure that New York got the message.

Fox Cities Get Safety Awards

It was heartening to hear last week that the Fox Cities area had one of the best pedestrian safety records in the entire state during 1963.

The American Automobile Association, which has a nationwide program dedicated to safety and saving lives, presented awards to communities with fatality-free records the past year.

The residents, motorists and law enforcement officials of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Little Chute, Kimberly, Oshkosh, Shawano, Clintonville and DePere should take pride in the fact their communities were singled out for special honors.

However, in presenting the awards an official of the AAA cautioned that pedestrian deaths are starting to show an increase across the country and declared, "This means additional effort will have to be made by everyone if we are again to experience a decrease in pedestrian deaths."

We salute the fatality-free communities and urge one and all to keep up the good work. After all, safety and saving lives should be everyone's business on a full-time basis.

Looking Backward

Appleton's Draft Quota Filled

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 3 and Sept. 10, 1864.

We have the pleasure to announce that we feel 'out of the woods.' Capt. J. H. Marston has enlisted 41 men during the week and those with the substitutes furnished by several of our citizens, will, we think, clear us on the Draft. Now it remains for the enrolled men to step up and furnish the money, which must be had by Monday morning. — Sept. 3, 1864.

Thursday afternoon, Capt. J. H. Marston and W. H. Lanphear left for Madison with men enough to fill the quota of Appleton. Anson Ballard is entitled to the everlasting thanks of all for his zeal, labor and services in raising the funds, even after he had provided himself with a substitute. — Sept. 10, 1864.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 22, 1939.

Champions of the Outagamie County Baseball League were members of the Cozy Taverns team, defeating the Black Creek entry 9-3 at Little Chute. Squad members included Tom Reider, Mark Childs, Norman Schleitwiler, Howard Van Ryzin, Francis Wettengel, Bill Besch, Melvin Schleitwiler, Bob Diener, Harold Choudoir, Lavern Bergner, Gene Kloes, Lloyd Dedecker, Bud DeLeest and Sonny Filz.

Mrs. George Theiss was elected president of Mount Mary College Alumnae Association. Miss Mary Kay Steinberg was named secretary and Miss Frances Kline of Kaukauna, treasurer.

The Misses Elaine Buesing and Jane Frank were the two Girl Scout leaders in charge of several individual troop day camps at both Sunset Point and Telulah Springs, and a bike hike to Apple Creek. Mrs. Thorsten Johnson assisted with the outdoor events.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 24, 1954.

Two Neenah girls, the Misses Madelyn Johnson and Lois Elmgren, were among the graduates of Camp Miniwanca, American Youth Foundation camp at Shelby, Mich.

Appleton's young artist, William Buxton, presented a mural depicting activities at the YMCA Terrors Den to the YMCA. Douglas Ogilvie, den advisor, accepted the work.

Champions in the Little Chute Village Softball League included Roger Vander Wyst, Joe Vanden Hogen, Dick Mulry, Bill Hietpas, Tom Driessen, Gene Dercks, Jack Mulry, Ken Ver Voort and Toby DeBruin. They were members of Red's Bar team.

County Board's Refusal of Aid For Libraries Called 'Alarming'

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In recent years there have been strides taken to uplift the cultural level of the Fox Cities. A local resident can be proud of our Attic Theater, and the increasing number of art shows and band concerts.

Yet certain segments of our local government are proposing things which could curtail the whole valley not only culturally, but intellectually, socially, and economically as well. The members of the Health, Education and Institutions Committee of the County Board have recommended that it discontinue support to the county libraries. The consequences could be alarming.

This will result, and I quote part of a letter from the Appleton Public Library, "Unless the County Board can be persuaded to work towards an equitable sharing of costs, the libraries of Appleton and Kaukauna will have no alternative but to charge each out-of-city user a non-resident fee beginning Jan. 1, 1965."

This will deprive thousands of Fox Citians the free use of an adequate library. Citizens have a right to freedom from ignorance, a right to seek the truth knowing that "the truth shall make you free." This a good library can do. This a community must provide!

Critics will say, "Shouldn't those who use it be the ones who pay for it?" This is wrong for the same reasons why we use taxpayers' money to support schools. They are institutions directed at the commonwealth.

If three or four years ago I had to pay for a library card, I would not have gotten one. Thousands of youth in the future will also make a decision for the negative. A thirst for great books, a thirst strong enough to be willing to pay a fee has to be developed and matured. A love of knowledge takes years and should start early. We are wearing rose-colored glasses if we think the youth of today and tomorrow will rather spend a few dollars for a card when their immediate needs are so much more pressing.

We must, instead of making it harder on youth of all ages, goad, and encourage them into the academic disciplines. Introduce them to the "gold of the dead which time does still disperse, but not devour."

When we are making such great strides in some phases of our culture, must we come and stymie it especially for non-residents of Appleton.

Especially in this age of greater and greater leisure. When our whole culture will be based on our use of leisure.

Rep. Van Pelt Backed on Park Action

Editor, Post-Crescent:

If you were trying to exist on social security and lived in the town of Greenbush, or any of the towns suffering from the effects of non-taxpaying state land, you would speak more favorably of Mr. Van Pelt.

Shame on you! Let the state pay their share of taxes and I am sure Van Pelt would be in favor of the bill. Be fair!!! You and others like you, simply don't understand and have no right to print articles like the enclosed one! (Our editorial on Rep. Van Pelt's blocking an Ice Age National Reserve.)

Calendar Monument To Human Apathy

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The greatest enemy of progress — any sort of progress — is not a positive evil, such as war, disease, famine, pestilence or ignorance. It is a negative thing: human inertia and apathy.

Harris

Consider the least controversial reform that has been proposed in modern times — the adoption of a "world calendar" to replace the present one.

Replacing today's slipshod and cumbersome calendar with a scientific World Calendar would lower taxes, reduce costs of government, help home-budgeting, equalize salary payments, save bookkeeping expenses, standardize school schedules, aid farmers to plan crops, simplify legal procedures, stabilize business planning and benefit everyone.

Our present Gregorian calendar (which was adopted hundreds of years ago, and was itself an improvement over the old Julian calendar) is responsible for tremendous confusion, waste and expense.

There are 28 different kinds of months, quarters and months begin and end on any day of the week, quarters are unequal in lengths, days and dates never agree from year to year, holidays vary, years begin on different weekdays, and our whole pattern of living is unbalanced, unstable and irregular.

Reform Supported

A reformed World Calendar was first suggested more than 100 years ago by a Catholic priest, the Abbe Marco Mastrofini.

In 1910, calendar reform was launched as a world-wide movement by the International Chamber of Commerce. Scores of business, scientific, educational and labor organizations now support it in 36 countries.

Under the new system, we would have one unvarying calendar year; quarters would always begin on a Sunday and end on a Saturday; each month would have 26 weekdays, plus Sundays; days and dates would always agree from year to year; holidays would be fixed; each year would begin on Sunday, Jan. 1; every year would be comparable to the next.

Yet, with all its manifest advantages, the new calendar has suffered from the fact that no special interest is concerned with promoting it. Its benefits are so general and widespread that no individual group was willing to take the time and energy for its promotion in Congress and the United Nations.

One such organization, the World Calendar Association, was formed about a dozen years ago, with headquarters in New York City. It is no longer listed in the Manhattan telephone book, and I can only assume it has died from inertia.

I would be glad to hear if it is still in existence. It seems to me that millions of Americans ought to be interested in a project that would help everyone and injure no one. But then we must remember that it took more than 1600 years to switch from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar — and with the impetus of a powerful Pope behind it.

Wisconsin Report

Community Care of Mentally Ill Being Accepted in State

BY DR. L. J. GANSER

MADISON—The reports of the Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Mental Health and the President's Panel on Mental Retardation, along with activities by interested lay groups such as the parents of the retarded and mental health associations, have stimulated a marked increase in program planning in mental illness and mental retardation. It has become apparent to lay and professional groups alike that care in an institution is only one of the services needed by sick and handicapped people. Other parts of a full spectrum of services can be provided in the patient's community. Current emphasis is on the development of such services.

Dr. Ganser

In Wisconsin, community interest and responsibility have traditionally been strong and the new perspectives on care of the mentally ill and mentally retarded fit in naturally. Legislative authorization for state reimbursement of community mental health clinic services in 1957 and day care services for the mentally handicapped in 1961 are examples of Wisconsin's foresight in the stress on community - based services.

COUNTY HOSPITALS

Our system of county mental hospitals is a long-term, community - based program which now can be viewed in a new perspective. These hospitals, which have traditionally been charged with the responsibility for taking care of the long-term or chronic patient, have not had an opportunity to develop and keep up with the active advances in treatment. New county hospital legislation provides them with some of this opportunity. With the strong basic interest on the part of communities to be responsible for impatient care of the mentally ill, the new legislation provides considerable promise for the further development of a uniquely useful program.

The new legisation changes the basic formula of state and county sharing of costs giving stimulation to improved treatment program and also providing the hospital with authorization to proceed in modern treatment methods. It will be the responsibility of the staff of the Division of Mental Hygiene to help realize the potential of a truly coordinated system of care involving our state institutions and the county institutions.

The combination of local responsibility, sharing of costs and provision of specialized services in state institutions along with general program planning and consultation services to local communities, provides a sound basis for a flexible program. This flexibility is one of the most important features of our situation.

The flexibility is important because each of these small, locally-based mental hospitals can develop a program aimed at meeting the needs of a particular community in which it is located. Being close to the community, the hospital administration can be aware when community needs are changing and can change program to provide the best possible service. Because of this, we hope we can avoid some of the stereotyped methods of handling mental patients which have been characteristic of large mental hospitals in some states. The closeness of the mental hospital to its own community also makes it possible to integrate much more actively the services of the hospital with local medical practice and local agency function.

NEW METHODS

If this flexibility and responsiveness to unique needs of communities are fully realized, we will have an unusual potential for the development of new forms of care. These would not necessarily be new forms of care which will solve the problem of mental illness for all time but they should be new forms which will bring the treatment for mental illness and the care of the mentally retarded much closer to the community and provide a basis for handling these problems in the community just like other health problems and handicapping conditions.

The advantage of providing treatment so it will be convenient or close to the community has been stressed. It is especially important, however, to point out that another special potential of Wisconsin's county hospitals and other community services is the possibility and opportunity for the community people themselves to take part in the treatment, training and rehabilitation of their own mentally ill and mentally retarded. Such participation will be especially important in reducing the degree of disability resulting from these conditions in the future.

People's Forum

Supv. Pelton Differs With Recent Editorial

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Contrary to the editorial in Aug. 14, 1964, Post-Crescent the Outagamie County Board did not "adamantly reject a resolution to allow the sale of the county farm." By way of information the resolution, which the editorial referred to, covered only the sale of the personal property and not the farm itself. The resolution was not brought to a vote. It was therefore not "adamantly rejected."

An amendment requesting that the resolution be laid over until the January 1965 meeting for further study was passed by a vote of 32 to 18. There was considerable discussion before the amendment was voted on. A factor at issue was the timing and method of conducting the sale of the personal property. The resolution specified that the personal property be sold by Dec. 31, 1964.

It was my opinion, which was shared by others, that a forced sale of the personal property consisting of cattle, machinery, feed etc., in the period specified would result in a very consequential loss of hospital funds. My sole desire was to have a conclusive study made as to when and how best to close out the farm operation and sell the personal property.

I have the highest regard for Mr. Engle, the hospital staff and the board of trustees. However, after the many, many years of farm operation I could not see where a short delay in disposing of the personal property would be detrimental to the patients who participate in the farm work, particularly if selling at a more opportune time of the year would result in recovering many more thousands of dollars of hospital funds.

The following is quoted verbatim from the editorial referred to above:

"When the supervisors were told the farm's average dairy cow produces 490 pounds of butterfat a year, they immediately forgot about the mental patients welfare and thought only that the dairy cows were potentially too profitable to sell."

The above statement is nothing less than a gross insult to the county supervisors who are working for the best interests of all concerned.

Finally, Chairman Fulcer did not, as stated in the editorial "wisely disregard" the suggestion that the matter of disposition of personal property on the farm and all related factors be referred to a committee composed partially of successful farmers. This is exactly what he did.

Johnson's Hand Seen In Democrat Platform

Promised Programs Indicate Even More Federal Participation in American Life

BY JAMES MARLOW

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Democrats have laid down, in a speech and a platform, the main lines they will pursue in the 1964 campaign.

But the platform showed the controlling hand of President Johnson, even though he was still in Washington, as much by what it left unsaid as by what it pinpointed

It's a compromise document plainly intended to prevent party-shattering splits Particularly it tries to avoid alienating Negroes or Southerners, city-dwellers or farmers.

The platform was finished late Monday. The speech was by Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, who made the keynote address at the opening session of the Democratic convention Monday night.

Search for Harmony

Yet, the very conscious, and apparently successful search for harmony here is going to make the Democrats' get-together even duller than last month's Republican convention, where the forces of Sen. Barry Goldwater completely dominated the show.

Here are those main lines voters can expect the Democrats to follow:

1. Americans never had it so good, and were never militarily so strong, as under the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. The Democrats claim the longest and strongest peacetime prosperity in our history

2 Extremism will be a persistent Democratic target

Pastore Charge

The platform condemned it, specifically naming the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society. Pastore said the Republicans have been taken over by reactionaries and extremists.

(The Republican platform avoided repudiating extremism and, while Goldwater later said he did not want the support of the Ku Klux Klan, he did not do the same about the Birchites.)

3. The platform promised new programs — such as expanded aid to education and broader health facilities, to name a couple — which would mean even broader participation of the federal government in American life.

New Programs

(The Republican platform promised some new programs, too, but because of its heavy emphasis on less government help and participation it is basically different from the Democratic document).

It was on some very sore subjects that the Democratic platform was most cautious For instance, civil rights

It promised "fair, effective enforcement" of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. This is the least it could do without alienating Negroes and Northern liberals. Because it was a minimum, it would not infuriate the South.

Best Evidence

The best evidence that this was the language of political compromise is that Northern and Southern members of the Platform Committee acclaimed their work as a "unity" platform and a winner in November.

It said — but didn't attempt to promise, even if the Democrats are in control — that Congress should change its rules to end filibusters after reasonable debate The filibuster is the Southerners' main weapon against civil rights bills

And, for the first time since World War II, the platform omitted any demand for new civil rights legislation

Ducked Redistricting

While it promised "full implementation and faithful execution of the civil rights act of 1964," it went on to promise "such additional . . . legislative actions as may be required"

But the Democrats' platform entirely ducked — and here Johnson's hand was plainly at work — any mention of the problem of reapportioning state legislative districts on the basis of population

The Supreme Court had ordered this to give all voters a more equal voice in their legislatures It could wreck some present state political machines There is a fight now in Congress to postpone or entirely block the court's decree

The Democratic platform not only didn't back up the court, it never mentioned reapportionment A Platform Committee source said Johnson had sent word he wanted no reference to the subject because in his view any position the platform took would alienate city voters or farm voters

Soviets Launch Three Satellites

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched three more satellites Saturday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced early Sunday. It named them Cosmos 41, 42 and 43.

The Cosmos series is a research program which Western observers believe is aimed at a manned flight to the moon.

Tass said Cosmos 42 and 43 had been launched from a single rocket carrier. Three previous Cosmos satellites were launched last week, all from a single rocket.

Ireland's Visitors Increase by 42,000

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The Irish Tourist Board reported Saturday that 1.5 million tourists, during the year ended in March, brought $159 million into the Irish economy. This was an increase of 8 per cent in money spent and 42,000 in the number of visitors over the previous year.

Democrats Outline Domestic Platform

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Following is the text of the Democratic Platform domestic plans as approved by the Platform Committee for presentation to the party's national convention Tuesday night:

Freedom and Welfare

There can be full freedom only when all of our people have opportunity for education to the full extent of their ability to learn, followed by the opportunity to employ their learning in the creation of something of value to themselves and to the nation.

The Individual

Our tast is to make the national purpose serve the human purpose: That every person shall have the opportunity to become all that he or she is capable of becoming.

We believe that knowledge is essential to individual freedom and to the conduct of a free society. We believe that education is the surest and most profitable investment a nation can make.

Regardless of family financial status, therefore, education should be open to every boy or girl in American up to the highest level which he or she is able to master.

In an economy which will offer fewer and fewer places for the unskilled, there must be a wide variety of educational opportunities so that every young American, on leaving school, will have acquired the training to take a useful and rewarding place in our society.

It is increasingly clear that more of our educational resources must be directed to preschool training as well as to junior college, college and post-graduate study.

The demands on the already inadequate sources of state and local revenues place a serious limitation on education. New methods of financial aid must be explored, including the channeling of federally collected revenues to all levels of education, and, to the extent permitted by the Constitution, to all schools. Only in this way can our educational programs achieve excellence throughout the nation, a goal that must be achieved without interfering with local control and direction of education.

In order to insure that all students who can meet the requirements for college entrance can continue their education, we propose an expanded program of public scholarships, guaranteed loans, and work-study grants.

We shall develop the potential of the armed forces for training young men who might otherwise be rejected for military service because their work skills are underdeveloped

The health of the people is important to the strength and purpose of our country and is a proper part of our common concern.

In a nation that lacks neither compassion nor resources, the needless suffering of people who cannot afford adequate medical care is intolerable

—We will continue to fight until we have succeeded in including hospital care for older Americans in the Social Security program and have insured adequate assistance to those elderly people suffering from mental illness and mental retardation

—We will go forward with research into the causes and cures of disease, accidents, mental illness and mental retardation

—We will further expand our health facilities, especially medical schools, hospitals, and research laboratories

America's veterans who served their nation so well must, in turn, be served fairly by a grateful nation First rate hospitals and medical care must be provided veterans with service-connected injuries and disabilities and their compensation rates must insure an adequate standard of living

The National Service Life Insurance program should be reopened for those who have lost their insurance coverage and an equitable and just pension system must now meet the need of those disabled veterans and their survivors who require financial assistance

Freedom Opportunity

The variety of our people is the source of our strength and must not be a cause of disunity or discord. The rights of all our citizens must be protected and all the laws of our land obeyed if America is to be safe for democracy.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 deserves and requires full observance by every American and fair, effective enforcement if there is any default

Resting upon a national consensus expressed by the overwhelming support of both parties, this new law impairs the rights of no American. It affirms the rights of all Americans.

Its purpose is not to divide, but to end division; not to curtail the opportunities of any, but to increase opportunities for all; not to punish, but to promote further our commitment to freedom, the pursuit of justice, and a deeper respect for human dignity.

We reaffirm our belief that lawless disregard for the rights of others is wrong — whether used to deny equal rights or to obtain equal rights.

We cannot and will not tolerate lawlessness. We can and will seek to eliminate its economic and social causes.

True democracy of opportunity will not be served by establishing quotas based on the same false distinctions we seek to erase, nor can the effects of prejudice be neutralized by the expedient or preferential practices.

The immigration laws must be revised to permit families to be reunited, to welcome the persecuted and oppressed, and to eliminate the discriminatory provisions which base admission upon national origins.

We will support legislation to carry forward the progress already made toward full equality of opportunity for women as well as men

We will strive to eliminate discrimination against older Americans, especially in their employment.

Ending discrimination based on race, age, sex, or national origin demands not only equal opportunity but the opportunity to be equal. We are concerned not only with the people's right to be free, but also with their ability to use their freedom.

We will:

—Carry the war on poverty forward as a total against the causes of human want

—Move forward with programs to restore those areas, such as Appalachia, which the nation's progress has bypassed.

—Help the physically handicapped and mentally disadvantaged develop to the full limit of their capabilities

—Enhance the security of older Americans by encouraging private retirement and welfare programs, offering opportunities like those provided for the young under the Economic Opportunities Act of 1964, and expanding decent housing which older citizens can afford —Assist our Indian people to improve their standard of living and attain self-sufficiency, the privileges of equal citizenship, and full participation in American life.

The Social Security program, initiated and developed under the national leadership of the Democratic party and in the face of ceaseless partisan opposition, contributes greatly to the strength of the nation. We must insure that those who have contributed to the system shall share in the steady increase in our standard of living by adjusting benefit levels.

We hold firmly to the conviction, long embraced by Democratic administrations, that the advancing years of life should bring not fear and loneliness but security, meaning, and satisfaction.

We will encourage further support for the arts, giving people a better chance to use increased leisure and recognizing that the achievements of art are an index of the greatness of a civilization

We will encourage the advance of science and technology — for its material rewards and for its contribution to an understanding of the universe and ourselves.

The Economy

The American free-enterprise system is one of the great achievements of the human mind and spirit It has developed by a combination of the energetic efforts of working men and women, bold private initiative, the profit motive and wise public policy until it is now the productive marvel of mankind

In spite of this, at the outset of 1961 America was in the depths of the fourth postward recession

Since then, in 42 months of uninterrupted expansion under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson we have achieved the longest and strongest peace-time prosperity in modern history

—Almost 4 million jobs have been added to the economy — almost 1½ million since last December

—Workers' earnings and corporate profits are at the highest level in history

Prices have been more stable than in any other industrial nation in the free world

This did not just happen It has come about because we have used and prudently used our increasing understanding of how the economy works

It is the national purpose and our commitment to continue this expansion of the American economy toward its potential, without a recession, with continued stability, and with an extension of the benefits of this growth and prosperity to those who have not fully shared in them

This will require continuation of flexible and innovative fiscal, monetary, and debt management policies, recognizing the importance of low-interest rates.

We will seek further tax reduction — and in the process we need to remove inequities in our present tax laws. In particular, we should carefully review all our excise taxes and eliminate those that are obsolete. Consideration should be given to the development of fiscal policies which would provide revenue sources to hard-pressed state and local governments to assist them with their responsibilites.

Every penny of federal spending must be accounted for in terms of the strictest economy, efficiency and integrity We pledge to continue a frugal government, getting a dollar's value for a dollar spent, and a government worthy of the citizen's confidence. Our goal is a balanced budget in a balanced economy.

Our enviable record of price stability must be maintained — through sound fiscal and monetary policies and the encouragement of responsible private wage and price policies. Stability is essential to protect our citizens — particularly the retired and handicapped — from the ravages of inflation. It is also essential to maintain confidence in the American dollar; this confidence has been restored in the past four years through sound policies.

Radical changes in technology and automation contribute to increase productivity and a higher standard of living. They must not penalize the few while benefitting the many. We maintain that any man or woman displaced by a machine or by technological change should have the opportunity, without penalty, to another job. Our common responsibility is to see that this right is fulfilled.

Full employment is an end in itself and must be insisted upon as a priority objective.

It is the national purpose, and our commitment, that every man or woman who is willing and able to work is entitled to a job and to a fair wage for doing it

The coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act must be extended to all workers employed in industries affecting interstate commerce; and the minimum wage level and coverage increased to assure those at the bottom of the economic scale a fairer share in the benefits of an ever-rising standard of American living.

Overtime payment requirements must be increased to assure maximum employment consistent with business efficiency. The matter of the length of work periods should be given continuing consideration.

The unemployment insurance program must be basically revised to meet the standards the nation's experience dictates.

Agricultural and migratory workers must be given legal protection and economic encouragement.

We must develop fully our most precious resource — our manpower. Training and retraining programs must be expanded. A broad-gauge manpower program must be developed which will not only satisfy the needs of the economy but will also give work its maximum meaning in the pattern of human life

We will stimulate as well as protect small business, the seedbed of free enterprise and a major source of employment in our economy.

The antitrust laws must be vigorously enforced.

Our population, which is growing rapidly and becoming increasingly mobile, and our expanding economy are placing greater demands upon our transportation system than ever before. We must have fast, safe, and economic modes of transportation. Each mode should be encouraged to develop in accordance with its maximum utility, available at the lowest cost under the principles of fair competition. A strong and efficient American-flag merchant marine is essential to peacetime commerce and defense emergencies.

The industrial democracy of free, private collective bargaining and the security of American trade unions must be strengthened by repealing section 14 (B) of the Taft-Hartley Act. The present inequitable restrictions on the right to organize and to strike and picket peaceably must also be eliminated.

In order to protect the hard-earned dollars of American consumers, as well as promote their basic rights, we will make full use of existing authority and continue to promote efforts on behalf of consumers by industry, voluntary organizations, and state and local governments. Where protection is essential, we will enact legislation to protect the safety of consumers and to provide them with essential information. We will continue to insist that our drugs and medicines are safe and effective, that our food and cosmetics are free from harm, that merchandise is labeled and packaged honestly, and that the true cost of credit is disclosed.

It is the national purpose, and our commitment, to increase the freedom and effectiveness of the essential private forces and processes in the economy.

Rural America

The roots of our economy and our life as a people lie deep in the soil of America's farmland.

Our policies and programs must continue to recognize the significant role of agriculture and rural life.

To achieve the goals of higher incomes to the farm and ranch, particularly the family-sized farm, lower prices for the consumer, and lower costs to the government, we will continue to carry forward this three-dimensional program

1. Commodity programs to strengthen the farm-income structure and reach the goal of parity of income in every aspect of American agriculture. We will continue to explore and develop new domestic and foreign markets for the products of our farms and ranches.

2. Consumer programs including expansion of the food-stamp program and the school lunch and other surplus-food programs, and acceleration of research into new industrial uses of farm products to assure maximum use of an abundance of wholesome foods at fair prices, here and abroad. We will also study new low-cost methods and techniques of food distribution for the benefit of our housewives to better feed their families.

3. Community programs and agricultural cooperatives to assure rural America decent housing, economic security, and full partnership in the building of the great society. We pledge our continued support of the Rural Telephone Administration and the Rural Electricification Administration, one of the great contributions of the Democratic party to the well-being and comfort of rural America.

Natural Resources

America's bountiful supply of natural resources has been one of the major factors in achieving our position of world leadership, in developing the greatest industrial machine in the world's history, and in providing a richer and more complete life for every American. But these resources are not inexhaustible. With our vastly expanding population — an estimated 325 million people by the end of the century — there is an ever-increasing responsibility to use and conserve our resources wisely and prudently if we are to fulfill our obligation to the trust we hold for future generations. Building on the unsurpassed conservation record of the past four years, we shall:

—Continue the quickened pace of comprehensive development of river basins in every section of the country, employing multi-purpose projects, such as flood control, irrigation and reclamation, power generation, navigation, municipal water supply, fish and wildlife enhancement and recreation, where appropriate to realize the fullest possible benefits.

—Provide the people of this nation a balanced outdoor recreation program to add to their health and well-being, including the addition or improved management of national parks, forests, lakeshores, seashores and recreation areas.

—Preserve for us and our posterity, through the means provided by the wilderness bill of 1964, millions of acres of primitive and wilderness areas, including countless beautiful lakes and streams

—Increase our stock of wildlife and fish.

—Continue and strengthen the dynamic program inaugurated to assure fair treatment for American fishermen and the preservation of fishing rights.

—Continue to support balanced land and forest development through intensive forest management on a multiple-use and sustained-yield basis, reforestation of burned lands, providing public access roads, range improvement, watershed management, concern for small business operations and recreational uses.

—Unlock the resources of the sea through a strong oceanography program.

—Continue the attack we have launched on the polluted air that envelopes our cities and on eliminating the pollution of our rivers and streams.

—Intensify our efforts to solve the critical water problems of many sections of this country by desalinization.

Sustain and promote strong, vigorous domestic minerals, metals, petroleum and fuels industries

—Continue to promote the development of new and improved methods of generating electric power, such as the recent important gains in the field of atomic energy and the Passamaquoddy tidal power.

—Preserve the TVA which has played such an instrumental role in the revitalization of the area it serves and which has been the inspiration for regional development programs throughout the world.

The City

The vitality of our cities is essential to the healthy growth of American civilization. In the next 40 years urban populations will double, the area of city land will double, and we will have to construct homes, highways, and facilities equal to all those built since this country was first settled.

Now is the time to redouble our efforts, with full cooperation among local, state and federal governments, for these objectives:

—The goal of our housing program must be a decent home for every American family.

—Special effort must be made in our cities to provide wholesome living for our young people. We must press the fight against narcotics, and through the war against poverty, increase educational and employment opportunities, turning juvenile delinquents into good citizens and tax users into tax payers.

—We will continue to assist broad community and regional development, urban renewal, mass transit, open space and other programs for our metropolitan areas. We will offer such aid without impairing local administration through unnecessary federal interference.

—Because our cities and suburbs are so important to the welfare of all our people, we believe a department devoted to urban affairs should be added to the president's Cabinet.

The Government

We, the people, are the government.

The Democratic party believes, as Thomas Jefferson first stated, that "the care of human life and happiness is the first and only legitimate object of good government."

The government's business is the people's business Information about public affairs must continue to be freely available to the Congress and to the public

Every person who participates in the government must be held to a standard of ethics which permits no compromise with the principles of absolute honesty and the maintenance of undivided loyalty to the public interest.

The Congress of the United States should revise its rules and procedures to assure majority rule after reasonable debate and to guarantee that major legislative proposals of the president can be brought to a vote after reasonable consideration in committee.

We support home rule for the District of Columbia. The seat of our government shall be a workshop for democracy, a pilot-plant for freedom, and a place of incomparable beauty.

We also support a constitutional amendment giving the District voting representation in Congress and, pending such action, the enactment of legislation providing for a nonvoting delegate from the District of Columbia to the House of Representatives.

We support the right of the people of the Virgin Islands to the fullest measure of self-government, including the right to elect their governor.

The people of Puerto Rico and the people of the United States enjoy a unique relationship that has contributed greatly to the remarkable economic and political development of Puerto Rico. We look forward to the report on that relationship by a commission composed of members from Puerto Rico and the United States, and we are confident that it will contribute to the further enhancement of Puerto Rico and the benefits that flow from the principles of self-determination.

The Democratic party holds to the belief that government in the United States — local, state, federal — was created in order to serve the people. Each level of government has appropriate powers, and each has specific responsibilities. The first responsibility of government at every level is to protect the basic freedoms of the people. No government at any level can properly complain of violation of its powers if it fails to meet its responsibilities.

The federal government exists not to grow larger but to enlarge the individual potential and achievement of the people.

The federal government exists not to subordinate the states but to support them.

All of us are Americans. All of

Signaled World War II

Nazi-Soviet Nonaggression Pact Of 1939 Paid Off for the Russians

BY WILLIAM R. RYAN

Twenty-five years ago this weekend, two stolid foreign ministers signed a nonaggression pact and raised the curtain on World War II.

Exactly 25 years before that, the guns of August 1914 had heralded World War I, bloodiest conflict in history. Today, 25 years after the pact, the world apprehensively eyes little wars and peril-laden crises which could signal World War III.

While Joseph Stalin, in his plain tunic, favored the 1939 scene with an inscrutable smile, the briskly confident and unimaginative Soviet foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, signed a 10-year treaty which permitted them to carve up Poland and agree on spheres of influence.

Neither party had any illusions about the other. Both were coldly cynical.

Hitler Germany, by entering the agreement it would break in less than two years, sought to protect its eastern flank as it entered into war with Western Europe.

Bought Time

Stalin bought time and the eastern third of Poland as a buffer. A vast blood purge had just ended in the Soviet Union. About 20,000 Soviet military officers were in prisons. Thousands more had been shot. Soviet army morale was low, in no condition to stand up to the disciplinary savagery of the German army.

The pact signaled World War II, but didn't cause it. The war would have come anyway. Europe long had been on the verge of catastrophe.

Technically the U.S.S.R. had been neutral. The Communists had been denouncing both Germany and the Western Allies.

Stunning Impact

The nonaggression pact burst with stunning impact on a cringing Western Europe, and spread wild confusion among the world's Communists, unready for this weird spectacle of a wedding for forces believed to have been implacably hostile to one another. Communism was Hitler's chief whipping boy, and nazism and fascism were Stalin's favorite targets.

But extremes tend to meet. The two were closer than many had imagined. Each system was a distorted form of socialism. Each considered Western democracy the arch-enemy. The Soviet Union needed German goods and the Germans wanted Soviet raw materials. They saw to this with a trade pact signed in advance of the nonaggression treaty.

Initial Shock

Recovering from their initial shock, obedient Communists abroad performed their about-face. No longer denouncing Hitler, Communists in the United States pushed a no-war, no-intervention line, with the slogan: "The Yanks are not coming."

At 5 a.m., the Nazi war machine mounted its fateful first offensive into Poland.

The Russians moved, too. Stalin was intent upon sharing the spoils. The Soviet Union annexed the eastern third of Poland, while the Germans quickly reduced the western two-thirds. Once again, bleeding Poland was partitioned.

The pact left the Russians free to annex the Baltic states — Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. It also provided Stalin with security while he attacked Finland on the pretext that the Finns were planning to attack the U.S.S.R. Stubborn Finnish resistance to invasion humiliated the Red army.

Finland Invasion

The pact and the invasion of Finland cost the Communist world movement heavily. In Western Europe and the United States, people who called themselves Communists and people who sympathized with the party's professed goals left it in droves.

The quick collapse of France before the Nazi juggernaut was a rude shock to Stalin. He had wanted the Western war to last a long time while he got ready. He jockeyed with Germany for advantage in the Balkans.

Hitler gave him only until June 1941 before he invaded the Soviet Union.

Only then did communism abroad begin to recoup some of its losses. The hard core of the party, schooled in cynicism, got a line that would be more popular.

U. S. Intervention

Demonstrations against U.S. intervention on the Allied side stopped abruptly. The war suddenly had become a "just war." The slogan "The Yanks are not coming" was buried. The Communists now hoped the Yanks were coming.

Communists in the United States and the West appeared as superpatriots until the war was over. Then the line changed again, as the cold war began.

The Soviet Union had lost millions in dead and crippled, cities were devastated, industries wrecked. Millions were homeless. But propaganda was revived for world revolution, and the U.S.S.R. had all of Eastern Europe in an iron grip.

Perhaps, from Stalin's viewpoint, the Nazi-Soviet pact paid off.

Moscow Residents Have Beer Shortage

MOSCOW (AP) — It's sad but true. There's a beer shortage in Moscow.

"People are wandering around looking for beer," said a reporter for the newspaper Moskovskaya Pravda.

What's the trouble? Moscow's four breweries aren't brewing enough and what is brewed isn't all taken, says the paper.

Beverages are sold at 9,500 places in Moscow but only 92 sell beer in addition to 105 beer wagons.

What Moscow really needs, the paper adds, is 300 or 400 stores that stock beer.

UW Centers Will Offer New Courses

Fall classes in social work will be offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, officials announced today.

The courses will be open to representatives of state agencies, high school guidance directors, public health nurses, clergymen and any other interested persons.

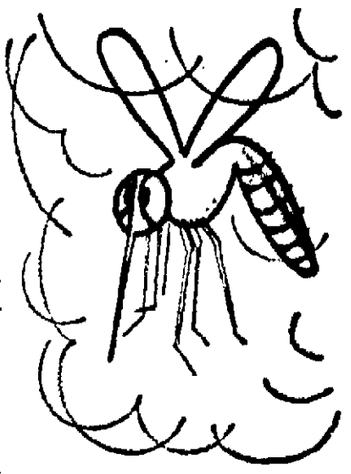

Human Growth and Development (Social Work 775) will be taught at Fond du Lac Vocational School starting at 4 p.m. Sept. 9. It will be a graduate credit course.

Richard Brautigam, UW Extension Division instructor of social work, will teach the class. Ronald L. Grey of the University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center will co-ordinate the class.

The Green Bay Center of the UW will offer a course on social policy and administration. Eight other courses will be offered throughout the state under the program.
